The real estate agents and brokers here report the same general conditions of the spring market as exist in New York, with the one exception that there has been a slight advance in the rents of private houses in many instances.

Agent Chas. H. Le Vaire said: "There have been very few changes this year compared with previous seasons. Some of the rents in private houses are advancing a little, but on the whole rents are about the same as last year."

Agent Louis F. Bettcher said: "All our houses are taken except three or four. There have not been as many vacancies this year as usual."

Broker F. G. Wolbert said: "Store property is firm and quite in demand. Well-located property of every description is selling at good prices, and in many cases at higher prices than a year ago. In rents there have been slight advances in some localities, though there have been few vacancies, and very little moving will take place this year."

Among the architects this week little or no new work has come in, though considerable has been talked about. Many of the plans are not sufficiently advanced for publication, though the next few weeks will bring a large amount of new work on the market.

Frank Stevens has sold the three-story corner house at No. 285 Varick street, lot 16.8½x64, for T. R. Varick to Chas. Miller for $5,800; two lots on Crescent avenue for Franklin Brooks to Gustav Blau for $1,700; the property at No. 82 Montgomery street, for A. M. Mattock to Geo. R. McKenzie for $19,500, and No. 167 Provost street for the estate of James Carbery to Ann and Michael O'Connel for $1,600.

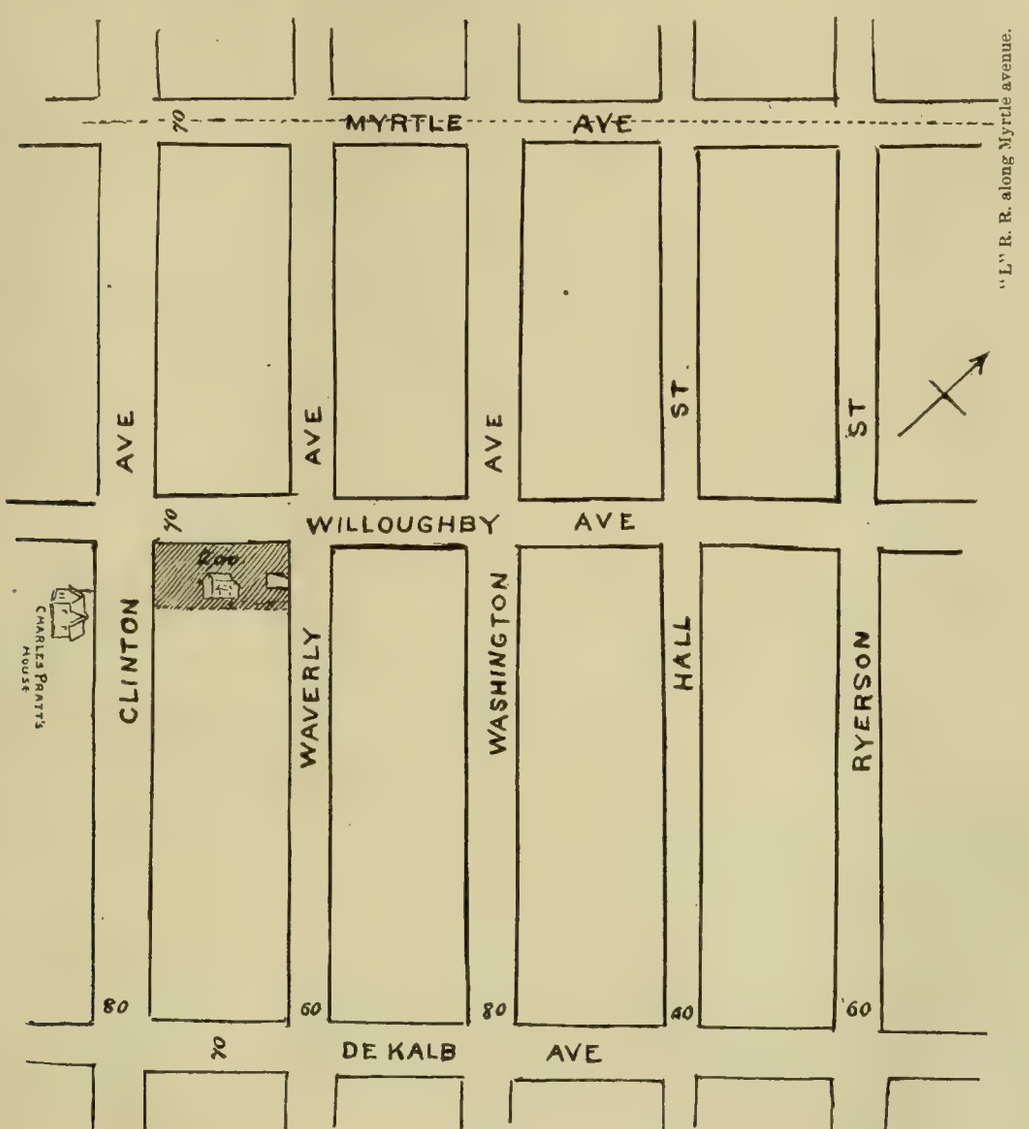
Jersey City, N. J.—Thos. F. Houghton has plans on the boards for a four-story brick and stone building, 58x113, to be erected for St. Bridget's Roman Catholic Church on Mercer street, adjoining the church property. The building is to be used as a school. Cost not estimated.

Leicht & Anderson are the architects for a four-story frame flat, 20x55, to be built on Union street at a cost of $4,500 for Mrs. H. D. Sandall.

Now that the World's Fair is to be in Chicago, the ground of the Bloomingdale Asylum will be disposed of, as some time ago resolved by the governors of that institution, and within a year or two we may expect to see the builders of New York erecting rows of handsome residences on the site. The property will all be restricted, but whether it shall be disposed of in lease or in fee has not yet been determined upon.

An Opportunity for Some Builder.

A CORNER PLOT OFFERED FOR IMPROVEMENT ABOUT TWENTY MINUTES' JOURNEY FROM THE CITY HALL—WHY THE METROPOLIS IS LOSING MANY OF ITS INHABITANTS.



[COMMUNICATED.]

I have just returned from a visit to a plot of ground offered for sale on Clinton avenue, a diagram of which is presented below. The property is situated on the corner of Willoughby avenue, and when I glanced at my watch on leaving the site it was 2.35 P. M. At 2.56 P. M., just twenty-one minutes afterwards, I was on terra firma on the New York side of the Brooklyn Bridge, with the Register's Office, the City Hall and the new World building in front of me. Before I left the New York side I had an impression that it would take me somewhere about thirty-five or forty minutes to get to the property. It took me twenty-two minutes to get there. Fearing that I had made some error in calculation I was particularly careful to note the time on returning, and, making slightly better connections, I got to New York from the corner of Clinton and Willoughby avenues in even less time, that is, in twenty-one minutes, just about as long as it takes to get from the City Hall to the Grand Central Depot.

Residing, as I do, in New York, and never having lived in Brooklyn, it has dawned upon me for the first time, with sledge-hammer force, what inadequate rapid transit means for New York, and what adequate rapid transit means for Brooklyn. I understand now, better than I ever have done, how strongly Brooklyn comes in as a competitor for the resident population of the metropolis. When it is as easy to get to fashionable and choice resident localities in Brooklyn as it is to get to similar localities in New York near 33d, 42d and 50th streets, in a given equal time, and when it costs one-half to one-quarter for rent in the one city what it does in the other, it is not difficult to foresee that the population of the one place will increase in a much greater ratio than in the other, and that the great metropolis will continue to lose thousands and thousands of residents who make their bread and butter there, and who rightfully belong within its borders.

Having seen, then, that the plot shown on the diagram is so near in time to New York's great down-town business centres, it will be apparent why I have headed this article as pointing out an opportunity to some good, enterprising builder, to take hold of it for improvement. The plot has three frontages and two corners—being 88.6 feet on Clinton avenue, 200 feet on Willoughby avenue, and 88.6 feet on Waverley avenue. It therefore comprises 17,700 square feet, which is equivalent to nearly nine Brooklyn city lots, of 20x100 each. The ground has on it at present a good sized brick house (No. 219 Clinton avenue), with a two-story brick stable in the rear. It is one of the numerous parcels with detached houses on them for which that splendid avenue is noted. Indeed, it is doubtful, if this, the most fashionable avenue in Brooklyn, can be surpassed for fine architecture within the same compass, in any city in the Union with a population of less than one million, and even New Yorkers look with respect and admiration upon the handsome residences built on its avenues. What has always drawn forth praise from Gothamites is the fact that nearly every house on Clinton avenue is detached, and is surrounded by lawn, whereas in New York City, on 5th avenue and other fashionable centres, this does not exist, even in the case of the Vanderbilt, Tiffany and other superb residences, owing to the dearness of ground in the metropolis.

The plot shown on the diagram is particularly desirable for improvement by builders, as it is in the very heart of the best part of Clinton avenue. The Pratt residence, with its extensive lawns and conservatories, is directly opposite. Mr. Pratt, who is one of the well-known Standard Oil magnates, lives in the finest residence, with the possible exception of the Graves mansion, in Brooklyn, and it will be of considerable advantage to any builder to be opposite a house of such an imposing character and owned and resided in by so important a member of the New York business world. Other residences on this and adjoining blocks, while not as large, are equal, and in several cases superior, in architecture to the Pratt mansion. Among these are the homes of the Hoagland, Pease, Houghtaling, Palmer, English and Bedford families, as well as those of the Hill, Barnes, Dingee, Husted, Good, Tuttle, Jennings, Smith, Fahys and Schroeder families. Further on is the new and handsome residence to be occupied by John Arbuckle. All these houses are owned by people who are prominent in Brooklyn social life and New York business circles. Clinton avenue, in fact, is resided on by some of the first families in Brooklyn.

The owners of the plot described, Messrs. John Osborn, Son & Co., of No. 45 Beaver street, New York, state that the property is the only parcel unrestricted in the best part of Clinton avenue. If improved they will allow the whole or part of the purchase money to remain on bond and mortgage. Flats, apartment houses or residences would rent well if built upon the property, and the structures, of whatever character they may be can be built up to the line of the sidewalk. With such fine surroundings, and with an avenue lined with grass plots and trees on its sidewalks, no builder could fail, with a judicious plan, to make a profitable venture in taking hold of this property for improvement. The fact that the ground is unrestricted will enable the purchaser to build a number of apartments solidly together, or a number of private houses, without losing a foot of ground. It will enable him to build ten single flats or eight double apartment houses, or on the other hand, he could build twelve 16.8 feet front houses or ten 20-foot houses. Whatever the character of the buildings they would rent almost as soon as completed and would beyond question find a ready sale. The Messrs. Osborn & Co. own additional ground adjoining the property, fronting on Clinton avenue. This, also, could be secured if desired.

The ward in which the property is situated, although one which has, on the whole, been well built up for years, has still been largely improved during the past five or six years. A reference to the statistics of building in the City of Brooklyn for 1888 shows that in this, the 20th Ward $201,400 was expended in new buildings. In 1889 the amount has been larger still, while in 1890 it will reach nearer double the figures of 1888, owing to the construction of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, which is only two or three minutes' walk from the plot shown in the diagram above. Dr. Talmage's new church alone will cost $150,000. The amount expended in new buildings in this ward in 1886 was $422,825, and in the five years from 1884 to 1888 inclusive, $1,170,875. In the years 1889 and 1890 the amount of new building will reach to more than half the amount expended in the previous five years. The value of property on Clinton avenue is well assured, and its fashionable character and surroundings are so well known that any buildings, whether in the nature of apartment houses or private dwellings, that will assure comparatively moderate rents would form a powerful attraction for small families, and especially young married people of moderate means and refinement, to take up their home in them. Hence the opportunity for some good and enterprising builder or investor. WANDERER.

John R. Foley & Son Interviewed.

THEIR RECENT SALES AGGREGATING OVER $1,100,000.

[COMMUNICATED.]

The real estate market, like the stock market, has its bears as well as its bulls. Gentlemen of means and leisure who are for ever on the alert to buy a piece of real estate when they know that they are bound to realize a profit on it, are not slow to assure us that the market is in a stagnant condition, that investors are few and far between, and that, in fact, any man who buys property at present figures is going to make a disastrous venture of it. They point to the high prices paid for realty, and to the paucity of the return on the amount invested, and they are not slow to select the least paying parcels as illustrations of the circumstances which they are intent upon impressing upon your mind. Some years ago the writer used to periodically interview a well-known real estate speculator, who always put on a very wry face when asked about the market's prospects. He always tried to give the impression that buyers ought to sell, and that if they held on to their properties they would in a short time be forced to sell out at much lower figures. But by a curious coincidence the writer noticed that the same real estate operator never lost an opportunity, either in the auction salesroom or in the brokers' offices, to buy any and every parcel that he could lay hands on and in which he knew there was a quick profit. The same speculator is to this very day bearing the market, while he is "on the buy" all the time. But that is his vocation, just as it is the vocation of the bear in "the street," who is all the time trying to get prices down to a level where he can buy at a figure on which he knows the general public will shortly come in and pay him a handsome advance. Of course, there is this important difference between the stock market and the real estate market—that in the former case values are subject to fluctuations up or down at the beck and call of operators, or as the news flung upon the "street" is favorable or adverse; whereas in the latter case values stand almost as firmly as a rock, and cannot be moved up or down by the same causes. In the one case the investor is harrassed and nervous at every turn; in the other he rests peacefully and pursues the even tenor of his life without fear of directorial mismanagement or the score of other causes that tend to destroy faith in stocks and bonds.

And this leads me to the point I wish to make. A well-known down-town real estate firm—John R. Foley & Son—have for the past month or two conducted a number of sales of real estate, on nearly all of which the owners made profits more or less within a comparatively short period. These sales, made by one firm of brokers alone, are but a reflex of what has been going on in the market for some time. People who imagine there are no profits in real estate need only peruse the list of these sales, given seriatim below, to realize that with wise buying there will come satisfactory profits and good interest returns on the money invested. The list is largely composed of properties below Washington square, as will be noticed, and comprises sales made by the above firm since the beginning of February. They are as follows:

Nos. 107 to 113 Franklin street, between West Broadway and Church street. A five-story stone front store and loft building, 76.9x90x100 in size, purchased a few days ago for $237,500 by Dean E. A. Hoffman. The property was sold to the Dean by James Jones, a relative of the late Joshua Jones, the property having been purchased by him at the great Jones estate sale in January, 1889, for $227,000. Mr. Jones thus secures an advance of $10,500 in about fifteen months.

No. 79 Grand street, a five-story brick and stone front store and loft building, 22x97 in size, situated near Greene street, purchased by the Collamore estate from Shortland Bros. for $60,000. The latter purchased the lot about a year ago for $26,000, and erected the building now on the site, costing about $25,000, thus showing a total cost of $55,000, a profit of about $9,000 on the investment.

The northeast corner of Greene and West 4th streets, a four-story old brick building, with store, size 25.11x96.6. This property attracted considerable attention in the market a few weeks ago, on account of its having changed hands three times within as many weeks, each time at an advance, under contract and before the title had passed. It was first sold by the Suydam estate to Mayer Kahn, the real estate operator, for $70,000. The latter sold it three days afterward to D. L. Newborg, the wholesale clothing manufacturer, for $76,000, and the latter sold it to S. Cohn, the shoe dealer, less than two weeks afterward, for $80,000, the maximum advance being $10,000 within less than three weeks' time. This is a strong evidence of the manner in which property can here and there be "picked up" by shrewd searchers after it, and it is at the same time an indication of the fact that there are some people, at least, who do not estimate the value of their property at too high a figure, and are willing to dispose of it at a price that makes it a tempting bait for other purchasers.

Nos. 17 and 19 Walker street, near Church street, two small buildings on a plot 45x100, sold for Broker Geo. R. Read to Jere C. Lyons, the builder, for $78,000. Mr. Read purchased the property for $62,500; No. 17 in December, 1889, for $30,000, and No. 19 in December, 1890, for $32,500, thus securing an advance of $15,500 within a few months' time. Plans have been filed and excavations commenced for the erection of a six-story store and loft building on the site.

The northeast corner of Platt and Gold streets, a four-story store and loft building, with a front width of 21.2, a rear width of 31.2, and a depth of 76.4, sold for the Catharine Whiting estate to J. G. Floyd, editor of the Commercial and Financial Chronicle, for $49,500, an advance of $11,500 on the figure paid by the seller several years ago.

Nos. 193 and 195 Mercer street, near Bleecker street, a plot 50x100 in size, with old buildings thereon. Sold under an agreement for A. G. Stedman, of the firm of Souther & Stedman, lawyers, and J. C. Lyons, to a manufacturing company for $85,000 cash, an advance of $20,000 on the price paid by the owners some two months ago. Title has not yet passed.

The northeast corner of Henry and Rutgers street, a four-story and basement tenement, with two stores, lot 25x104 in size. Sold for Hugh Smith to the Rev. M. C. O'Farrell, of St. Teresa's church, which is opposite to the property. The price paid for this corner was the extraordinarily high sum of $40,000, but as the church wished to control the corner, so that it should not be used for some purpose which would be objectionable, they paid the high price demanded.

No. 160 Mott street, a lot 25x100 in size, with a three-story brick front building and a six-story brick factory on the rear. Sold for P. Sammis to C. L. Rickerson, the feed dealer, for $24,750, an advance of $2,750 on the price paid by the former less than three months ago.

Nos. 622 to 626 Greenwich street, near Leroy street, a plot 75x90, with old buildings thereon. Sold for Korn Bros. to John B. Cannon, the builder. This is the first time that the latter has purchased down-town property for improvement, his ventures for many years past being in Harlem. He will build three five-story brick and stone front tenements, with stores, on the site, from plans by Architect John E. Kerby. The price paid for the plot by Mr. Cannon was $43,000, an advance of $5,000 on the figure paid last fall by the Messrs. Korn.

No. 170 Greene street, near Bleecker street, a six-story brick and iron front modern building, 25x100 in size. Sold for Rachel, wife of Theodore Cohnfeld to Dr. Erastus E. Marcy, the well-known physician, for $87,500. It is said that the doctor purchased this property with funds deposited in a trust company, on which he was receiving but 2 per cent., and that he now receives nearly 10 per cent. on his investment, there being a mortgage of $45,000 at 4½ per cent interest, non-payable at present, the building yielding a rental from two tenants of $8,800 per annum. The latter also do the repairs, pay Croton and run the elevator at their own cost, the purchaser thus netting about $4,100 on a cash investment of $42,500. Dr. Marcy has since refused $100,000 for his purchase.

The northwest corner of Park avenue and 56th street, a seven-story double flat, 35.5x67 in size, very handsomely decorated and trimmed and well constructed. The building contains an elevator and other improvements. Sold for Mayer Kahn to the Collamore estate at $134,000, an advance of $14,000 on the price paid by the former four months ago.

In addition to the above sales, all of which were sold for the owners at advances of from $2,750 to $20,000 over the figures paid by them, the Messrs. Foley have also recently sold eleven lots on 95th and 96th streets, running through, for P. H. McManus to Wm. Buhler, Jr., for $95,000; the three-story house No. 206 East 128th street, lot 18.9x100, for Anna M. Jenny to Mary Schuetze for $8,000; the stone mansion and stable, with ten acres of ground, at Orange, N. J., for the Collamore estate, for $80,000; and six three-story and attic Queen Anne dwellings on the corner of Lyndale and 8th avenues, Minneapolis, Minn., for $50,000, for Wm. Buhler, Jr., of New York. The houses occupy a plot 154x75 in size, and are known as "Forest Court." The price paid was $50,000.

The writer, wishing to ascertain their views on the market, called on the Messrs. Foley at their office at No. 153 Broadway.

"What are your views as to the prospects of the market in the immediate future?" he asked.

"We do not believe in the croakers," was the reply. "We think the market looks healthy and we have millions of dollars ready to be put into the right sort of real estate. We think down-town properties are splendid investments, and we find many people selling out their stocks and bonds to put their money into real estate."

"To be precise," said the writer, "would you inform me how many such persons have been in your office recently?"

"Well, at least a dozen, and we know of others," was the reply. "It is difficult, however, to suit them, and we sometimes spend days, and even weeks, in finding the right sort of property to present to them. They want six to seven per cent. on their investment, and though this can be obtained in some cases, every property does not suit them. South of the City Hall investments are not paying as well as north of it. Between the City Hall and Houston street property has a great future, especially in the dry-goods district. There will not be an unimproved lot on Greene street, between Broome and Grand streets, on both sides of the way, by the end of this year. North of Houston street and south of Washington square, the cross streets, especially west of Broadway, are going to show great improvement, and in the future it will be found that Broadway firms will remove more and more to these cross streets, where the same space can be obtained for half, and in some cases one-quarter, the money they are now paying. Lots on the east side will remain stationary in value, while on the west side, except here and there, lots will hardly go much higher. O the whole, we are not bears, but believe in the stability of real esta values, with profits to be made here and there, and a sure paying investment in every case where the buyer makes a judicious selection."

OBSERVER.

The Exterior street, East River.

HOW THE CITY AUTHORITIES HAVE DALLIED WITH IT.

The bill originally creating the Exterior street, East River, was passed in the session of 1886-7. It was made a law on the urgent demand of surrounding property owners and business men, and under the belief and knowledge that such a street was necessary, and the extra docking facilities provided for absolutely needed. The original width of the street decided upon was 150 feet, and it was to run between 64th and 86th streets; but this was changed by enactment in 1888 to a width of 115 feet, while the construction of the street is to be between 64th and 81st streets, a distance of nearly a mile.

THE RECORD AND GUIDE has for the past two years been urging upon the city authorities to take steps toward the carrying out of this important improvement. Real estate transactions on the line of the Exterior street and in the neighborhood generally are at a standstill, and building operations have been delayed, because property owners and investors will not act until it is definitely known exactly what the city intends to do, and when it intends to do it. In the meantime docking facilities are imperatively needed for goods and supplies of every description, and the vexatious delay to business men has eventually forced several of them to move away from that part of the city to other places where docking facilities are better, while many others, who are desirous of locating on the line of the Exterior street, have been deterred from doing so.

The Nineteenth Ward Business Men's Association, composed of some of the most prominent firms along the line, over three years ago sent in a petition to the Dock Commissioners, of which the following is a copy. The latter have done next to nothing in response thereto, and the petition has been pigeonholed during these three years, while business, real estate transactions and building is almost at a standstill.

To the Dock Commissioners of the City and County of New York.

Your petitioners are members of the Nineteenth Ward Business Men's Association, and in this petition speak in behalf of the said association, which is composed of at least forty business men.

Representing as we do a large part of the business community of the 19th Ward, we desire to impress your honorable board with the great importance to the business interests of the 19th Ward of having good and sufficient docks held open for the general public use in the said ward.

The comfort and prosperity of the citizens of this ward are directly dependent upon the shipping interests, and of course they will be promoted by the creation of greater facilities in the way of dock room.

At present, between 63d and 86th streets, there are only two docks open to the public, and which are available to your petitioners.

Your petitioners state that this provision of dock room is altogether inadequate to the needs of the business community of the said ward, and to such an extent that business is actually suffering from this lack.

It is well known that within this area there are two other docks under the control of your honorable board which can be made available for our use without expense to the city by taking them from the possession of the private parties who now occupuy them and devoting them to the public use.

The docks last above referred to are the one at the foot of 79th street, now occupied by the Ridgewood Ice Co., and the one at the foot of 75th street, now occupied by O'Brien Bros. as a dirt dump.

There is also a slip north of 79th street which can be made available for public use at small expense.

Therefore your petitioners respectfully ask that your honorable board will take such action as will give us the relief indicated by securing to us greater facilities for the conduct of our business in the way of bulkheads and docks

We annex hereto a list of the members of our association.

DAVID MILLIKEN, Chairman.
B. C. GERKEN, Secretary.

Dated New York, February 23d, 1887.

LIST OF MEMBERS OF THE NINETEENTH WARD BUSINESS MEN'S ASSOCIATION.

Roche & Co., blue stone; Nolan & Son, granite; Morris & Cahill, brown stone; Nathaniel Wise, mason's materials; J. McLaughlin, J. Quinn, sand; H. Faeterman, feed; E. McGuinness & Co., iron works; Mathew Biglin, J. F. Streesman, stevedores: Francis J. Schnugg, J. Mulholland, George Muller, Louis Brandt, Fred. Braender, T. McGuire, builders; P. Riley, T. Tully, Thomas Fitzgerald, Ed. Lynch, contractors; J. H. Ferdon, H. Bohlen, J. Biglin, J. Kriete, P. Ablass, E. A. Gillespie, H. Harjes, J. Saunders, B. Cohn, McGilchrist & Hoopes, J. W. Davis, C. A. Winter, W. A. Winter, J. A. Braman, coal dealers; Fred. S. Myers, real estate; Decker's Son, manufacturer.

Chief Engineer Greene was called upon at the Dock Department yesterday, and when asked the cause of the delay, said: "We have long since sent in a plan to the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, whose approval must be obtained, according to law, before work can be commenced. But the Commissioners have not done anything in the matter yet."

"How long will it take to complete the street between 64th and 81st streets?" asked the writer.

"About six years, I should say," was the reply. "As to the cost, the estimates obtained by us put it down at $1,570,040. Whether it will cost more than that I do not know."

"How is it that the petition of the business men in 1887, asking for further docking facilities in the neighborhood, was not attended to?" asked the writer.

"We drew a plan to provide for a cove between 60th and 62d streets that would give them three new piers, which would afford six to eight new berths for vessels loading and unloading. The Commissioners have had the plans in their hands for some time, but have not done anything in the matter."

Mayor Grant, President of the Sinking Fund Commission, when asked the cause of the delay in the improvement, said: "I don't know anything about that. There is to be a meeting of the Commission to discuss the matter on Monday, the 21st inst. at 1 P.M. in my office."

Notice is given that the bill of costs relative to acquiring title to Eagle avenue, from East 149th street to East 163d street, will be presented to the Supreme Court for taxation at 10.30 A.M., April 24th.

The Seventy-First Regiment Armory's Site.

Siegmund T. Meyer, through his counsel, Chas. W. Dayton, has served upon the Commissioners of Estimate, in the matter of the land to be taken for the 71st Armory on 33d and 34th streets and Park avenue objections to their award of $417,500 for the nineteen lots, more or less to be condemned for the purpose. Mr. Meyer, when seen by a reporter of THE RECORD AND GUIDE yesterday, referred to the valuations of Richard V. Harnett, Chas. MacRae, E. A. Pearson and Geo. H. Scott, which were $600,000, $628,000, $632,000 and $650,000 respectively. Mr. Meyer thinks $500,000 would have been a fairer compensation than the amount awarded, though on the basis of an auction sale of property on the same block last July the ground would be worth over $600,000. On the other hand, John F. B. Smyth valued the property at $383,000, E. A. Cruikshank at $396,000, and Ed. H. Martine at close upon $396,000. Mr. Meyer contemplates making a strong fight upon what he considers a low valuation on his property.

Bills at Albany.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 18.—The following bills, affecting New York city, have been introduced during the week: Senate bill No. 609 allows the police pension fund in New York city $250,000 a year out of the excise fund. No. 692 authorizes the Dock Department, with the approval of the Sinking Fund Commissioners, to set apart so much of water front owned by the city as shall be necessary for the use of the Fire Department. No. 702 relieves charitable institutions from paying water rent in New York city. No. 703 amends the New York Consolidation Act in relation to water rents. All these bills have been referred to the Senate Committee on Cities.

In the Assembly, No. 1,144 is an act amending the New York Consolidation Act, relative to searchers for water rents, etc., in the Comptroller's office. No. 1,146 provides that on an estate of $25,000 there shall be a tax of one per cent. on the amount over $25,000, in addition to the present tax. No. 1,154 is the same in purpose as Senate bill No. 692.

The Real Estate Exchange and City Government.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

I hope the force of your editorial on good government, in the issue of the 12th inst., will be fully appreciated by members of the Real Estate Exchange; that body is of all organizations certainly the best qualified to secure through its efforts honest and economical government, and to watch that what it once secures does not pass beyond its control. Will not THE RECORD AND GUIDE open its columns to suggestions as to the best means of bringing about and perpetuating such efforts?

A MEMBER OF THE EXCHANGE.

[The columns of THE RECORD AND GUIDE are open for the discussion of all subjects of interest to real estate now as they have always been. We will be pleased to receive "suggestions" from our readers upon the subject our correspondent speaks of.—ED.]

A Good Suggestion.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

DEAR SIR—As a commentary on the article in your last week's issue regarding the complaints of architects about the long distance apart of the Board of Health and the Bureau of Buildings, permit me to say: would it not be well to separate the Bureau of Buildings entirely from the Fire Department and make it a Department of itself; eliminate the "Division of Plumbing and Ventilation" from the Board of Health and make it a Bureau in the new Department of Buildings?

There is neither sense nor propriety in keeping the Superintendent of Buildings and his subordinates hitched to the Fire Department, a Department whose Commissioners do little about the constructing and altering of buildings. Another suggestion: Eliminate the Bureau of Sewers and Vaults from the already overgrown Department of Public Works, and make it also a Bureau in the new Department of Buildings. This would not only do away with the ceaseless travels and delays of the architects, but would serve other good purposes, which will be obvious to every thinking person connected with building interests.

Yours truly, PALLADIO.

The Suburban Road to Advance Northward.

Preparations are being made by the Suburban Rapid Transit Company to extend their road up North 3d avenue. The road has stopped at 169th street, due to the fact that 3d avenue beyond 170th street was not opened. Now that the contractors are busy at work opening up that avenue to Tremont and Fordham, the Suburban Road will shortly give out the contract for building the elevated structure further northward.

The total length of the road to be opened is about three miles, and it commences at about 170th street and ends at Fordham. The work has been started at Tremont, about 177th street, and continued southwardly, and shortly the road will be entirely open for about half a mile north of 170th street. The contract calls for the entire completion of the street opening in 500 days, dating from about a month ago.

A call at the Suburban Road's offices elicited the information that they will soon begin operations. The foundations, which are to be of granite, will probably be done by the contractors, who are doing the street-opening work. The columns and other iron work will be done by other parties.

Allston, Gerry & Co., the contractors, who are opening up the avenue, when called upon yesterday, said: "It is safe to say that we will complete the work of opening up the avenue for public use by the fall of next year, and probably before then. We will certainly finish before the allotted time."

From further inquiries it appears that there is no immediate prospect of the eastern branch of the Suburban Road being built.

The auction market was active during the week, and the daily attendance at the Exchange larger than usual. The most important sales were the Mellen and McLean estates, the Parkway flat and 5th avenue dwellings. The two sales first mentioned were held on Thursday, and the excitement caused by the determined bidding for a parcel on Broadway and 5th avenue, north of 25th street, belonging to the Mellen estate, will long be remembered by those present. Among the bidders were S. Loeb, of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.; W. F. Weld and Schaus, the present occupants, and G. H. Warren, Jr. The latter became the buyer at $320,541, which is an exceedingly high price. The premises are leased until 1895 at only $12,500 per annum. This sale emphasizes the great amount of funds available for choice investment properties. The McLean sale brought a total of $210,750, nearly all the property being sold to building loan operators.

Many of the brokers complain that sales have been particularly hard to consummate, but they predict a good business next week.

Monday was not a busy day at the Exchange. The majority of the parcels were to be sold under decrees of foreclosure, and several of these were adjourned. Twenty-eight lots in the 23d Ward to be sold by order of the executors were disposed of at private sale, as stated elsewhere. Four lots on 151st street, between St. Nicholas and 10th avenues, sold for $20,725. The Lexington avenue front between 99th and 100th streets was sold to the plaintiff on the first bid of $50,000. There was due on this property $41,227 mortgages and costs. A tenement on 10th avenue, just north of 77th street, was also sold to the plaintiff for $24,600, while the amount due was $26,545. Last year an adjoining tenement was sold for $28,000.

Tuesday was mainly taken up by sales of north New York and out of town properties, although there was held a "job lots" sale of city parcels. The attendance was good and the bidding fairly satisfactory. The most interesting sale of the day was that of the Park Hill avenue and Lawson estate properties at Yonkers. A large number of people, among whom were several ladies, were seated in front of Mr. Harnett's stand. It is evident from the way in which shrewd buyers purchased that there is money to be made by the purchase of Yonkers property. Moritz Bauer, Benjamin P. Fairchild, —— Rau and F. W. Flannery, the latter representing W. J. Barnes, who made money on the Hyatt sale, were among the largest buyers. The Lawson estate, comprising thirty-five plots, sold for a total of $40,240 to eight different buyers. The Park Hill avenue property, of eighty plots, sold for $26,145 to about twenty different purchasers. The sale of 23d Ward parcels was not entirely satisfactory as some twenty of forty plots offered were secured for account of owners. John Lavery purchased eight lots on 144th street, between Southern Boulevard and Prospect avenue, for $11,675; Walter D. Burke two lots on the corner of Delmonico place and 163d street for $4,400, and two lots in the rear for $1,750 each. This property belonged to a syndicate. At a public auction sale John Borkel purchased a four-story house on 65th street, east of Madison avenue (No. 35), for $24,300, and Newman Cowen secured two lots on the east side of 9th avenue, 51.2 feet south of 75th street for $17,000 each. It will be remembered that these lots were part of the Jones estate, and were sold in February of last year for $30,400, or nearly $4,000 less than what Mr. Cowen paid for them. Three five-story flats, covering a plot 100.5x70.8, on the northeast corner of 9th avenue and 69th street, sold under foreclosure to Adler & Herman for $121,150. In November, 1888, the six flats covering the block front between 69th and 70th streets, changed hands at $360,000 or $180,000 for three. If the price stated in the transfer of 1888 is correct Tuesday's sale would seem to indicate that property in this neighborhood is falling off considerably in price.

On Wednesday there was a very good attendance on 'Change, west-siders especially being out in force to see the result of the 72d street sales. The six-story apartment house known as the Parkway, No. 45 West 72d street, attracted considerable attention. It was built and owned by Messrs. Charles Buek & Co. In March, 1888, the owners paid $110,000 for the plot, 50x204.4 feet, on the 72d street side of which the flat is built. Estimating the lots on 73d street to be worth $45,000, the 72d street site would have cost them about $65,000. We have been told that lots on this block (72d street), near 8th avenue, are now worth $50,000, but we fail to find a conveyance of recent enough date to confirm this. During the latter half of last year a plot 50x204.4, 425 feet west of 8th avenue, was transferred for a consideration of $92,000, but it will be immediately seen that this is nowhere near the figure given above. The plans of the Parkway stated that the building would cost $90,000. This, taken together with the cost of the lots, would bring the actual money value of the house to about $155,000. The auctioneer stated that $125,000 would be allowed to remain on mortgage, that the building was at present rented to six tenants for $14,150 per annum, and that furthermore the sellers would guarantee the purchaser 6 per cent. on the investment for five years. These were very favorable terms. The first bid of $135,000 was made by Howard W. Coates, and the flat was finally sold for $154,750 to O'Reilly Bros. The second piece of 72d street property, a four-story dwelling, No. 148, was knocked down to A. Bodine for $52,750; No. 140, in the same block, sold last October for $53,500, and No. 134 for $55,000. A piece of business property, Nos. 44 and 46 Pearl street, sold to close the estate of William N. Dougherty, was secured by Francis Speir, Jr., for $32,500; a four-story dwelling on 57th street, east of 5th avenue, sold for $38,800. Under foreclosure two five-story dwellings on 5th avenue, just north of 77th street, were offered for sale. In 1887 the lots were purchased for $100,000 and plans filed stating the cost of the houses at $85,000 each. At present the dwellings have not progressed much farther than the exterior walls, the interior being in an unfinished state. The amount of mortgages and costs due was $101,500. The dwellings were purchased by A. P. Fitch for $180,753. The property at Bayport advertised to be sold was withdrawn. It will be put on the auctioneer's books for sale at private contract. This was the property on which the defaulting attorney, Foster, of the Produce Exchange, lavished so much money.

On Thursday the attendance was unusually good. Large numbers of men whose faces are rarely if ever seen on 'Change were attracted by the sale of the estate of the late Abner Mellen. This consisted of a five-story factory on East 17th street and a five-story building on Worth and Mulberry streets, which were bid in, and a four-story brown stone building known as No. 204 5th avenue and No. 1124 Broadway, just north of 25th street. It has a frontage of 28.3 on 5th avenue, x90.10x30.3 on Broadway, x101.7. It was this building which attracted the crowd. It is rented to May 1, 1895, for $12,500 per annum, and is mortgaged for $50,541, which mortgage is due and payable. The bids were over and above the mortgage. The first offer was $125,000. and this figure was raised by different gentlemen till it passed the $200,000 mark. Then the bidding settled down to Captain Fairchild representing the estate, S. Loeb of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and G. H. Warren, Jr., the final purchaser. It was finally sold for $270,000 above the mortgage, or for a total of $320,541.

The last conveyance of property on this block where the price was stated was on November 30, 1880, when No. 210 5th avenue and No. 1132 Broadway, a plot with about the same frontages but longer on each side, was transferred for a consideration of $175,000. Mr. Warren was evidently anxious to secure the property and Captain Fairchild, seeing this, was determined to make him pay well for it. The buyer is a brother-in-law of the Goelets.

A Supreme Court sale in partition of the estate of John McLean of 9th Ward parcels interested a great number of building loan operators and others in that line. Among the bidders and those interested were Ottinger Bros., Messrs. Korn, Julius Lippman, Mayer Kahn, Myer Hellman, H W. Droge, Timothy Donovan, J. D. Wendel, ex-Collector Murphy, Heilner & Wolf, Max Danziger, L. J. Phillips, John B. Smith, who recently purchased the corner of Grove and 4th streets, and "Jerry" Pangburn, whom Mr. Meyer called "the grandfather of the 9th Ward." The purchase by many of these dealers of property in this ward shows better than anything else the demand for property for improvement in this district. A. K. Ely purchased No. 44 Morton street for $24,250; Max Danziger secured Nos. 57 to 63 Leroy street for a total of $26,600, and No. 48 Carmine street for $12,500; Julius Lippman, Nos. 47 and 49 Morton street, for $25,900; Ottinger Bros, the corner of Morton and West streets, for $89,550, and F. G. Bourne two lots on 9th avenue, between 85th and 86th streets, for $15,900 and $16,050 respectively. Under foreclosure No. 9 James street was sold to the plaintiff for $30,000, as against $26,114 due thereon.

On Friday one of the foreclosure sales was adjourned sine die. The other sale was of four flats on 134th street, west of 8th avenue, sold to satisfy a mortgage of $32,243. They sold for a total of $72,404, the plaintiff purchasing three of them. On the latter sale Henry W. Donald officiated on Mr. Harnett's stand.

Special Notices.

An opportunity to buy upholstery fabrics, Oriental rugs and carpets at about half value is afforded parties about to furnish city or country houses. They would do well to inspect the large and well-selected stock of Messrs. Le Boutillier Bros., Broadway and 14th street, who are now disposing of an immense stock at extremely low figures. This firm has one of the largest and most attractive stock of Turkish rugs and carpets in New York, in sizes from 2x3 feet to 12x16 feet. In this collection are many very choice antique rugs, Bagdad portières and couch covers at $3.39 each. Rich flax velours table covers, in sizes 1½ yards square to oblong, 2x3 yards. These goods are both fashionable and artistic, and, being made of flax, moths will not attack them. They are offered much below regular price. Tapestries, lace curtains, etc., are being sold at greatly reduced prices. Furniture is re-covered, and slip covers, shades and awnings made and put up by them at short notice. A beautiful Turkish carpet, 23x14 feet in size, is among the collection of rugs and would form a splendid ornament for the floor of a club or hotel salon.

The Knickerbocker Trust Comany, which has for years past been one of the most important of the fiduciary institutions up town, is making vigorous efforts to increase its sphere of action. It is soliciting business and personal accounts, and is well equipped in every particular that makes a trust company worthy of confidence. Its list of officers and directors includes a number of well-known real estate owners and capitalists, and it has a paid-up capital and surplus of $635,600, with assets amounting to $3,177,800. The company's card, with the names of its directors, etc., appears in another column.

The new business building lately begun on the northeast corner of Grand and Elm streets, on a plot 63.5 on the former, and 111.5 feet on the latter street, will be a handsome and substantial six-story and basement warehouse or factory. The material used will be brick with stone trimmings, and steam heat and passenger and freight elevators will be provided. Mr O. G. Bennet, of 150 Broadway, the architect and superintendent of construction, who is also the agent, says it will be completed December 1st, and he invites an inspection of the plans by would-be tenants, for whom suitable interior arrangements will be made. As there will be fifteen windows on each floor on the Elm street front, an idea may be had of the excellent light gained. Mr. Bennet's specialty is the planning, construction and management of properties for owners. He is also an appraiser, and has plenty of money to loan on improved city realty at 4½ per cent. interest on a 60 per cent valuation, and makes very liberal loans at 5 per cent. interest.

Architects and builders who wish to have orders for Georgia and Florida yellow pine fulfilled with promptness and dispatch should apply to A. T. Decker & Co., whose yards and office are at the foot of Bethune street, North River, and whose telephone call is 189 Spring. Mr. Decker has been in the business since 1865, and consequently has an experience which insures satisfaction to his customers. The capacity of the yards of this firm is some 5,000,000 feet, and the stock on hand is always large enough to meet the exigencies of orders large and small. Mr. Charles Hersey, a member of the Veteran Club of the Seventh Regiment, is the New York representative of the firm, and has been associated with it for a number of years.

Jacob W. Smith, of No. 220 West 29th street, offers for investment in another column some four-story flats with stores, 50x85x100, at Nos. 72, 74 and 76 East 125th street. They are situated 90 feet east of Park avenue.

"Old Streets" of New York.*

This is the title of a valuable book, edited by John J. Post and issued eight years ago. The volume has lost none of its value, but rather has increased year by year since its publication. As the title indicates, the former names of streets as well as the present names are given, all in a manner easily gotatable. The book locates many old roads now obsolete or closed, and streets laid out on the Stuyvesant and other farms, but never adopted as streets by the city authorities. The book is divided as follows:

Part 1. Former name—Present name or location.

Part 2. Present name—Former name.

Part 3. Street alterations.

The latter part gives the names of the streets and avenues widened or reduced, together with the date and the extent of the widening, extension, etc.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

The lien filed against me on property 286 Elizabeth street by the Union Manufacturing Co. was unjust and was evidently done to defraud the parties that furnished them with material as they failed to fulfil their contract with me. EBURN F. HAIGHT.

Editor* RECORD AND GUIDE:

The lien filed against us by R. Patterson & Freeman is unjust, and we shall bond the same or deposit the money and contest it. They have not finished their work; we have over-paid them; there is nothing due to them from us; their contract was, for $900 and we paid them $1,000. BEHRENS & LINK.

(By Wm. Henry Gardiner, their attorney, 1438 3d avenue, New York).

NEW YORK, April 18, 1890.

Editor THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

All differences that may have existed between Elizabeth W. Aldrich, owner, and Mary E. Bailey, contractor, and the several gentlemen employed on new block of buildings now in course of erection on 63d and 64th streets, between 10th and 11th avenues, have been satisfactorily adjusted, and that all liens filed against said block, which appeared in THE RECORD AND GUIDE of the 12th inst., have been paid and discharged, which facts will appear in "Satisfied Lien" column of this issue. BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

[For prices see pages x., xi., xii. and xiv.]

BRICKS.—The general condition of the market for Common Hards has been favorable to buyers since our last, the tone indeed a trifle easier on most of the supply, and up to the present writing there is no positive recovery except possibly where a customer insists upon taking his pick of stock, extra fine quality proving rather scarce. The excellent character of the weather has proven an important factor in aiding an increased consumption, and no doubt was in reality the principle influence in preventing a further slump in value, for the supply has been immense, coming in from all points, including the Hudson River district, New Jersey, Long Island and Staten Island. The week opened in fact with something like six or seven millions afloat, a portion carried over stock, and that these should not have proven more oppressive than they did up the latest hour for information seems like very good evidence of the latest strength of the market. Receivers, in fact, seem to think they have probably weathered the worst period for the old stock and hope to carry a fair measure of advantage until new make puts in an appearance. On looking over the general run of quotations the two extremes of figures remain about the same as last week, but on intermediate lines embracing simply good to fairly fine stock; shadings have been allowed, sometimes to a comparatively liberal extent in order to hasten the movements of cargoes. There is also reports of business at $7.50 per M, but it seems rather an exceptional figure and not well established. Pales have suffered most in price, and on some business made a break down to $3.00 per M with $3.25@3.50 now about top for ordinary run of quality, though something very fine, it is thought, might reach 12½@25c. per M higher. The mildness of the temperature of late has greatly accelerated the preparations for new work, and matters are a little more forward than was expected at this date, with moulding now under way at quite a large number of the yards.

LATH.—There has been just sufficient increase in the arrivals to shake off the sharp upper edge of the market somewhat and fractionally cut down quotations, but the tone on the whole is a pretty good one and receivers are not grumbling to any extent. The fact is that buyers find about all the reported receipts of the former small calibre, frequently something less than 100,000 per vessel, so that the aggregate under ordinary conditions of full cargoes might be much greater with fewer vessels. Furthermore the offering to arrive is much smaller and all who have discovered any early use for stock concluded to invest. About $2.50@2.60 for slab stock, and $2.40 for round wood were considered fair valuations on supply from the Eastward. There has also been a pretty good offering of Canadian stock, and we have direct report of about one million sold within the week at $2.50@2.60 per M, according to quantity and delivery.

LIME.—This continues a pretty difficult market to report, simply because there are practically no new features. Supplies come to hand from the Eastward, sometimes full, sometimes slow, but they are all disposed of on receipt without difficulty, and the line of cost stands just where it did before. For the State product the demand is also reported as first class, and indeed agents say it is impossible to meet all calls made upon them owing to the vast number of cars employed in the transportation of ice. St. John stock finds the usual custom and at steady rates.

The value of the lime exports from St. John, N. B., last month was $8,673 against $7,026 for March of last year. The total value of lime exported for the quarter ending 31st March, 1880, was $18,200 against $9,790 for the same period in 1889.

LUMBER.—There were a great many reports of an "unchanged" character on the general market and few suggestions, positively few. Says one dealer: "Yard trade is as good as it can be in building grades of lumber, if we allow for the movement of other material," and that in substance was about the character of most views. For manufacturing purposes the call is somewhat erratic, but those customers who depend entirely upon this market for their supplies are heard from oftener and with greater effect. Dealers in the meanwhile are not idle, and while it cannot be said that there is any unusual animation to the demand, for majority of goods the call is certainly pronounced enough to give all really first class stuff a healthy market with good promise for continuation some time ahead. As a rule, canvassing agents meet with better success in serving orders across the river and in the extreme up-town and annexed district yards than within the solid portion of the city.

The somewhat extensive failure announced in the local trade this week, while of course creating more or less talk and comment, has had no influence except upon those directly concerned, and to the majority of operators it appears to be a mere matter of passing interest.

Eastern Spruce has a market upon which it is not a question of finding custom, but of finding supplies to meet the call, and consequently the elements of strength for values are of the most pronounced type. Taken altogether, there has in odd arrivals been quite a bunch of stock received here since February, but the manner in which it disappeared confirmed the predictions of receivers as to their ability to dispose of arrivals, and they renew the claim that only a fraction of actual wants are met and cannot be for many weeks to come. The venerable story about a scant log cut, poor runs, etc., has this season been carefully laid away for a temporary rest, while the limited and costly transportation facilities makes such an excellent substitute and upon really a much more solid basis. In addition to the good chance for randoms, there are many specials tendered, but none accepted unless buyers will allow liberal latitude as to date of shipment. Another pretty big fleet has made its appearance since our last, but the proportion of unsold cargoes was remarkably small, and it is believed that about all the supply expected is now forward. Values were not weakened on any grade.

The St. John River Log Driving Company held its annual meeting at Fredericton, N. B., last week. The drive was sold to Robt. Connors at the following rate, there being no competition: Grand Falls, 24 cents; Aroostook Fall, 24 cents; Salmon River, 18 cents; Tobique River, 18 cents; all points below, 10 cents.

Piling has worked forward pretty well in some cases, but promptly disappeared, as about all of it was either under engagement or found waiting and anxious custom for anything of standard size, though even pretty common stuff, sold fairly. All along the line prices are steady, with some intimations of an advance.

Hemlock shows the same general firmness on all the better descriptions of stock, and appreciative buyers do not seem to hesitate about naming full bids promptly. The stories of ability to purchase below quotations are kept alive, but a number who have made the effort did not seem to find the guarantee of quality they desired or else were unable to secure promise of shipment and delivery at convenient periods, and generally found the higher cost goods better adapted to their purpose.

White Pine has had enough trade this spring to make its advocates feel quite cheerful, and they appear to be confident that business will work right along in satisfactory form, and more or less expansive tendency. There are enough conservative operators to frankly admit the continuation of strong competition from many other products of the forest; yet certain outlets are never likely to be closed against white pine, so long as cost is kept within reasonable bounds, and it takes a great deal of stock to fill the bill. The export trade this season has been excellent, but it is expected that many foreign orders will soon commence to gravitate toward the provinces.

Yellow Pine meets with all the previously advised attention, and it is a question whether the demand is not growing somewhat as yard dealers are willing to stock up with standard goods, and there are a great many specials to be attended to on local account or with custom that makes this point its place for negotiation. There is also said to be quite a good showing at times for a f. o. b. business, with prospects for an increase. On values the position is firm enough and not likely to be assailed so long as the manufacturers and receivers, and the yard dealer's associations remain in the harmonious condition they have heretofore so successfully preserved.

Carolina Pine of standard cut and condition loses no ground in point of favor and every time a report to the contrary circulates, if run down, generally brings the investigator to the conclusion that it did not originate with the regular trade. Nor has there been any regular cutting on values so far as can be learned, and only the new and anxious seller seems to think it necessary to tempt custom by a modification of cost.

Hardwoods of the leading decriptions so frequently enumerated of late retain good favor and when an offering of special attraction comes to hand it secures speedy sale at full rates. Agents have already commenced to show up in pretty near average attendance, but are in many cases proceeding cautiously, as though determined to feel the ground thoroughly before taking any positive stand. Local dealers, however, are a little indifferent, too, and casting about and weighing all the chances before consenting to negotiate beyond the limits of early and natural chances. The export trade is looked upon as affording good general promise, but some operators entertain a fear that unscrupulous parties may continue the practice of forwarding inferior and deceptive stuff to the general injury of all American woods.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

The Northwestern Lumberman as follows:

With the coming of unmistakeable spring weather, the general lumber trade has revived in a pronounced degree. Reports this week are almost unanimous to the effect that there has recently been an increase of demand and movement, though the rains and floods in many sections have been excessive, and operations have thereby been greatly hindered. Thus the faith entertained by lumbermen throughout the winter that there was to be a remarkable consumption of lumber this year is likely to be verified.

There is a cloud on the prospect, however, in the threatened eight-hour movement and the strikes that may possibly result therefrom. In this city a carpenters' strike is already in progress, and local trade has thus been seriously checked, and at a time when building operations were gaining unprecedented headway. Like disturbances in other cities may occur when the grand eight-hour movement shall have been begun.

The cargo market season on the great lakes is opening, though slowly. There is some activity on the Saginaw River, and a few shipments have been made from the ports on the east shore of Lake Michigan to this city and other points. Now that the Mackinaw straits are open, there is nothing to prevent the passage of vessels from the lower lakes into Lake Michigan, though Green Bay is still covered with ice. The dealers at this point are apparently in no haste to get forward lumber from the mill. Prices in the yards here are lower than they were in January and February, while values at the mills are held firmly. Eastern buyers have contracted for a good deal of lumber on Green Bay, as well as at Manistee, Muskegon and other points on this lake. They are also active among stocks on Lake Superior. There is a general inquiry for good lumber all along the lakes and throughout Wisconsin. Lath are scarce throughout the white pine States. Shingles on Lake Michigan are less in demand than last year at a like time. There is a fair inquiry for dimension on the Saginaw River, supplies having been greatly reduced. Short dimension is held at this point at $10 for green and $10.50 for dry. Long dimension is held at $11.50.

Lake rates have opened at Bay City and at this point about as last year.

Several loads were sold on the market this week, one house having seven. The lumber offered was piece stuff, cull boards and strips and shingles. The cull sold for $7.25 and $7.50 a thousand. A cargo of short green Manistee piece stuff brought $10 a thousand. Dry sells for $10.50, and long dimension at $11.50. A deck load of Cartier's Ludington shingles sold for $2 a thousand, and a lot of 5-inch at 90 cents.

The lumber sold was taken by dealers who have a local trade. Yards that do mostly a shipping business do not take hold. Vessels are, however, going out for loads, and it is probable that considerable lumber will soon be offered on the market or sold to go direct to the yards. Yet the commission men do not expect much trade until May.

The Mississippi Valley Lumberman as follows regarding the log prospects on the Mississippi:

The weather has been very favorable during the opening weeks of spring, for plenty of water in the streams for driving, the thaw being gradual enough to prevent floods, and the supply of snow in the upriver country having been retained by the cool temperature prevailing in sufficient quantities to provide an abundance of water at the proper time. The surveyor-general's office reports that about half of the scalers are down from the woods, and the figures submitted for record by those already here indicate that the winter's cut will quite materially exceed the amount of the general estimate. In fact it is believed that the log supply will be larger than the most sanguine have anticipated, and some of these have generally been considered extravagant. The camps are now practically all broken, but many of them have remained from one to two weeks longer than was expected, thus adding a considerable amount to the winter's aggregate. All the loggers have returned now, with but few if any exceptions, and the logging season may be said to have terminated with this week. It will be some days yet, however, before the authenticated figures of the season's operations can be secured.

Driving is expected to commence in about ten days on the streams. The ice is all out of the river at Minneapolis, but still remains firm in the tributaries. The lakes will probably not break up before the 10th of May. The Mississippi & Rum River Boom Company is preparing for business and will have a crew of men at work next Monday driving piles and hanging booms. They will have everything in readiness to take care of the drives as soon as the ice goes out and expect to start the rear boom at Brainerd in about two weeks. The saw mills are all preparing for the start which will doubtless occur about that time.

And in reviewing the condition of the market as follows:

The weak spot admittedly is in the Northwest where the production of lumber promises to be very large. But there are unmistakable indications that while the manufacturers in that region may make more lumber, they may also sell more. Their field of distribution may not be materially widened, but their territory may be freed from much of the competition which has cut such an important figure for a year or two past in keeping down prices.

There is a general appreciation that the slump in prices this season will be confined principally to the common grades of lumber. The best grades of white pine, as well as the best grade of logs, will command full prices, because even with the large log cut there will be no surplus of the best the markets afford. The factories are full of work, demanding the use of clears and selects, and an increased Eastern demand is calculated to make this feature of the demand more than ever conspicuous. Even the building boom which Salt Lake City is enjoying has made a demand for certain of the best grades of white pine even in that remote market.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Timber Trades Journal reports as follows:

LONDON

American Woods.—Black walnut—There continues to be an active inquiry and a generally satisfactory trade done. The stocks, however, of all descriptions, are quite sufficient, without further addition, to supply the requirements of the trade for some time yet.

siderable quantity of lumber being consumed in all branches of the cabinet trade. We notice a fresh parcel of prime logs is now being landed at the docks.

Satin walnut has shown but little tendency towards improvement; there is, however, some trade doing, but there is not much disposition on the part of wholesale dealers to make speculative purchases. We notice a parcel of good useful logs is just now being landed at the West India docks.

Oak.—This trade continues active so far as lumber is concerned, but nothing to speak of has been done in logs for some time past.

We have seen some samples of a new description of mahogany imported from Malabar, which was offered in the last hardwood sale without attracting any bids. The wood has a nice clean appearance, and somewhat resembles in character good class Mexican mahogany. It can be had in good lengths, and although the present shipment is not as well squared as it ought to be, this is a defect which will, doubtless, be remedied with the next importation. There is, we understand, a large and regular supply of it available, and at the good prices which all classes of mahogany are now realising this Indian variety should be worth the notice of the trade.

LIVERPOOL.

The deliveries of pitch pine have been large, viz., 245,000 ft. of sawn, and 74,000 ft. of hewn logs, or equal to about 50 per cent. more than last March. Oak logs and planks also show a considerable increase in consumption over last year. Birch logs and planks have been forced off the market to nearly three times the extent of last year, but we are still saddled with the excessive stock of 218,000 cubic feet.

Very little impression has been made during the past month on the stock of Quebec deals, the deliveries for that time being only 958 standards, leaving us with a stock of 7,175 standards of pine and spruce combined.

CUBA.

The latest mail from Havana brings following report on Cuban woods. The demand keeps fair at following quotations: Mahogany—9@13 inch width, per M ft., $62; 14@17 inch width, per M ft., $81; 18 inch and upwards, per M ft., $101. Cedar, according to size, $51@87 per M ft. The inquiry is also fair on the coast, at following prices: Mahogany, according to size, $45@50 per M ft.; Cedar, according to size, $38@42 per M ft.; other hardwoods, $32@38 per M ft.

SOUTH AMERICA.

The Rio News reports:

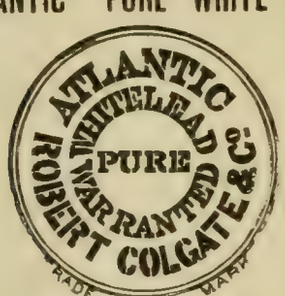
Pitch Pine.—Receipts nil. The market has improved in tone, and we may quote to-day at 32$000—33$000 per doz. steady.

White Pine.—The small lot of Baltimore lumber, referred to in our last, sold at 115 rs. Brokers report the market firm and quote New York boards at 118—120 rs. per foot.

METALS.—COPPER—Ingot has not shown much present animation, yet nevertheless the demand was good and general, and the failure of buyers to secure what they called for was due to the large amount of production sold ahead. With such a basis a firmness of tone on values becomes a natural sequence, and full rates are asked with more general strength shown than for almost any of the leading metals. Quotations are generally placed at 14¼@14½c. for Lake and 12½@13¼c. for casting brands. Manufactured Copper appears to be making about an average record in point of animation and the movement embodies much the usual assortment, the market altogether making a respectable record and keeping prices in good uniform condition. Segment and pattern sheets, 3c. above price of sheets required to cut them from. Cold or hard rolled copper, 1@2c. per lb. above the foregoing prices. Copper bottom, 26@29c. per lb. IRON—Scotch Pig has not shown much animation and found a more or less unsettled market under the dual influence of the unfavorable advices from abroad and the weakening of market for the domestic product. Offerings were managed very well, however, and of late importers have appeared inclined to a steadier feeling. We quote at $20.00@25.50 per ton, according to brand. American Pig has again been subject to a very unsettled market, and a further slump on values all around. The greatest break was on Southern iron, of which large quantities have been crowded into consumers' hands at the West, in some instances are very low figures, and while the Eastern productions did not sink in value to the same proportionat extent, it could not wholly escape the influence. The weakening in tone is probably no surprise to a large majority of the trade, but the panic mongers have not yet been able to breed a condition of general demoralization, and of late matters have commenced to assume a steadier phase on all good irons. We quote at $18.00@19.00 per ton for No. 1 X foundry; $17.00@18.00 for No. 2 X do., and $16.00@17.00 for Gray Forge. Old material undergoes more or less variations in sympathy with pig iron, etc., and at times valuations have been quite wide apart. Demand also was quite erratic and moderate, and at the close matters show more or less nominal conditions. We quote at about $25.00@25.50 for old rails; $22.50@23.00 for No. 1 wrought scrap; $18.00@18.50 for cast scrap, and $17.00@17.50 for car wheels. Manufactured Iron has been going out on deliveries very fairly, but the new demand was generally lacking the force and volume as with the downward tendency of the crude article buyers felt a greater degree of caution. It is, however, asserted that list rates were carefully and closely adhered to, and the position is called a firm one for standard descriptions. We quote Common Merchant Bar, ordinary sizes, at 2.10@2.12c. from store, and refined at 2.30@2.60c.; Rods, round and square, 2.40@2.45c.; Bands, 2.60@2.65c.; Norway Nail Rods, 4@5c., and domestic sheet on the basis of 3.00@3.05c. for common Nos. 10@16. Other descriptions at corresponding prices, with 1-10c. less on large lots from cars. Steel Rails are more or less unsettled, and the general tendency of the market seems evidently toward a lower basis. Indeed, while quoting nominally as before, it is believed manufacturers have contracted with some freedom at lessened rates, and at the close the feeling is unsettled. We quote at about $33.00@34.00 per ton for standard section at the mills and $34.50@35.00 do. at tide water. LEAD—Domestic Pig has continued to weaken somewhat in tone and been offered with greater freedom, but the modification in cost does not appear to have been sufficient to draw out any better demand and business ruled dull. We quote at 3.85@3.90c as to quality. The manufactures of lead are quoted: Bar, 4½c.; pipe, 6c.; sheet, 6¾c., less the usual discount to the trade; and tin lined pipe, 15c.; block tin pipe 45c., on same terms. TIN—Pig had quite a decided tumble on the London market with reflection here, and for a while matters looked bad, but of late a steadier undercurrent has developed and offerings are more careful. We quote at about 19 70 @19.75c. for round lots, and 19⅞@20c. for jobbing parcels. Tin plate does not reach a point of much animation and the market can hardly be called cheerful with values more or less nominal, especially for cokes, but holders do not press stocks. We quote prices as follows: I. C. Charcoal, ½ cross assortment, Melyn grades, $5.95@6.00, each additional X add $1.50; I. C. Charcoal, ½ cross assortment, Allaway grade, $5.00@5.10, each additional X add $1; Charcoal terne, M. F. grade, 14x20, $6.65@6.70; M. F. grade, 20x28, $13.50@13.55; Worcester, 14x20, $4.80@4.85; Worcester, 20x28, $9.65@9.70.; Deane grade, 14x20, $4.60@4.65; Dean grade, 20x28, $9.20@9.35; D. R. D. grade, 14x20, $4.50@4.55; D. R. D. grade, 20x28, $9.00@9.10; I. C. Coke, Penlan grade, $4.35@4.40; J. B. grade, 14x20, $4.45 @ 4.50; I. C. Bessemer steel, squares, $4.90@5.20 basis; I. C. Siemens steel, squares, $5.00@5.10 basis. Spelter remains about as before in value, with a moderately active trade doing only. We quote 4.95@5.10c. for common Western, according to brand.



NAILS.—The demand has fluctuated and given the general market an unsettled tone. Buyers, however, were evidently in the most independent mood, and would neither invest against the future or submit to the payment of any fuller line of cost, with many talking about getting easier terms since the additional break in cost of iron. We quote at $1.90@1.95 per keg for car lots, and $2.00@2.05 per keg for parcels from store.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—Most of the current reports assume a semi-cheerful tone and occasionally it is possible to find an operator quite enthusiastic over the condition of the market. The latter, however, is unquestionably the exception and evidences that business does not come up to calculations continue. Otherwise, however, there is nothing very much out of the way with the market and so far as keeping good control of supplies and maintaining steady rates is concerned everything seems to be all right, and especially so for most standard stock. Linseed Oil sells very well and on all first-class stock has a steady tone. We quote at 60@61c. for Western, and 62@64c. for City. Spirits Turpentine has sold with less freedom and the outlet failing to balance receipts prices are lower, the market closing in an unsettled condition though mostly favor the buyers. We quote 41½@43c. per gallon, according to quantity, delivery, etc. On Paris Green there has been an official advance of ½c. per pound, due to increasing demand and better control of the supply.

TAR AND PITCH.—Supply and demand manage to keep upon a pretty good balance, and the entire market correspondingly steady. Advices from primary sources are said to be interesting. We quote Pitch at $1.40@1.50 per bbl.; Tar at $2.12½@2.30, according to quantity, quality and delivery.

VOL. XLV. APRIL 26, 1890. No. 1,154.

There is no mistaking the character of the stock market, it is genuinely bull. The advance began last week, received a vigorous impetus by the reports from Washington of almost certain silver legislation and consequent inflation of the currency. Wall street interprets this a sign of the end of famine and the advent of an era of plenty. The uncertainty of money rates has been the broker's bugbear for some years, and it is not surprising that he is jubilant at the prospect of steady quotations which such a bill as that agreed upon by the Republican caucus at Washington presents. In other quarters, admitting the necessity for more money, the measure is looked upon with approval. Some details naturally meet with objection from silver as well as anti-silver men; but the more general opinion is that if the experiment of a larger silver coinage must be undertaken, the way proposed is a good way to do it. There is a small minority, as there always is on such occasions, who proclaim di-aster; but as it is believed that the first results can only be good in meeting a necessity for an enlarged currency, and remembered that all legislation is experimental, and that amendment can prevent any evil which may hereafter be seen in the operation of the measure, or arrest it if any should unobserved arise, few ears listen to the jeremiads. Meanwhile, securities continue to be benefited by it up to the passage of the Silver bill. As is more often the case than not, activity in Wall street is accompanied by dullness outside except in some trades, also largely affected by speculation. It is a case of Wall street reflecting rather than preflecting the general prosperity, as is its customary boast. Apart from the silver legislation, there are signs of a continuance of an advance in stock market quotations, notably the easy rates for money in all the great financial centres, the buying of American securities abroad, and in the continued prosperity of the railroads. We predicted some time ago that the securities of reorganized properties would be prominent in any advance that might come. That has proved to be the case, and the end is not yet.

The bill amending the Block Indexing Act of last year has been signed by the Governor, and there is nothing now to prevent the rapid progress of the work of making the maps—a work which has, of course, been temporarily suspended, pending the bill's passage. The amendments all relate to the preparation of the maps, and do nothing more than make some alterations in the number and boundaries of the sections which the actual work of preparation has rendered advisable. It is encouraging to see that the bill encountered no real opposition at Albany, and that no attempt has been made to nullify the bill of last year.

In Mayor Grant's first annual message to the Board of Aldermen, he expressed an earnest desire that the rapid transit problem should be solved during his term, and added that he was willing to receive suggestions from any one as to the most effective solution. Later, when his bill was introduced, he denied that he had any personal interest in the matter, beyond a disinterested wish to have the matter satisfactorily adjusted, and professed that he was willing to consider any amendments which would improve and help to pass his bill. The hollowness of these pretensions was clearly enough shown when the Fassett bill was given to the public. If Mayor Grant had been sincere in his protestasions, if his main interest had been the solution of the difficulty, and not the making of political capital out of the solution for himself and Tammany, he could very well have afforded to accept the commission named in the original Fassett bill. But, no! The Fassett bill contained the fatal defect of not only not being the Mayor's measure, but of being the measure of political opponents, and the verdict went forth that it should be opposed. On the other hand, the part which the Republicans have played is equally hollow and false. Mr. Boardman stated early in the winter, that if the Mayor had any suggestions to make as to the commission, they would, if satisfactory, be considered and incorporated in the bill, but the Mayor declined to compromise. Nevertheless he developed a little scheme of his own, and appointed five well-known gentlemen of unimpeachable character under the provisions of another bill. Notice the situation. If the Mayor had been sincere and disinterested in the matter, he would have attempted a compromise by submitting the names of his five irreproachable gentlemen to Messrs. Fassett and Ivins; if the Republicans had been sincere they would have accepted these five gentlemen—in either of which cases the matter would have been satisfactorily adjusted. The conclusion is that the only earnestness with which either party was animated was partisan, and nobody can exactly tell what the outcome will be. The game is more complicated now than it ever has been before, the only certain thing about it being that the public necessities will have nothing to do with the result, if, indeed, there is any result at all. After the backsliding of the Senate on the Ballot Reform bill, that august body will scarcely be in a temper to repeat the exhibition. It is about time, bye the bye, for Governor Hill to send a message to the Legislature expressing his grave surprise and his utter condemnation at the way public interests are suffering during the political combat. The whole squabble from the beginning to the end has been one of the most disgraceful exhibitions of petty pretense and deliberate disregard of every consideration of public welfare for partisan advantage it has ever been our misfortune to witness.

The city, it would appear, is not yet over its electric lighting troubles. The subways are being built as rapidly as possible; no deaths have occurred of late, and the companies are as a rule able to supply their customers. The hitch has occurred this time in connection simply with the city lamps, and there is a prospect of our streets being lighted entirely by gas, unless the Gas Commission re-advertises for and receives bids which are nearer to the price which the city has been accustomed to pay—that is, about thirty-one cents per light per night. For the past year there have been 1,306 public electric lights in New York, costing $147,713, and divided among four different companies. In their bids this year these companies uniformly advanced their prices some twenty per cent., and if their bids had been accepted the city's expenditure for electric light would have been the larger by a little less than $30,000. The Gas Commission consequently came to the conclusion that rather than have the city mulcted for such a large sum, there should be no electric lighting done at all. This was a prudent conclusion, and one doubtless unexpected by the companies. It is probable, if bids are again called for, that the companies would reduce their prices to, or near to, those of last year, for $150,000 per annum is not a sum to be lightly thrown away; as soon, of course, as the impossibility of getting $180,000 per annum for the same service is clearly seen. But what a farce, under such circumstances, is this advertising for bids! Some one has said that where combination is possible, competition is impossible. In this case, if in no other, it certainly produces no competition, for in relation to the city the four companies are to all intents and purposes a trust. Indeed, if they wish to exist and make money there is practically no alternative open to them. Competition under such conditions is ruinous; combination is necessary. But the conclusion we should wish to draw is not that the city should be deprived of electric lights, because of the exorbitant charges of private companies, but that we should establish a plant of our own. We have so frequently pointed out the grounds for this conclusion, and events for the past six months have so continuously justified it, that it is unnecessary to dwell on them again. Meanwhile we have the prospect before us of being without electric lights for a year at a time, when little country towns in every State in the Union are finding the means to put them in.

As our daily papers have given so small a share of their valuable space to the Labor Conference in Berlin, it may not be unintersting, even at this late hour, to enumerate the recommendations which this conference has made. Of course the conference had absolutely no authority—their resolutions being simply "pious opinions" and not imperative laws. No one is obliged to take any notice of them any more than Congress is obliged to take any notice of the President's message; and perhaps it is not likely that the legislative bodies of the various nations represented at the conference will give them a second thought. This constitutes at once the weakness and the strength of the conference. If the resolutions had been in any sense mandatory, it is not likely that so many would have passed or that the meetings would have been as harmonious as they were. The recommendations are moderate and sensible. The employment of women in mines is unreservedly condemned; and it is suggested that women in southern countries, and children under twelve should not be allowed to work underground. In northern countries fourteen is substituted as the minimum age. It is proposed that in mines which are specially dangerous the hours of work should be shortened. Voluntary agreements between managers and operatives to regulate the output of coal are recommended; and it is wisely declared that one day's rest in seven should be secured for workers of every kind. All the delegates except the French voted for a further resolution that such a day of rest should be Sunday. We should like to know what the reasons of the French delegates were in thus disagreeing with the rest. It was also generally agreed that there might be exceptions to this regular cessation in the case of industries which provide necessaries, require uninterrupted work, or are pursued for only a season of the year. Some delegates proposed that these exceptions should be ruled by international agreement; but the delegates of France, Great Britain and Belgium objected to this proposition, preferring that each country should decide the matter for itself. As regards children, the resolutions condemn their employment under twelve or under ten in southern countries, where the body is matured at an earlier age. Children under sixteen are not to work at night or on Sunday, while the labor of children under fourteen should be restricted to six hours a day. Married women and unmarried women over sixteen should not be allowed to work at night, nor on Sunday, nor at any time over eleven hours a day. Courts of arbitration and workingmen committees are advised for the settlement of disputes; and this labor conference is to meet at stated intervals for an exchange of views. It is to be remarked that Americans and Englishmen can congratulate themselves that reforms which have reached only the stage of recommendation on the continent of Europe are established facts with most English speaking people.

There is constant danger in discussing contemporary events of giving them a significance which, in truth, they will not bear, and which the logic of time will show to be utterly false; and for that reason any writer who exclaims that a book or an event is "epoch-making" must be criticized with rigor. But, after making due allowance for the fact that quite possibly the opinion may be nonsensical, we will state that the Berlin conference, whatever may be said of its futility, contains within it the adumbration of what, in time, may work the greatest good to the human race. So far as we know it is the first conference in history at which were represented the governments of the greatest nations of Europe, the object of which was not the adjustment of boundaries, the settlement of a succession, or some other merely political purpose, but the amelioration of mankind, or certain classes thereof, irrespective of national distinctions. And if the result of this first conference seems meagre, if it has added nothing to the solution of the labor problem, the fact is none the less true that the mere attempt has a significance which is not to be despised. Furthermore, when we learn that these conferences are to be held periodically, that the suggestions are to be renewed or new ones added, it must be admitted that, possibly, at all events a new factor has been introduced into the adjustment of our deepest difficulties which is not to be despised. At present the conference has no authority; the governments are not even pledged to endeavor to give efficacy to their recommendations; but a basis for discussion is provided, and discussion is as necessary to the reform of abuses and the solution of difficulties as wind is necessary to the sails of a ship.

Municipal Gas Works of Philadelphia.

There seems to be a general belief current that the Gas Works of Philadelphia, owned and operated by the city, furnish an exception to the general rule of successful working credited to public works under municipal control in this country. An examination of the last two annual reports of these works will show the erroneousness of this impression. The explanation of how this false report became so thoroughly spread is simple. Unable to dispute successfully the plain facts which the every-day experience of municipal works presented, the friends of corporation control of such works concentrated their whole attack upon the City Gas Works of Philadelphia—the one example of municipal control which seemed to be the most vulnerable. From that time on, did any one press the advantages of municipal control, some opponent was sure to respond with an air of superior knowledge, "Yes; but how about the Philadelphia Gas Works?" This question, oft repeated, came to have the weight of argument with the large class opposed, through prejudice or on account of personal interests, to the widening of the sphere of public action; and this implication that the Philadelphia Gas Works were unsuccessfully operated found acceptance the more readily on account of the disclosures of corruption in the general public service which had been made from time to time in that city. Strange to say, none of the leading opponents of municipal control have ever been able to show, when asked to do so, that there was really anything in the way the City Gas Works of Philadelphia were conducted that argued to any extent against the present system of management in vogue in that city. Private light associations are now beginning to take alarm at the rapid municipalization of public works going forward, in spite of their vigorous but unwarranted assaults, and to perceive that they must change their tactics. The leading organ of private light and water works associations, in its last edition, deprecates the methods of attack and abuse without argument which are so freely employed against the advocates of municipal control of public works, practically admitting in doing this what has been pointed out as the plan of assault used to overthrow established city works. There is no longer any doubt that the opposition to the Gas Works in Philadelphia, such as it is, comes wholly from those persons interested personally in having the plant placed in private hands, and that upon this self-created opposition all arguments against these works are based.

The annual report of the Director of the Department of Public Works of Philadelphia for the year 1889, just published, should clear away the last vestige of doubt that remains regarding the successful operation of the Gas Works of that city. For 1888 the results of the operation of the Bureau of Gas, as shown in the columns of THE RECORD AND GUIDE, were of the most gratifying character. The results for 1889 surpass even those of 1888. The total output of gas was over 50,000,000 cubic feet less for 1889 than for the previous year, but this reduction was due to the decrease in leakage of 71,000,000 cubic feet—which was of course a clear gain in economy—and to a slight decrease in the amount supplied free of charge to public buildings, due to the substitution of electric light for gas. The amount sold was actually increased 35,000,000 cubic feet over that in 1888. After deducting all expenses of the works, including extensions amounting to $292,146, which, it must be remembered, would have been charged to capital account in works under private control, a balance remains in the city treasury, as the result of the year's operation, of $807,205, or an increase of over $375,000 over the balance of 1888, and this after supplying 450,000,000 cubic feet of gas free of charge for public lighting. The current expenses of the works for the year 1888 were greater than those of the succeeding year, owing to the fact that during this last year cheap water gas was introduced into the city; on the other hand, the cost of extension was much greater in 1889 than in the previous year. The report also shows that, under municipal control, the cost of manufacturing gas and delivering it to consumers is becoming constantly less, allowing each year a larger surplus to go into the treasury to the relief of the taxpayer. The cost to the city of coal gas in the holder was reduced from 66 cents to 60 cents per 1,000 feet during the year. The introduction of water gas for 37 cents per 1,000 feet reduced the average cost in the holder of the total output to 52 cents. The cost of delivery to consumers added 22 cents, and of extensions 15 cents, making the total cost 89 cents, as against $1.02 in 1888. It is of course due to the cheapness of the water gas that the contrast in the cost of gas for these two years is so great; yet, after leaving out of consideration the water gas, the reduction in the cost of gas during the last year is still seen to be very great as compared with the previous year. Nor has this decrease in the cost of gas been at the expense of its purity and candle power. From daily tests conducted for years past, it is found that the average candle power of the gas manufactured in 1887 was 17.65; that in 1888, 18.54; and that in 1889, 20.07. The friends and advocates of private operation of public works have reason to be alarmed now, since the City Gas Works of Philadelphia, their last hope of successful attack, has completely disappointed them.

Some of the evidence given before the Select Committee of the House of Lords on the sweating system is worth reproduction, and David F. Schloss, in the current number of the Fortnightly Review, gives it to us in a select form. It has been generally supposed that the practice of "sweating" working men and women is co-extensive with the sub-contract system—that is, the system very prevalent in Great Britain at present, of farming out a certain portion of the work of manufacturing to laboring men, who thus become small employers, a practice which relieves large manufacturers from the duties of superintendence. Mr. Schloss denies this, and endeavors to show, apparently with some success, that in many trades the laborers of sub-contractors have nothing to complain of, while in others, in which there is no sub-contracting, the "sweating" was as unbearable as in the worst of the sub-contracting shops. It is some of the evidence, however, which Mr. Schloss adduces, which is of interest to us, as showing to what pitiful depths of misery the competition of unskilled laborers may bring them to. In order to keep body and soul together they are obliged to work, as one of the witnesses says, "all the hours that God sends." Thus, in East London, Mrs. Kellick works from 6 A. M. to 8 P. M., and does not clear one shilling a day. Mrs. Hayes, another trouser finisher, works from 8 A. M. to 10 or 11 P. M.; assisted by her daughter, the two earn together 5s. 6d. a week. Mrs. Casey, a shirt machinist, begins between 7 and 8 in the morning and has to work sometimes until 11 o'clock at night; while Mrs. Liddle, who frequently works even longer than this, earns in the same trade from 5s. to 7s. per week, less 9d. for cotton and 2s. 6d. for the hire of her sewing machine. Mrs. Glazier can earn at shirt finishing not quite 4½d. per day. All these women are partially disabled from doing their best work by the care of their families or by physical defects; but one can imagine how utterly wretched the poor creatures must be. This, it must be remembered, is not the sensational story of a newspaper, but the sworn testimony before a legislative committee.

The Comptroller has been authorized to issue dock bonds amounting to $2,000,000 for the improvement of the river front.

Investments—Good and Bad.

WATER BONDS.—It is superfluous to indicate in which class of investments water bonds are to be included. Issued usually in amounts too small to be traded in on the exchanges, they have always, notwithstanding, found ready purchasers. In very many cases local capitalists and investment institutions absorb them as soon as issued, and their values are so fixed that they do not flow in and out of the markets because of trade fluctuations. It has been stated that out of fifteen hundred water companies in this country the works of three only have been sold under foreclosure. It would be difficult to either indorse or deny this statement. The water supplies of great cities like New York, Philadelphia or Chicago have engineering features which make them matter of world's interest, but in a vast majority of cases the individual communities affected by water enterprises are small, and their efforts to secure this necessity of little moment to the world outside. The distribution of the majority of the companies securities is among small groups, and a failure here and there could easily pass by unnoticed. Moreover, in case of failure, those from whom only accurate information could be obtained would be more anxious to conceal the fact than to make their errors known, and in cases of success they are too satisfied to care whether the results of their labors are known or not, and sometimes even interested in concealing the full measure of gain. For these reasons it is difficult to obtain the necessary data to show in the fullest way what have been the financial results of the water supply industry of the country. Still the very magnitude of this industry is forcing it into prominence, and creating a necessity for such data. Some praiseworthy efforts to collect all the information regarding it have been made of late years, but notwithstanding the most painstaking industry the results are still imperfect, the defects being more particularly in the line of the financial results. Some valuable general results of interest to investors may still be gathered from what has already been done, and in order to show them in this article the figures contained in the "Manual of American Water Works for 1888," published by the Engineering News have been freely availed of. The statistics cover the year for which the manual is issued. It appears that up to that time there had been constructed in the United States 1,642 water works at a cost equal to something more than a tenth of the bonded debt of all the railroads in the country up to the same time, and supplying 14,854,612 of the population, or an average of 8,900 per works. When it is remembered what large populations are on single works in the great cities, the fact alluded to before, that the large majority of works are in small communities, will be more forcibly brought out, and so as to show how very small these communities must be to make the average what it is. Of the total works 715 are owned by the city, town or village, as the case may be, and 927 by companies or individuals. These and other facts are more clearly brought out in the subjoined table showing the investment in water works in the United States by groups, the pecuniary returns, etc.:

GROUP.	No. works.	City or town.	Other	Cost.	Revenue.	Per ct.	Pop'n. supplied.

The groups outside of New England are made up as follows: Middle—New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland and the District of Columbia. South Atlantic—Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida. South Central—Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee and Kentucky. North Central—Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin. Northwestern—Iowa, Minnesota, Kansas, Nebraska, Dakota, Wyoming and Montana. Southwestern—Missouri, Arkansas, Texas, Colorado and New Mexico. Pacific—Washington, Oregon, California, Arizona, Nevada, Utah and Idaho.

Before commenting on the facts brought out by the table, it is perhaps well to refer to some of the bad features apparent in a general view of this subject. It is to be expected that some of the water works enterprises should be failures, but it is pleasant to have to record that, as far as can be ascertained from existing data, such instances have been very few. In some of these cases the interests of the bondholders have been protected; for instance, where the original builders have been compelled to sell out, and the sales subject to the mortgage. In other instances the misfortune to the bonds has been greater. One works, after $150,000 bonds had been issued upon it, was not completed. The Indianapolis works, built in 1870, were sold out by the Sheriff some ten or eleven years later. The town of Litchfield, Ill., issued $50,000 water bonds, which were held to be void because in excess of the debt limits of the town. At Caldwell, Kan., a $60,000 mortgage on the water works of the town had to be foreclosed and a receiver appointed to protect the bondholders. At Pioche, Nev., works costing $150,000 did not for years pay the salary of the Superintendent, owing to the abandonment of the town when the mines, which were the only reason for its existence, gave out. If it were possible to obtain a complete history of the water works of the country, there would doubtless be found cases in which bondholders had to submit to the scaling process, and that money had been lost in other enterprises similar to that at Pioche, and through repudiation of contracts by municipalities; but, all told, such disasters would most probably represent only a very small percentage of the total investments. Now, as to the general results of these investments. It will be seen by the table given above that $432,225,546 invested in 1,642 water works, supplying something less than fifteen out of fifty millions of people, returned a gross revenue of 9.1 per cent., the revenue being fairly equal all over the country, varying only from 7.5 per cent. in the New England group of States to 10.4 per cent. in the South Atlantic States. The inequalities are nearly all East, the Western groups, including that designated as North Central, varying only 0.5 per cent. in revenue, a remarkably even showing. Another peculiar fact brought out by the table is that the ownership of the works by town or private corporation does not seem to affect the revenue of the groups. A water bond issued with the indorsement of a thriving city or town, and not outside of its debt limit, as in the case of Litchfield, will naturally be more attractive to the investor than one of a private corporation, however valuable its franchise. In the New England group, with 40 per cent. of the works owned by municipalities; in the South Central group, with 25 per cent., and in the Pacific group, with 15 per cent. so owned, the revenue is severally 7.5, 8.2, and 9.3 per cent., which would indicate that the larger the proportion of works owned by the municipalities the smaller the revenue. But in each of the South Atlantic, North Central, and Northwestern groups the municipal ownership of the works is more than 50 per cent., and yet the results in revenue are severally 10.4, 9.7, and 9.3 per cent. Nor does the population supplied affect the percentage of revenue, apparently; it is greatest in the group supplying the smallest number of people, but not least in that supplying the greatest. There is a difference of 1.1 per cent. in the revenue of the two groups of smallest population, and only 0.1 per cent. between the revenue of the two largest. These and other facts which are, it may be remarked, here first brought in a comprehensive form before the investor, show why water bonds, though issued in small amounts and paying low rates of interest, have such a hold on the esteem of investors.

Our Lost Industries.

AN INQUIRY INTO THE CAUSES WHICH HAVE DRIVEN CERTAIN BRANCHES OF INDUSTRY OUT OF NEW YORK—HAS INADEQUATE RAPID TRANSIT BEEN PARTLY RESPONSIBLE THEREFOR?

I.

Whether the inadequacy of our rapid transit facilities is affecting our commerce and industries, and if so, to what extent, is a question which every New Yorker, as well as every property-owner in the metropolis is interested in discovering. We give below the opinions on the matter of one or two experienced business men in the dry goods district.

A SHIRT MANUFACTURER TALKS.

Isaac Rosenstein, of the firm of I. Rosenstein & Co., shirt manufacturers, said: "When I started in business, about a generation ago, we used to carry a general line of goods, including overalls and shirts. During the last ten years we have been forced, by outside competition, to give up, one by one, different grades of shirt goods, as well as overalls, and now we only sell the better grades of shirts. Four important branches of our business have gone to other places: the manufacture of white shirts to Maryland, Massachusetts, Philadelphia and other Pennsylvania places; the overalls mainly to Baltimore, and largely in New York State, and fancy and percale shirts to other places, principally to Maryland. The goods we still manufacture we have to make outside of New York, our factory being at Rahway, N. J., where we employ about 150 women and 100 men. We have very little work done in New York City. What drove our factories away was the competition from these various places. Manufacturers searched out factories where girls who were used to sewing and general factory work could be obtained. They located in the neighborhood. They bought their land for next to nothing; they put up their buildings more cheaply than they could in New York, and the rest of their plant was obtained as cheaply as, if not more cheaply than, it could be delivered for in this city. Rents were smaller, vegetables and other foods were cheaper; the working people were not open to the temptations to spend which exist in New York, because no places of amusement were there to tempt them, and they did not have the ambition to dress like rich people, as they did in New York. Hence they could live on less and enjoy the comforts of life more. Besides that they could have their little flower and vegetable gardens, and their children could have fresh air, instead of being huddled up in a tenement house. All these things enabled the manufacturer to turn out his goods at much smaller cost than in New York. We tried to overcome the difficulties of higher cost of labor with which we were confronted by paying cash for all our goods and thus obtaining a considerable advantage; but it was insufficient to overcome the cheaper labor and longer hours of labor outside, and, of course, there was nothing left but to yield to the inevitable. This, I believe, is the history of every manufacturer who has been driven out of New York City. Besides that, within the last eight years or so, a great many jobbing houses have established factories in their vicinity in connection with their business, and this has enabled them to compete with New York not only by getting the benefit of the reduced cost of manufacture, but by enabling them to get rid of their unsalable goods by manufacturing them in another shape. For instance, if a house was loaded up with material which was intended for shirts and found that the pattern did not take well on the market, they would manufacture it into overalls or other garments and so dispose of the goods.

"Do you think better rapid transit facilities would help to restore some of these industries lost to New York?" asked the writer.

"That I cannot say. If we could get cheap passenger transportation to Yonkers and places in Westchester County, where people could get to New York in a short time at cheap fares—places where rents were very low—it might help us. The only way in which we can compete with outsiders is to enable men and women who work in factories to live in the immediate suburbs of New York, and get to their factory in a reasonable time with a cheap fare. I think there is plenty of room for more factories in the 23d and 24th Wards, where ground can in some places be bought almost as cheaply as it can in many small towns. If factories were established there and operatives could live in the neighborhood, or within half to three-quarters of an hour away by rail, it would probably enable some manufacturers to locate in the upper parts of New York City who would otherwise go to New Jersey or Long Island. But the difficulty now is that it takes too long for working people to get to business, unless they live down town, and this means crowded tenements, and as high rents for three small rooms as for a whole house in the suburbs."

WHAT A MERCHANT SAYS.

Austin H. Watson, of Watson, Bull & Co. (late James E. Vail, Jr., & Co.), said: "I doubt whether any rapid transit we could get would enable us to bring to New York City the manufactories whose goods are so largely sold here. I think that the causes which enable outside places to compete with us are, first, the cheaper cost of plant; second, cheaper rents to the operatives, and third, longer hours of labor. In Connecticut, many working people are paying only $50 per annum in rent. They live in three or four-story tenements, or in double two-story frame buildings holding four families. Many have their little flower-gardens; some their chickens and vegetable gardens, and their children have a chance to get out-of-doors in a pure atmosphere. Many a thrifty mechanic owns his home, which would be impossible in New York. These are all advantages which the working people appreciate, and that is why many of them prefer the country and are to be found there. Of course a great many country people make for the cities. They look to New York as their Mecca, but it is only so with young men and women. The married men appreciate the advantages of the country, especially when they have children. There are many people in New York who would no doubt be glad to get employment in the country, but everything is against them. They are too poor to go on a chance, for they might not find work, and be unable to live till they got it. We are the agents for a number of staple articles, and the only things that we handle which are manufactured in New York are fans. Take white knitting cotton, which is a small thing comparatively; 99-100ths of it is manufactured in New England, where the spinning, balling and coloring is all done. Cardigan jackets (worsted) are made in Rhode Island; hammocks and cotton yarns in Middletown, Conn., where the spinning, weaving, dyeing, finishing and making is done mostly by girls; ladies' crinoline lining is manufactured in Williamsburgh and Staten Island, not a yard of it in New York; mosquito nettings are spun, woven and made up at Middletown, Conn.; the woolen undershirt and drawer industry is largely confined to Amsterdam and Cohoes, N. Y.; stockings to Germantown and Philadelphia, Pa.; silk to Paterson; print cloths to Lowell, Mass., and partly to North Adams, Mass.; the shoe industry to Lee, Mass., though it has distributed itself all over; shirts and collars to Troy and Albany; corset-laces and shoe-laces, from the coarsest stuff to the finest silk, to Connecticut and Rhode Island, and so on with a host of other articles. Most of these things have never been manufactured here, and I doubt if we could now bring them here, except, possibly, with an immense capital and a remarkable organization. Whether rapid transit would bring back to us any lost industries I doubt, for manufacturers who have a large sum of money in their plant will not leave except for one of two reasons—either that they are running at a loss, or that the greater facilities and the larger profits which they would obtain by a change would very much more than compensate for the change. Whether cheaper or dearer rents would follow in the wake of rapid transit, or whether factories could be started in the northern extremes of New York and cheap rents be obtained by the working people in that neighborhood, I have no means of ascertaining."

A CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEMBER SPEAKS.

A member of the Chamber of Commerce, who did not want his name published, was called upon. He said: "The reason why, in my opinion, many factories have been driven away from New York City is because of the strikes. The unions exercise a tyranny over men and masters alike which is opposed to the spirit of our institutions. It is nothing more nor less than conspiracy, and the courts ought to take cognizance of it as such. The people hurt themselves most by it, if they only knew it. It is not to their interest to strike and drive away their own bread and butter. I wouldn't allow anyone or any organization to dictate to me what I should do with what was my own. And my arm-work and brain-work are my own. Where is the use of individual liberty if I am to be at the call of an organization which forces me to do what I don't want to do. No, sir, I think strikes, and not bad transit facilities, have driven many of our factories away. I don't know to what extent quicker rapid transit would help to bring those factories back, for I have an idea that the working classes do not want to get to the country. I believe they would rather be on the east side or on the west side in cheap tenements, where they will be near their work and near their friends, and where they can take a walk along the avenues in the evenings, as you see them do every night on 2d, 3d, 6th, 8th and 9th avenues."

IMPORTANT TALK WITH TAX COMMISSIONER COLEMAN.

M. Coleman, President of the Tax Commission, said: "The want of proper rapid transit facilities is such an old story and such an old grievance that I am heartily sick of talking about it. We have driven thousands of our best citizens away to New Jersey, Long Island and elsewhere, because they have been unable to stand it any longer. When I speak of our best citizens, I refer to the class of people whom we most want, and who are the most valuable to every city and its good government—those who do not belong to politics and who judge without bias the actions of our city and state government and legislation. I mean the great middle class—not the very rich, who do not care, as a rule, what kind of government we have, or the very poor, who do not generally do their own thinking. The people I refer to are that large class of educated citizens who belong to the higher classes of labor—people who will not live in tenements and second-rate flats, and who want to live comfortably and with some ease. Hundreds of towns and settlements in New Jersey and Long Island have been built up by this very class of citizens—people who left New York with deep regret, who would rather have stayed here, but who were forced away. There are people who will not have their children go to school and stand the danger and annoyance of a crush on an east side or a west side train during the morning and afternoon hours. There are people who have grown sick and tired of standing up for a half an hour or more in an elevated road train, to be pushed about, crushed, trodden upon and shaken from one side of the car to the other every time the train turned or jolted. The great mass of citizens have stood this sort of thing because they were forced to, but a large proportion have gone away from it, and we have lost these people for ever. They are the people who are industrious and saving, and who try to own their home, which many of them now do in New Jersey and Long Island. They would like to live in New York where their friends are, where all the places of amusement are, but they much prefer the comfort of living away from crowded trains and long journeys, for they can get as quickly twenty to thirty miles out of New York City as they can get to some points in Harlem. I have been here for many years, and I have had more opportunities of meeting the taxpayers of New York City probably than any other man in the city's service, and meeting, as I do, from 25,000 to 30,000 taxpayers every year, I am disheartened to think what a large number annually leave for neighboring places, some of them going as far as Connecticut. 'Well, Mr. Coleman,' they say, 'this is the last time you are going to tax us, we're going to live in ——,' mentioning some suburban place. They can get there without standing in elevated cars, and within easy time, and they can live at considerably less rent. They can also buy their own home on easy terms, and for a few thousand dollars, which they can't do in New York. If we had proper rapid transit a very large proportion of these people would stay with us. They would go to the 23d and 24th Wards, where there is lots of room, if they could only get there quickly enough. But they can't. To what extent our industries have been driven away from New York by bad transit I do not know, but that thousands of families live outside from causes directly and indirectly traceable to inadequate rapid transit facilities I am absolutely certain. And the people who are being driven away are the very class of people whom we are desirous of retaining. Whether the city should own the elevated road I am not prepared to say. If they did, it should be a substantial structure, a viaduct, or something lasting. There is plenty of money ready to be put into a good scheme if there is any assurance that it can be carried out. It should not be made a matter of politics. I wish every newspaper, everybody who has any influence with the public, will keep up the agitation in favor of better rapid transit for New York than we now have. Personally, I am disgusted with the present state of affairs, and am sick of talking about it."

WILLIAM STEINWAY SEEN.

Steinway & Sons are one of the manufacturers who left New York City to establish works on Long Island. It may be of interest, therefore, to hear what Mr. Steinway says. "We did not leave the city on account of inadequate rapid transit," said he, "for in 1872, when we established our sawmill and foundry at Steinway, L. I., the rapid transit difficulty did not exist. At that time we were in the hands of the Philistines. Strikes bothered us, and we also wanted to get our men away from the anarchists and socialists who were filling their minds with a lot of nonsense. Strikes were then far more formidable than they are at present. Now there is a conservative element among the workers, and many married men, who are always more conservative than those who are single and have no family dependent on them. We have about 600 workmen at Steinway, L. I., of whom about fifty, I should say, own their homes. They live near their work, and go home to dinner daily, which they can rarely do in the city. Bad rapid transit in New York makes it impossible for most workmen to be with their children except on Sunday. It is undoubtedly a hardship to leave early in the morning when the children are in bed and to return in the evening when they are asleep. This is the difficulty of living in the city a long distance from work. The elevated roads have done a good deal for New York, but we have grown beyond them. If people could get quickly to business it would help to keep them in the city, but the peculiar shape of the Island makes long journeys inevitable. We certainly require better and more comfortable transit."

Assembly Bill No. 880 and the Upper Wards.

The proposed creation of a "Commissioner of Improvement" of the 23d and 24th Wards to look after the special interests of that district of the city necessitated the bill known as No. 880 in the Assembly and No. 303 in the Senate, which has just made its appearance at Albany. As a new member, in some ways extraordinary, was to be added to the Board of Street Opening and Improvement, it became necessary to amend the functions of the Board, which this bill attempts by providing, among other things, that:

Said Board shall have all powers and authority as to laying out, opening, widenining, straightening, extending, altering and closing streets, roads, avenues, boulevards, parks, parkways and public places in all parts of said city, and plans for sewerage and drainage in the 23d and 24th Wards, and as to fixing and establishing the grades of such streets, roads, avenues, boulevards and public places as said Board now has as to any street in said city south or west of Spuyten Duyvil Creek and Harlem River, but with reference to the 23d and 24th Wards in said city no alterations or change is to be made in the general map or plans of said wards as now certified and filed, or plans for the sewerage and drainage thereof, unless the Commissioner of Street Improvement of the 23d and 25th Wards shall from time to time and within the time limited by section 957 of this act as amended submit to said Board such suggestions as to changes in the location with course, windings, lines, dimensions, grades and class of any street, avenue, road, boulevard, public square or place now laid out in the 23d or 24th Wards of said city, the title to which shall not have been acquired by the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonality of the City of New York for the purpose of a public street, avenue, road, boulevard, public square or place, or any part of the same, or which has been acquired for public use pursuant to any special law or laws of this State or as to the change of any established plan or plans for the sewerage and drainage of said wards, excepting in such streets, avenues, or other places in which a permanent sewer or drain shall have already been constructed in pursuance of any such plan, and when said proposed changes and alterations shall be approved by said Board of Street Opening and Improvement and laid before the Board of Aldermen as hereinafter prescribed, the said amended plans and changes shall be final and conclusive and be certified and filed in the manner described by section 672 of this act and have the same force and effect as is in section 674 of this act provided. * * * And nothing in this section contained shall apply to or effect or be construed as giving the Board of Street Opening and Improvement any power or authority in connection with the proceedings for taking lands for the new parks and parkways authorized by chapter 522 of the laws of 1884, entitled "An act laying out public places and parks and parkways in the 23d and 24th Wards and in the adjacent district in Westchester County, and authorizing the taking of lands for the same."

Unquestionably some steps should be taken to properly meet the necessities of the new wards. The lack of needed street sewers, etc., has retarded their growth to no inconsiderable degree, and it can well be imagined that had efforts been made to improve this section somewhat in advance of actual requirements population there would be much larger than it is, despite the drawback of inadequate rapid transit. The Park Department and the city authorities disapprove, we understand, of the method adopted to mend matters. They do not favor the creation of a special official elected instead of appointed. This week Mr. Burns appeared before the Senate Committne of Cities to oppose bill No. 303. He said: "I appear as the representative of the Department of Parks to state to the committee that after consideration on this bill it has been unanimously disapproved by the commissioners of that department, primarily for the reason that it contains so many changes and amendments to the consolidation act, and the various laws amendatory of that act, as well as other existing laws, that a thorough and careful examination and comparison is necessary in order that a proper understanding of the proposed law can be arrived at. In view of the fact that any legislation on this subject should be full and comprehensive and not of a character to require constant amendment, it is respectfully urged that the city authorities, especially the Counsel to the Corporation, as well as the property-owners of the district, should have the fullest opportunity to decide upon the merits of the bill and as to whether it is a proper remedy for the faults that are claimed in the existing law. It is a measure very far-reaching and seriously affects both public and private interests; the city authorities do not ask for its passage and the Park is opposed to it, and so far as I can ascertain the people of the district regard the bill with entire indifference. The bill is a companion to that now pending in the Assembly providing for a single commissioner and is, of course, useless should that bill fail to become a law. In case that bill should pass we are well aware that ordinary political methods are likely to prevail in the election of any such commissioner, and as under that bill he is clothed with extraordinary powers, it is suggested that it might be well to know who the commissioner is to be before still further enlarging his autocratic powers. The Park Board thinks that many of the powers should not be vested in such a commissioner, as he is by the bill authorized to delegate all these powers and duties for a term of three months to a deputy of his own selection, neither elected by the people nor appointed by the Mayor, a deputy who will be responsible only to the commissioner who appointed him. The Board asks that the bill do not pass, and that the question be fully considered anew next year.

The Real Estate Exchange should give careful attention to these measures, for one way or another the interests of the upper wards are concerned therein.

A Site for the Ninth Regiment Armory.

At the last meeting of the Sinking Fund Commissioners, it was decided to purchase as a site for a new armory building for the Ninth Regiment the land where the old armory of the Twenty-second stands on 14th street, with two lots adjoining. Comptroller Myers objected to the purchase of the lots, saying that the "most extravagant plot in New York" had been selected. After much discussion it was decided to instruct the Corporation Counsel to commence condemnation proceedings to secure the two lots.

Real Estate Notes.

The Hotel Endicott, on the northwest corner of 9th avenue and 81st street is nearing completion. There are fifty suites of apartments of from three to nine rooms each, and the rentals will run from $540 to $1,500 each. Charles A. Fuller is the owner and builder. The building cost $350,000 to erect, according to the plans. The lots, 102.2x134, were sold by the Roberts estate at $95,000.

The work of paving the Boulevard, so long delayed, has been commenced at last. Workmen are engaged at 79th street on this much needed improvement.

We are informed that carriages pass the corner of West End avenue and 72d street at the rate of four per minute every fine afternoon. The same authority places the number which pass 5th avenue and 72d street at four every twenty-five minutes.

The passing of title to the flats Nos. 965 and 967 Park avenue, near 82d street, discloses how heavily some apartment houses are mortgaged. In the matter referred to, the mortgages aggregate $102,500 against the consideration of $109,000, showing an equity of only $6,500.

An extra large lot, viz., 29.2x125, has just changed hands at $85,000. The buyer, Chester W. Chapin, will likely erect a handsome residence on this corner. There has been quite a few private dwellings commenced recently on this avenue.

The high figures realized at auction last week for No. 1124 Broadway and 204 5th avenue, containing over 2,775 square feet, has created much talk among the brokers. The property is rented until 1895 at $12,500 per annum, and was sold at $320,542. The corner of 26th street, containing over 8,400 square feet, belonging to the Montgomery estate, was last year rented to Delmonico at $62,500 per annum for eight years from May, 1891, the owner paying taxes, etc.

There seems to be no let up in the number of costly office buildings to be built down town. Within ten days plans have been filed for three to cost $725,000, as follows: One at 57 and 59 William street, to cost $125,000; another at 45 to 49 Cedar street, to cost $300,000, and a third at Nos. 2 to 6 South William street, at a cost of $300,000. The owners of the latter are the Delmonicos. Architects, H. J. Hardenbergh, C. W. Clinton and J. B. Lord, designed the foregoing buildings in the order given.

The dwelling No. 50 West 72d street, size 25x100, has just changed hands at $95,000. This is about the highest figure yet realized for a dwelling west of the Park. The buyer is Ignatz Boskowitz.

Notice is given that the bills of costs in the matter of acquiring title to that part of Melrose avenue, extending from 3d avenue to East 163d street, and of opening of 120th street, from 10th avenue to New avenue, will be presented for taxation to one of the Justices of the Supreme Court on May 2, 1890.

A well-known broker on the west side tells us that he has sold for a certain builder eleven private dwellings at about $25,000 each, and that he has resold, at a profit of $2,000 for the purchaser, five of the houses before even the foundation stones have been laid.

Payments to be made to the Collector of Assessments and Clerk of Arrears, between 9 A. M. and 2 P. M.

The City's New School-houses.

A few weeks ago we gave a partial list and description of the new public school buildings with which the city was supplying the various wards and drew attention to the modern thought and worthy endeavor put into the effort to make these buildings all that they should or could be made under existing circumstances. It is unnecessary at this time to go further into the details of arrangement and appointments. Suffice it to say that in these respects they are as far from being "godless schools" as they well can be, and that their construction has been carried on upon those principles of humanity which do not obtain among the heathen. The following list will show the location and condition of new schools now building, such as will shortly be begun, and the alterations to be made in such property as has been acquired by the city for temporary use, together with the date of completion.

Real Estate Exchange Matters.

The Legislative Committee held its regular meeting on Tuesday afternoon. Among those present were C. A. Andrews, who occupied the chair, Richard V. Harnett, A. E. Marling, W. M. Ryan, A. J. Robinson, E. A. Cruikshank, B. F. Romaine, Jr., H. Wilson, F. R. Houghton and J. E. Leviness. Mr Marling acted as secretary.

After some routine business Mr. Harnett reported that the Rapid Transit Committee had been unable to hold a meeting for lack of a quorum, and he suggested the election, as a member of the committee, of Wm. H. Folsom in place of Mr. Lespinasse, resigned. Mr. Folsom was duly elected, and Mr. Harnett then read a letter from the Hon. Everett P. Wheeler asking leave to address the committee at its next meeting on cable roads. The committee invited Mr. Wheeler to address them at a special meeting to be held at 3.30 P. M. on Friday.

The Sub-Committee on Taxation and Assessment then submitted their reports adopted at their meeting last Friday, and already noticed in THE RECORD AND GUIDE.

It was ordered that a protest be sent to the Speaker of the Assembly urging the defeat of the corrupt Aqueduct Arbitration act.

The committee then adjourned to Friday at 3.30 P. M.

Everett P. Wheeler appeared before the Legislative Committee yesterday and made a speech on behalf of the New York Cable Railway Company. The speaker said that the company he represented had the advantage over all others in that they were well organized and had taken all preliminary steps for the building of the road. He stated that the bill required the company to pay to the city 5 per cent. of its gross receipts, which, he said, was equivalent to 10 per cent. of the net income. In addition to this, the articles of the company required the giving of transfer tickets free of charge, and this saving was most important to those whose earnings were small. The evidence taken before the Supreme Court Commission, the speaker said, showed that there were in the City of New York about 125,000 working women, and that the pay of a large proportion of that number did not exceed five dollars a week. This statement was made to show the value of free transfers. The routes which the company seeks are from the Battery up West street to 10th avenue, up 10th avenue to 190th street and Fort George, and from the City Hall through Elm and Crosby streets, Irving place and Lexington avenue, to the Harlem River. While the speaker was talking word was received from Albany that the Cable Road bill which passed the Assembly on Thursday, and which he asked the Exchange to indorse, had been killed in the Senate.

An Important Suburban Sale.

Another parcel has just been sold on the historic ground known as "Valentine Hill," Dunwoodie, Yonkers, near the New York City boundary. The plot comprises about 450 lots, and was sold to Theo. W. Myers, Comptroller of the City of New York, by N. B. Valentine, Geo. S. Lespinasse acting as broker. The parcel adjoins the property on which the new Catholic Seminary is to be erected, and is also adjacent to ground owned by James Gordon Bennett, proprietor of the Herald. It is the intention of the Comptroller to improve the property, which is on very high ground, by the erection of ornate villas.

During the week the seat of the late John Jacob Astor was transferred to Wm. Waldorf Astor.

An Important Grand Street Sale.

The small parcel of ground with the old three-story frame building thereon, at No. 263 Grand street, south side, west of Forsyth street, which was sold a few days ago to Abraham Wolff, of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., is an example of the extraordinary figures recently paid for Grand street property. Although an inside lot, and but 25x80 in size, it brought $100,000. This is at the rate of $50 per square foot.

Other recent sales of Grand street property, east of the Bowery, were at almost equally high figures. No. 301, between Forsyth and Allen streets, solda few weeks ago for $80,000. It is 21.6x75 in size, and therefore brought about $49.61 per square foot. No. 271, on the southeast corner of Forsyth street, 20x62, with a three-story brick building on it, was sold by Samuel Cohn, the shoe dealer, to Lewis S. Wolff, of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., in December, 1889, for $112,500, which is equal to $91 per square foot. It was leased to the seller by the buyer for ten years, from December, 1889, at $7,875 per annum. No. 288, on the northwest corner of Eldridge street, 25x87.6, with five and six-story buildings thereon, recently sold for $80,000. The price per square foot in this case was about $36, but it must be remembered that it was on the north side, which is not as valuable for business purposes as the south side, which has the largest number of passers-by.

From inquiries lately made among Grand street storekeepers it appears that there is considerable complaint about the high rents demanded. This has driven many storekeepers away, especially the smaller men, who are being hard pushed through the competition they are subjected to in prices, due to the warfare between such large firms as Ridley's and Lichtenstein's. Whether these high rents will continue remains to be seen. It is equally doubtful whether present values will be maintained.

R. M. Walters, the well-known piano manufacturer, of University place, is the vice-president of the Piano and Organ Manufacturers' Association of the United States. He responded to the toast, "The Ladies," at their dinner last Thursday evening at the Hotel Brunswick. It was a great success. Among the other speakers were John Steinway, ex-President Grover Cleveland, Carl Schurz, Mayor Grant, General O'Beirne and Colonel Fellows. Much of the credit for the excellent management of the dinner is due to Mr. Walters, who was chairman of the Reception Committee, and who is one of our most successful and public-spirited piano manufacturers.

An Architect Talks.

A few days ago a reporter of THE RECORD AND GUIDE dropped in to see an architect relative to some designs of buildings for which he was drawing sketches. On a board, in a corner of the room, he noticed an elevation of a house, which will be a handsome piece of domestic architecture when completed. In a talk about it the architect became communicative, and said:

"That colored drawing represents a house for which there was a competition among several architects to draw the plans. Now it is customary, as you know, in competition for large buildings, where the fees are likely to be considerable, for architects to enter competitions and take their chances of being selected. They go to the expense of preparing elaborate drawings, and sometimes perspectives, in the hope of gaining work. I have known an architect to spend over $700 in the time of his draughtsmen, and the work of an artist in drawing a colored perspective, in the hope of getting a job. This house which you see before you was competed for without any man receiving a cent in compensation. They had heard that the owner was going to build, and they rushed in to offer their services. The owner was willing to see what they could do for him on these terms, with the result that not a single plan satisfied him, and the architects had their time and expense for nothing. The owner came recommended to me, and I stipulated that I would draw the plans for the regular fee, and if my plans suited him I was to have the full charge and superintendence of the job, receiving 5 per cent. on the cost, as is usual in such a case. I was fortunate enough to suit him and get the job. But what I would like to point out to my fellow-architects is this—whether they are not lowering their profession, not to speak of the loss they sustain—in doing work for anyone who may come along, on a chance of getting a job. I know that many architects refuse to do this; but look over the list of men who have gone unpaid into competitions during the past few years, and what an amazing array of respectability, intermingled with mediocrity, you would find."

"You don't seem to have a very high opinion of the members of your own profession generally," ventured the writer.

"I think that there are men among us who ought not to be there," was the reply. "There ought to be an examination in this country, as well as there is in European countries, before a man could be admitted to our profession. Any petty draughtsman, who has had an experience of a year or two in drawing lines, can in New York hang out his shingle and call himself an 'architect.' I know a boy who is scarcely of age, whose plans appear in the Building Department, with his name entered on them as the architect, the work having been for a building speculator. Should this sort of thing be allowed? We have long since passed the days of two-story brick houses, when any carpenter or builder could draw and carry out the regulation plan. A man in these days of advancement in architecture should be thoroughly competent. It cannot justly be called a profession when men have not passed a degree to entitle them to be recognized as competent. I think that a Board of Examining Architects should be created by the City or State, and that no man should be allowed to practice architecture until he has passed an examination fitting him to be called an architect. The interests of the people who build demand it, as well as the safety of our large populations. Many a house has burned up quickly, many a building has fallen, through the 'architect' being an incapable draughtsman or superintendent."

More About Spring Rents.

Following up our interviews, published recently, with many of the prominent real estate agents and brokers in different parts of the city, we give below a few talks with others. There seems to be a general unanimity in every section, all the agents seeming to agree on the point that rents will this spring generally be the same as last year.

E. A. Cruikshank & Co. said: "We find that our down-town, as well as up-town properties, are being rented at the same figures as last year. There will be very few changes in tenancies, and the only advances made are on expiring leases made two or three years ago."

Fred'k Southack said: "Rents in business buildings south of Duane street are being renewed generally at the same prices as last year. There will be fewer changes this season than there were last. Few large leases have expired, and it is therefore impossible to judge how they would have renewed, though I think they would have shown up well. Office leases are a shade better. Renting has lagged in some cases, which cannot be said of selling, which has been good at stiff figures, especially on the line of Broadway, between Bleecker street and Waverley place."

Tichborne & Melrose: "Renting this year is pretty fair at the prices prevailing last year. People seem to think that prices should have fallen this year; but they have not done so, and there are no indications that rents will decrease."

John B. Hibbard: "There is nothing very new this year in renting, either as to the class of houses or the amount of the rent. We have few vacancies in any line and no stores to let. Most of the old tenants are renewing at last year's terms."

Crombie & McKean: "All leases of stores of which we have charge, have been taken for another year or more at the same rentals as prevailed on their previous leases. We find it hard to rent large corner stores, but otherwise things look pretty good. There are very few flats to rent, all of them having gone on satisfactory terms."

Porter & Co: "Renting is or rather has been very good at the same or better prices than last year. There is a considerable increase in Harlem's population, and the new-comers are swelling the demand. Old tenants seem to stay on at the old terms, and so far there does not seem to me much inclination to change."

McMonegal & Eckerson: "Flats are renting perhaps a shade lower than last year, although in private houses there is an increase of at least 10 per cent. The stores, too, are booming. Take for instance one situated on 9th avenue, between 94th and 95th streets, last year the rent of that store was $50; this year we have leased it for three years at rentals of $60, $70 and $80 per annum. We find that there are a great number of new-comers from the east side and the forties, and these people are filling up the flats."

Plummer & Wilson: "Renting is not as good as it might be. Very desirable apartments or those near the elevated stations are renting a little higher than last year, but the others go on the same terms. Stores rent slowly. There are a great many new people from down town, and of course this will have its effect."

Swartwout & Co.: "Renting is fair, although it is a little early to judge the market yet. Most of our old properties have been put on the books at last year's terms. It looks as though there would be a good deal of changing. Stores will be taken again by the old lessees at about the same rents. Very few changes are to be noted in that line."

L. H. Hallen: "Renting is slow. There does not appear to be very much changing, and what there is is at last year's prices."

Beverly Ward: "A case that illustrates renting conditions about as well as any is that of a small house on 125th street, which was leased to a man last season for a term of ten years at a rental of $900 per annum. This house has been sub-leased for four years at $1,100 a year. There are great many inquiries for low-priced houses, but very few of them to be had.

Albert Everitt: "Renting is very good, although prices are a little high and decidedly stiff. Stores don't go very well, and what makes it harder to rent them is the fact that some of them are only to be had at increased rentals. For instance, there is a store on 9th avenue, near 96th street. Last year it rented for $1,200, this year the owner raised it to $1,500, and the tenant moved out. That store will probably remain empty all year."

S. F. Jayne & Co.: "Rents between 14th and 42d streets, 5th and 10th avenues, are about the same as last year, and there are unusually few removals."

Ferdinand Fish said: "There have been numerous changes this spring and vacancies have been filled almost as soon as they occurred. Rents are held well at last year's figures, while the older class of office buildings have done better than was anticipated."

Another exterior street on the East River is contemplated. This time it is between 49th and 53d streets. It will not be a costly affair and for that reason may be carried out more quickly than the exterior street decided upon between 64th and 86th streets. The plan has been presented by the Dock Board and considered by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund. For the present it has been "laid over."

Answers to Correspondents.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

Suppose two pieces of equal value, one encumbered by a mortgage for $5,000, to run for three years, and the other encumbered by a mortgage for $5,000, payable $500 at end of each year for three years and $3,500 at end of six years. If I decide to take a second mortgage, to run for seven years, on one piece or the other, which shall I choose and why? SEPAM.

[We should prefer to loan on the parcel on which the mortgage had three years to run, rather than on the one payable in yearly instalments of $500 per year for three years (if the payment of the instalments is obligatory) and the balance in six years; the reason being that as long as the interest is paid the mortgage could not be foreclosed, whereas on the other not only the interest must be met, but $500 additional paid during each of the first three years. In case the $500 was not paid, the second mortgagee would have to pay it and take the property or perhaps lose his money.]

How About the Block Indexing Law.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

DEAR SIR—As a suggestion permit me to state that if the simplification of titles and land transfers were only thoroughly canvassed and settled on by the Real Estate Exchange, it would be a vast help to the buying and selling of property. It seems to be useless to ask lawyers to simplify these matters, too much of their livelihood depends on the excessive charges now made, and the necessity of always consulting them when business is consummated, they will, it seems to me, never point out the easy way, perhaps, with minds accustomed to tortuous ways and devices, they cannot see beyond a labyrinth, which to them is life; but there is not a convention of real estate men or builders who cannot, from past experience, build from that experience a safe, sure, speedy and economical plan for land transfer. It may be radical, perhaps must be, but it means an activity in real estate that no one can premise beforehand, but an activity far in advance of our present lethargy of treatment and of business; it might make a smaller demand for legal services, but that would not be considered a crushing evil.

A Question About Leases.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

Where a lease is made for a term of years from A to B and not recorded, A sells to C, and C to D, then B records his lease.

Can D sue and recover rent for the unexpired term of said lease if B vacates May 1st, the lease not being recorded when C or D took title?

Please answer in your next issue. REAL ESTATE.

[Unless the lease was for more than three years, there was no necessity to record it at all. If, however, the lessee was in possession of the property under the lease, then his possession was notice of his title. The term for which the lease was to run is not stated; nor is it mentioned whether the lessee was in possession. But we think that the question of record, or of possession, is not controlling in this case. We assume that the lease was in writing, and complied with the law in the manner of its execution. Nothing to the contrary is stated. The recording act is intended to protect purchasers in good faith, and without notice of outstanding titles, or terms or interests not recorded; but it does not avoid or invalidate a lease that has not been recorded in favor of a purchaser of the property who has had notice of the lease before the delivery of the deed; and there is nothing in it which gives to a lessee the power to avoid or invalidate his own covenant to pay rent by himself neglecting to take advantage of a protection in a record of his lease which the law offers him for his protection. On the facts stated in this case, we think the lessee must pay the rent provided by the lease.]

"PATRON."—Your question will be answered next week.

The contract for grading Van Courtlandt Park and building a rifle-range has been awarded to Robt. Hanna for $76,091.

The striving after sensational news, which is seen at its worst in the contemptible spying of Reporter Choate has another side, which, though less reprehensible, is probably about equally as useful. This side is the continual endeavor to find some iniquity to expose. The World has gone systematically into the exposing business. Miss Nellie Bly had for a time charge of this department, but of late it has been extended to embrace a wider field of phenomena, and a more extensive stretch of territory. The World is at present keeping its eagle eye over every State in the Union, and over all sorts and conditions of iniquity. The Georgia convicts, the Louisiana Lottery and the great Matthew Quay have of late all of them been shown to the world—the World's world—in portraiture which was scarcely flattering, but Mr. Quay still flourishes, the Louisiana Lottery—a pretty tough plant—has not been blighted by the exposure, and as yet the condition of the Georgia convicts remains unameliorated. The fact of the matter is that the Louisiana Lottery has probably been helped by the advertisement rather than hurt by the invective, for gamblers are nothing if not fools. It has been shown time and time again that what they consider to be games of chance are in reality games of sure loss, and consequently publicity given to any gambling scheme, even when it is united with pages of anathema and columns of undeniable statistics, serves rather to increase than to diminish its popular support. I have no doubt for my part that the managers of the Casino at Monte Carlo are very much obliged to the well-meaning gentlemen who continually expose its foolishness and wickedness, particularly as they invariably annex to their story a description of the natural and artificial charms of the Riviera. But to return to the World. Logicians tell us that it is an argumentum ad hominem to reply to a criticism by an attack on the personal character of the man. Doubtless it is if you wish to disprove the criticism. That, however, is not my purpose. The World is perfectly right in frowning on gambling, but I would venture to suggest that these guessing matches which the World originated, and which have become so popular in town and country alike, are as essentially, though perhaps more innocently and less expensively, gambling schemes as is the Louisiana Lottery. Every silly fool who wasted two cents a day in sending in a guess on the return of Nellie Bly was as much in his way a gambler as the bediamoned gentlemen who throng at the race tracks. He was risking his mite with far less chance of getting any return for it than the fool who drops his ten dollar bill on a number at the roulette wheel. The World, be it added, plays the part of the bank, and is sure to win as the victims are sure to lose.

Real Estate Department.

The auctioneers have been fairly busy during the week, but unfortunately many of the parcels put up were bid in for owners' account. The feature of the week at private contract was the sale by William Waldorf Astor, of parcels aggregating about $1,000,000. Some of these sales will be found reported in another column. The market generally may be said to be dull, notwithstanding the fact that some good sales are reported. Business property is firmly held at high figures, but residence property is slow of sale.

The slow way in which rapid transit legislation is dragging along has had and is having a very bad effect on real estate values. Reports come to us from all parts of the city, complaining that people refuse to rent or invest in the residence parts of New York City, because of the delay and discomfort they experience in reaching their homes.

Monday was a very poor day on 'Change, both as regards the business transacted and the attendance. A four-story dwelling on 74th street, west of Madison avenue, sold to the plaintiff in a foreclosure suit for $30,000. A lot on 92d street, east of 5th avenue, sold under similar circumstances for $15,000, but the buyer failed to deposit 10 per cent. of the purchase money and the lot was resold to Randolph Guggenheimer for $14,100. Lots on each side of this property were withdrawn. In the way of 3d avenue sales, two five-story buildings, Nos. 1646 and 1648, near 92d street, each 18.9x100 feet, brought $31,000.

On Tuesday there was a large crowd on 'Change, attracted doubtless by the down-town property to be sold. Much of the property, however, was bid in for the owners' account, and in this respect the sales were very unsatisfactory.

Among the sales was that of the estate of Edward J. Burke, by order of the executrix, Mrs. Martin B. Brown. This estate was sold last June under partition, and the parcels put up yesterday were some of those bid in at that sale by the executrix. Nos. 3 and 5 Washington street was knocked down at the sale already referred to for $35,000. The first bid on Tuesday was $25,000, and it was finally sold for $42,500, to Samuel Sloan, president of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Road. Mr. Sloan also purchased No. 57 Washington street for $13,500; this building was bid in last June for $10,000. No. 29 Washington street started at $18,000 and sold for $21,000. No. 38 Greenwich street was bid in last June for $35,500; it was bid in on Tuesday for $39,500. The southeast corner of Park avenue and 60th street, a four-story dwelling, 20x50x100, was started at $19,000, and sold for $30,500 to Louis Adler. Adler & Hermann purchased a five-story tenement on 3d avenue, north of 90th street, for $33,100. A sale, by order of the heir of Wm. Fanning, resulted in the purchase by Mrs. Howard Carroll, one of the heirs, of a four-story dwelling, 22x100.5, on 39th street, No. 37 West, for $43,000. Last August No. 29, a similar dwelling, 25x98.9, in the same block, was transferred at $52,500. On the corner of 144th street and the Hudson River Railroad, fifteen lots sold at from $1,300 and $1,350 each.

On Wednesday there was a large attendance on 'Change. An executor's sale to close the estate of Wm. Quackenbush attracted considerable attention. It consisted of Nos. 702 and 704 Washington street, northwest corner of Perry street, which was sold to Goodwillie Bros. for $31,600. No. 125 East 23d street, a four-story dwelling, sold by order of the executors of Calvin Burr, was purchased for a client by J. Jay Smith for $35,000. On West 23d street (No. 242), between 7th and 8th avenues, a three-story house sold, by order of the Supreme Court in a partition suit, for $20,750 to T. G. Rigney. The northwest corner of Madison avenue and 31st street was started at $55,000 and sold to H. B. Shepard for $62,000. Last year a similar dwelling on the southwest corner of Madison avenue and 32d street was transferred at $56,000. A five-story flat on 42d street (No. 342 East) was sold to F. W. Powell for $33,000. A similar flat on the same block sold last November for $32,750. The 13,246 acres of North Carolina timber lands were started at $25,000 and withdrawn at $34,500.

Thursday's sales included almost all kinds of property. Three parcels in the business portion of the city represented down town. Farther up there were some dwellings, and in the upper part of the city there was both improved and unimproved property. Brooklyn property, put up in four different sales, embracing a great number of improved and unimproved parcels, were also offered. It was interesting to note in this connection, that while the auctioneers were struggling with upper New York property, where a lack of rapid transit is killing real estate, Brooklyn property was bid on in a way that betokened great confidence and hopefulness on the part of the bidders. The four-story brick building, on the northwest corner of Leonard and Elm streets, was started at $25,000, $1,000 over the amount of mortgages on it, and sold for $32,400 to Alex. Brown, Jr. It is 25x45 feet in size. In June, 1885, a plot, 20x60x18.6x60 feet, on the opposite (southwest) corner sold for $40,000. By order of the Supreme Court, in partition, No. 217 Mott street was sold, for $25,500, and No. 54 Thompson street, for $10,150. To close the estate of Stephen Storm, No. 21 West 24th street was sold to Speculator Ascher Weinstein for $36,000. Newman Cowen purchased a lot on 5th avenue, between 115th and 116th streets, for $9,000, and John A. King purchased an unfinished four-story dwelling on 82d street, west of 9th avenue, for $17,250. BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

[For prices see pages XI., XII., XIII. and XV.]

BRICKS.—It has not been a first-rate week on the general market for Common Hards, and most of the advantages have remained with the buyers. Liberal supplies, unattractive quality and only a fair demand cover in brief about the dominant influences against which receivers have not as yet been enabled to introduce any positive balancing factor, and as we write the current tone remains unsettled. One universal basis of complaint has been found in the large number of mixed and undesirable parcels, some of the cargoes containing a miserable lot of riff-raff that not only affords the buyer ample grounds for complaint and to put in claims for liberal terms, but is quite disagreeable to the seller who has to conduct negotiations in the effort to sell goods. It is usual to expect a poor run of quality in the spring when the yards of manufacturers are being cleaned out and set in order for the new season, but there seems to be an idea that at present the proportion is a little above the average. It is difficult to quote the value of bulk of supply, as each lot of stock has to have a price fixed by its own merit, but about $6.00 is the rate made on a great deal of the washed brick and inferior stuff proportionately lower. On the other hand really desirable goods grade upward according to quality until $7.25 and possibly $7.37½ are reached, and on this portion of the offering there is a very fair degree of steadiness and reasonably prompt sale, though not the exceptional demand or firmness that might be expected, for while buyers grumble over the poor average quality and use it for all it may be worth to hammer the market, they take the best brick only as a matter of necessity, and "manage" to get along with the poorer grades whenever they can secure a big allowance and cost. Some Pales have sold as low as $2.75, but $3.00@$3.50 the general range and the outlet unsatisfactory. Work has been going along finely at points of production favored by generally excellent weather, and there is a prospect that new brick will be available in two or three weeks to a moderate extent.

CEMENT.—After a fair trial, the spring trade in domestic cements does not appear to be turning out in altogether satisfactory form, and we hear considerable complaint. A fair quantity of stock is being delivered on the contracts perfected during the winter, but fresh demand seems to be halting somewhat and unwilling to invest beyond immediate well determined requirements. Under the circumstances production is not urged, and the effect upon values is slightly depressing so far as the general run of stock is concerned, though a few special brands keep up a pretty full figure. Foreign grades are somewhat irregular, a portion of the supply of unknown brands, and some that has not stood the test of ordinary trial with full credit, showing more or less weakness, but all standard grades remaining quite steady and meeting with fair demand where there may be any left over after completing orders. About all the accumulation that was held here on canal boats is also understood to have started forward to interior points where a place is ready in waiting. Should the predicted labor demonstrations lead to trouble in Europe the position of the market for cement will become greatly strengthened.

GLASS.—A good healthy market, without anything brilliant or unusual was the substance of reports obtained from dealers in imported window glass. Consumption has possibly gained a little this month, but it was met without difficulty, as the accumulation though lacking in liberal proportions is full enough to meet any ordinary call and receives fair additions from current arrivals. For domestic the present demand is rather slow and careful, as buyers stocked up with some freedom a short time ago, and can now stand off. Manufacturers, however, must maintain a full production to meet their contracts, and the general market is in good form. Prices are well sustained all around at the late revision. For Plate Glass the demand is reported as full and steady with no accumulation of stock taking place in manufacturers' hands. Indeed, many makers are said to be a long way behind with their orders, and so prosperous does the business look that improvements and additions are contemplated which will increase the annual output from about 9,500,000 square feet as it now stands to some 15,500,000 square feet, and some of the trade think even that will not be sufficient.

LATH.—It has been a pretty steady market, with scarcely a fluctuation on value from the previous general range, and few really new features developed worthy of extended comment. Arrivals have been rather smaller if anything, and demand seemed to make corresponding shrinkage so that the balance was very well preserved, and neither buyer or seller gained an advantage upon which it was considered worth while to protract negotiations, and the figures may be placed at about $2.35@2.40 for round wood and $2.50@2.60 for slats, stock from the eastward and a few more lots of northern stock selling at about same rates. The quantity afloat is believed to be small, as most vessels are here or on return trip to primary points.

LIME.—The market, so far as prices are concerned, remains as before and is called steady, but were it not for the support given by the combination it is likely prices would ease away a trifle. Demand shows greater indifference, and while the arrivals are somewhat less plenty, there is quite as many as the market requires. The State production is also somewhat slower, though held as before.

LUMBER.—Reports good and bad referring to the general condition of the market can be found, but those of an unfavorable character are not particularly plenty nor do affairs appear to be greatly out of joint. In some instances, and especially the Eastern product, the cost is high enough to give reasonable cause for complaint, not because value is twisted by combination or speculative methods, but owing to apparent unavoidable influences to which buyers feel they must submit for a while at least. Other goods, however, are not abnormally high, and while possibly special selections are urgent deliveries may cost a premium, now there will probably be an equalization when the first flush of the season is over. The press of salesmen upon this market has been lightened somewhat of late, as other localities are commencing to afford a better field for operations than they did a few weeks ago and the boundaries of the buying circle are broadened. Most primary sources advise a firm tone.

A paragraph referring to an extensive failure and intended for our brick market was, through some mischance, placed in our lumber column last week, and naturally caused considerable inquiry. There has been no failure in the lumber trade.

State Superintendent of Public Works Hanan announced the official dates for the opening of the State canals to navigation as follows: Erie, Black River, Cayuga and Seneca, April 28th; Champlain, May 1st.

Eastern Spruce retains in general the former features, and the chances are that no positive weakness will develop until freight charges and accommodation assume such form as make the weight of supply exceed the current demand and compel a more direct effort to realize. Some receivers frankly admit that there has not at any time this spring been an open natural demand, and unless dealers really had early use for stock it was useless to attempt selling them; but, on the other hand, just as soon as a dealer found he must have a cargo or two, it only required an offer of the kind required to secure a prompt customer, and as a rule schedules were not criticised with any undue degree of nicety. It was simply a case of buying and paying the price, because they had to do so. There was, however, another experience, in which it was found that pretty much every buyer talked knowingly of a plentiful supply of logs, and significantly referred to a probable time when vessels and freight becoming cheaper and manufacturers more liberal shippers, the opportunity to strike a balance on cost would be presented to those who at the outset of the season were at so serious a disadvantage.

Piling has sold well thus far this year both on spot and to arrive, and a great many jobs under way or contemplated are provided against. Demaud, however, has not abated materially as yet, and the claim of receivers is that they can dispose of about all the arrivals likely to come forward without difficulty or disturbance of value. Most of the available vessels are said to be at this end of the route just now.

Hemlock in some quarters is reported as more active than ever, while other operators assert that the general movement is not beyond the natural relative relation to other woods, and almost as a matter of course suggestions upon the matter of values are on a variable line in accord with the ideas of business doing. Extreme high or very low quotations, however, are no doubt based upon some special attraction or more or less pronounced fault, as the case may be, and on the average cost varies but little.

White Pine continues to get a great many sly knocks from operators interested in other woods, and competition has certainly taken from this market the independent position to which many of the older operators were accustomed. Nevertheless there is still a good full consumption for it, a satisfactory shipping trade, and plenty of dealers find it advantageous to keep their yards well stocked both in quantity and assortment. That a number of the scouting salesmen do not find these customers, however, is not surprising, as few of them are willing to purchase at random even when tempted by comparatively low terms, but prefer negotiating through resident agents who have become accustomed to their ways and requirements, or better still, to order direct from mills, where cuts and quality are turned out in exact duplicate of former orders. The scarcity of spruce and hemlock this season may prove of some benefit to white pine. At principal primary points matters are still somewhat unsettled, but it looks as though there was an intention to open the market upon an easy basis, calculated to attract demand.

Yellow Pine appears to remain as one of the woods in an unassailable position, and, reports to the contrary notwithstanding, we are unable to trace any shading from former line of valuation on first-class and attractive stock. On the other hand, there is a repetition of former reports regarding the payment of fuller figures, and more or less difficulty experienced in finding mills that will book orders upon any promise of early specific delivery. Interior localities are getting more and more in the habit of going direct to primary sources, and manufacturers became independent in accordance with the wider line of custom which waits upon them. Some local houses are doing quite a little car lot trade with yard dealers. The chances for an export deal f. o. b. are said to be improving.

Carolina Pine timber is still said to fill a great many orders from consumers who have expressed a determination to use it as a substitute for spruce, until the latter comes down to a reasonable basis of cost again, but the call is confined to quantities adapted to early wants, as no one of experience cares to carry the lumber in stock. Kiln dried stuff in the meanwhile keeps on the even tenor of its way, and unless reports are very much exaggerated the business is quite as satisfactory as could have been expected by the most sanguine, with calculations upon still further gains in outside markets.

Hardwoods are doing very well, some of the trade think better than at this time last year, and reports are generally cheerful. Poplar, quartered oak, and ash are probably somewhat in the lead in making up volume of business, but for nearly every standard wood on the list a good word may be heard, and values seem to be well sustained. Even black walnut is said to be securing a few more home orders than usual, but mainly in under qualities, rejects, etc., as the cost of prime stock is too high for average consumption. Offerings, without being excessive, were most of the time fair, and it is believed will so continue. Mahogany is realizing expectations, and finding a steady, full and satisfactory outlet on local and shipping orders, the mills in this vicinity turning out some excellent and attractive work.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

The Northwestern Lumberman as follows:

The outlook is that the drives will start off unusually well. On the headwaters of several of the streams there is so much snow and ice that nothing as yet can be done, but a warm rain would change conditions speedily. Crews are going up stream every day to take advantage of the first water.

In the minds of many the open winter would cut off the supply, and there would be a scarcity of logs, sure The returns as they come in are not to that effect, however. Notwithstanding the mild winter, and the statement harped on by some so industriously that the end of white pine is right in sight, certain streams will produce more logs in 1890 than ever before in one season in their history. So plentiful are logs in some sections that prices for the lower grades are weak. It is a foregone conclusion that the mills will start up early, and with nothing unforeseen to interfere, the output of lumber in the white pine district will be large. The result will shut the mouths of the croakers one more year at least.

CHICAGO.

By the Cargo.—The market cannot be said to have fairly opened, though considerable lumber has been sold at the docks during the past week.

The lumber received thus far has been mainly green piece stuff, cull boards and a little common inch. Piece stuff has this week sold at $10 a thousand for short green, and $11.50 for that over 18 feet in length. It can be seen that long is relatively higher than short, which naturally results from the low supply of long joists and scantling in the yards. In classing piece stuff as green at the present time, that which was piled on mill dock last year is included. Strictly dry short would sell at $10.50 a thousand. These prices are from 25 to 50 cents a thousand lower than last year at a corresponding time.

Such common inch as has been offered on the market has sold at $12.50 to $13 a thousand. It has been taken out of cross-piles that were put up late last fall, and is, therefore, but partly dry. Cull lumber has sold at $7 to $7.25 in the majority of instances, though some has gone for higher figures.

The carpenters' strike has prevented the usual demand from the retail yards. The dealers whose trade is mainly with the local builders and factories that turn out building material are the best spring patrons of the cargo market. They are now having little trade, and, consequently, are not free buyers.

A good many charters have been made, and a considerable fleet has gone out for loads. It is likely that by next week there will be numerous offerings at the docks.

The Timberman as follows:

In Lower Michigan the last heavy fall of snow melted rapidly and rushed in great volume to the rivers, which with the rains since fallen have so swollen the streams that booming operations have been greatly retarded. The low lands along the Tittabawassee have been overflown in numerous places, causing much inconvenience and loss to the farmers as well as to the boom companies; but log driving in the upper streams where there is less open country and where the water gets to the driving streams more gradually, is said to be excellent, and the work is progressing satisfactorily.

And upon the Chicago yard trade the following:

The exchange report of stock on hand April 1st, which was issued the latter part of last week, would indicate that the lumber dealers of this city are in much better shape at the opening of navigation than they were a week ago, although there is still more lumber in sight than they could wish. The decrease in the amount of lumber and timber for the year is over 30,500,000 feet, and as the sales for the current month will undoubtedly exceed the receipts, it is safe to say that on May 1st there will be thirty-five millions less lumber in pile in this city than there was a year ago. But two years in the last six, 1887 and 1888, have shown a less amount, and these only a few million feet.

The stock of piece stuff is so broken that it is difficult to quote prices. Each yard is governed by its own stock in sending out lists, but the average price for short lengths is about $11; 2x4 14 feet are offered by one firm for $10.50, but this is only to get rid of a surplus. Dealers object to paying $10 and $10.50 on the market for piece stuff, for they cannot see the justice in the manufacturers asking the same price for stock as they did a year ago, when it is selling for a dollar less out of the yards. They are confident that the price of green piece stuff will drop to $9 on the market before many weeks, and will buy as little as possible in anticipation of such an event.

The closing days of last week were characterised by a dullness in the hardwood trade, that lent a bluish tinge to everything that came within the range of vision of some of the dealers, but the depression was only short lived. This week business has picked up again, and considering how it is handicapped by the strike, is approaching close to the nature of a boom.

THE SOUTH.

The Southern Lumberman as follows:

The demand for yellow pine has rapidly increased, and the mills cutting this class of lumber have all the orders they desire at fair prices. The shipments for export will equal those of last year, which were unusually large. Yellow pine is selling at from one and a half to two dollars advance over last season's prices, and the demand is decidedly better. The call for yellow pine for car building purposes is exceedingly active, and the indications are that the yellow pine men will have a most prosperous spring trade.

A two and one-half cent reduction in freight rates has been made on poplar, oak and ash lumber to Eastern points. The rates from Nashville are as follows: Albany, N. Y., 28 cents; Baltimore, Md., 25½ cents; Boston, Mass., 33½ cents; Buffalo, N. Y., 19½ cents; Elmira, N. Y., 26 cents; New York, N. Y., 25½ cents; Philadelphia, Pa., 26½ cents; Pittsburgh, Pa., 19½ cents; Rochester, N. Y., 23 cents; Syracuse, N. Y., 24½ cents; Utica, N. Y., 26½ cents. The official Classification Committee has established the old rates on ceiling, mouldings and other inside finishing woods. The Poplar Association had anticipated a rate that would enable them to reach Eastern points with this class of goods on a rough lumber rate, and this rate will, to some extent, place an embargo on this kind of shipments. The reduction of rates on rough lumber is commendable. A reduction in rates on lumber has been made by the Louisville and Nashville, and East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroads from all Southern cities.

ENGLAND.

The Timber Trades Journal as follows:

LONDON.

American Black Walnut.—In lumber a good average business has been done; the better qualities are in active demand, and fully maintain their value. Logs also have been moving off more freely; we notice several good parcels are now being landed at the West India Docks.

American Whitewood.—On the whole the condition of the trade in this is encouraging; transactions have been on a liberal scale and there is evidently more spirit in speculation.

American Oak.—Generally the tone of the market is cheerful; the best qualities, however, are most in request, but all descriptions move off satisfactorily. Yardkeepers who were not well supplied with stock have lately been buying somewhat freely.

LIVERPOOL.

American Black Walnut.—None of the parcels landing are of more than ordinary quality; most of them are either of small sizes, badly sided, or, if of large dimensions, are twisted in grain or otherwise defective. The market is open for consignments of really prime, sound, straight-grained logs, which would command good prices.

Whitewood.—Some excellent parcels are landing, which have mostly gone into the hands of the dealer, or have been bought on contract to arrive.

The weakness of the pitch pine market in this port is most markedly shown by the fact that the shippers' agents have, with but few exceptional cases, no other recourse but to fly to auction as the best method for the disposal of their consignments. If the announcement that the United States Government had seized all the mills that supply Pensacola with timber, were supplemented by the news that they would not be opened again for a year, this market might right itself.

But with the list of vessels bound to this port with cargoes of pitch pine before us we cannot see how this is to be effected this season The heavy stock on hand in this port must be worked down materially, and we must have a much better feeling of confidence in the future than now obtains. This can only be done by restricting shipments as much as possible for next season.

NAILS.—Beyond taking enough supply for early and clearly defined wants, it is difficult to persuade buyers into any investment, giving the market much the old characteristic of uncertainty. Openly the pressure of stock appears moderate, but there is a great deal of quiet effort to realize that insures a supply for all outlets, and has of late crowded the line of value to a still lower level. We quote at $1.80@1.85 per keg for car lots, and $1.85@1.95 per keg for parcels from store.

TAR AND PITCH.—The market has received a few more buyers and the movement increased accordingly, but otherwise there is no change of importance. Rates remain about as before and stocks are steadily held. We quote Pitch at $1.40@1.50 per bbl.; Tar at $2.12½@2.30, according to quantity, quality and delivery.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—Among jobbers the reports are somewhat more cheerful, indicating an increase of the distributive movement into consumptive channels. Indeed, a considerable portion of the interior custom is seeking a filling out and re-adjustment of assortments, and will, it is expected, temporarily at least, keep open quite a fair outlet. Wholesale or bulk lots, however, have not as yet received much benefit, and both manufacturers and importers are inclined to occasionally find a little fault. Linseed Oil meets with good uniform demand and maintains a steady, healthful sort of market all around. We quote at 60@61c. for Western, and 62@64c. for City. Spirits Turpentine has been in pretty full supply, and meeting with only a moderate demand. Prices weakened the feeling at the moment, proving rather tame for all deliveries. We quote 40¼@41½c. per gallon, according to quantity, delivery, etc.

Our readers should see that they receive the twenty page supplement, illustrating the "East Side," with this issue of THE RECORD AND GUIDE.

Brokers who have not smiled for months have this week grinned from ear to ear as they have watched the tape, with its daily increasing figures marking amounts which they had begun to believe would never be reproduced in Wall street. Whether prices have come to stay is the puzzle they are now called upon to solve, and about this there are as many opinions as there are brokers. The bear faction has, however, been badly hurt, and is by no means so ready to bulldoze an investor who ventures to express an opinion on the future of the values of railroad stocks. That the rise has only begun and that the great bulk of the stocks in the street has not, as yet, had an inning, can, we think, be safely predicted, and at the same time a speculator must be prepared for a set back in prices any day, for it will surely come, no matter how certain a bull market may be later on. As yet the general public has had no share in the rise; it has no more than made an inquiry, and it is by no means certain that this great big public, which is the only hope for a continuance of the rise in prices, will come in, as railroad quarrels are not yet over with, and these investors do not like. From Maine to California, with very little exception, everything in the agricultural line is looking well. The labor strikes are sure to settle themselves. It really looks as though Congress would soon satisfactorily settle many important questions, including the silver matter, and, look where one will, it must be confessed the chances are on the hopeful side. At the same time, there have been so many disappointments that one cannot go far astray should he bag a part of his profit in Wall street, for no one has ever been known to get poor doing this.

The week has passed without any adjustment of the differences between the Senate and the Assembly on the Rapid Transit bill, and apparently any settlement of the disagreement is as far off as ever. It is a very pretty dispute. Messrs. Fish and Gibbs are doubtless congratulating themselves that their sturdy refusal to wear the Platt collar has covered them with political glory, and that they will be regarded in this city as the incorruptible defenders of our local interest from State and machine interference. If such is their belief, they will soon be disillusionized. They have stood in the way of the city when it was trying to get the World's Fair, as they have stood in the way of the best measure for rapid transit introduced into the Legislature of late years. It would be futile to enter into the political squabble and take up arms for either one side or the other. What New York wants is a Rapid Transit bill which meets the necessities of the situation; it is distinctly a secondary matter who the Commissioners are, provided only that they be honest and intelligent men. All the gentlemen whose names are under consideration have these qualifications, and it is Hobson's choice among them. Thus we are indifferent to the result as long as the bill is passed; but if it is not passed the whole crowd of politicians, and particularly the Fish-Gibbs combination, should be held strictly accountable. To do Senator Fassett justice, he has from the beginning exhibited a commendable desire to pass his bill, and to make every reasonable concession to forward this end. The offers of the Senate Conference Committee were manifestly fair. We hope that rather than let the bill fail he will make still further concessions; but if it does fail, the responsibility will be mainly with the Republican "bolters."

The work of "exposing" our city officials goes on at about as lively a pace as the most avaricious scandalmonger could wish. The "portrait of a government" which has been developed lately in this city is as vivid a delineation of pothouse vulgarity and common sordidness in high, if indeed one should not say "holy" places, as perhaps has ever been presented to a community that makes some pretensions to be righteous, enlightened and civilized. And what is the result? Nothing. "It's a disgrace!" exclaims Respectable Citizen indignantly over his morning paper, "that the city government should be under the control of such men, but a few minutes later he has put the paper aside, and with it his indignation. "I must have a sermon on this," says the clergyman. "Such a state of affairs should not be. This defilement of public life bodes ill for the State." He selects an appropriate text for a sermon that greatly "edifies" his congregation, and is pointed to in Monday morning's paper as an indication that the public conscience is at last "stirred," and the pulpit has joined the forces fighting for good government. As to the congregation, they say: "Powerful sermon that. Didn't know Mr. Surplice had such a grasp of secular matters. Astonishing man. There's no doubt he's right, the government of this city is a disgrace to us all." Next week all is forgotten. The clergyman is immersed in a sermon on missions for the moral elevation of the Hottentots, and the congregation are intent upon making a dollar out of the things of Mammon. As to the newspaper editor the subject is a rich sensation for him in the news columns, and an opportunity for fine indignation and invective on the "editorial" page. Talk, talk. Who does anything. The citizen? The clergyman? The congregation? The editor? No. Each has his own affairs to attend to, and has no time, or will give no time to establish in the city in which he lives a commonly decent government. Only the politician acts. The machine is put in better order, and the next election demonstrates for the hundredth time that the Mikes and the Barneys, the pothouse politicians, the heelers and district bosses make the government of this city. Vulgarity and commonness rule.

The bill permitting the Sinking Fund Commissioners to reduce the percentage of receipts paid by a street railroad for its franchise is a dangerous measure, and its passage by the Assembly is at least a mistake. It is said to have been created to relieve the Twenty-eighth Street Railroad of what that corporation considers to be a bad bargain made with the city. It bid at auction for the franchise it now holds forty per cent of its gross receipts, and this it asserts is excessive. Certainly it is a large sum, perhaps too large to be paid without actual loss to the company on its operations. But this particular case does not warrant the putting on the statute books of a general law which can be used at any time to subvert a good principle which as yet has scarcely been established in public policy, viz.: that railroads and other corporations should contribute largely to the municipal treasury for franchises and privileges granted to them by the community. We all know there is nothing more infectious than a precedent, and the relief of one company from what it considers an onerous bargain will prompt other companies to strive for concessions. Opportunities for wrongdoing will thus be created, and another cause for watchfulness on the part of the public will arise. If the Twenty-eighth Street Railroad has made a bad bargain, that is nobody's fault but its own. It knew what it was doing when it bid forty per cent. of its earnings. There was no compulsion to bid even one per cent. If the company bids a certain price for its horses or cars it has to abide by its action, and no good reason can be given why a different principle should govern in its dealings with the city. It can easily be understood that if a company can make extravagant bids with the knowledge that subsequently it can obtain a revision of its bid the sale of public franchises will become a farce, and the contribution of corporations to the city treasury will really be a matter for private dicker with the Sinking Fund Commissioners. The Real Estate Exchange Legislative Committee should take charge of this matter and make every effort to defeat this measure.

The proposed new Building Law has a doubtful chance of being passed by the Legislature, owing to the lack of time, the session expiring on the 9th instant. The bill will undoubtedly get through the Assembly within the next few days; then it has to go to the Senate, and as there are two or three hundred other bills, the friends of this particular measure fear that it cannot be reached before the hour for final adjournment arrives. Three or four bills of general interest: ballot reform, aqueduct claims, city investigations, will consume much time, and although the amendments to the building law is a subject worthy to stand on an equal basis with any other bill, yet there is no political patronage connected with it, no boodle behind it, no party advantage to be gained, only a matter concerning the safety, comfort and health of the people who live in this city, and whose property interests are here; but these considerations are not weighty matters with the average legislator. However, Assemblyman Connelly, who has charge of the bill, appreciates its importance, and will do everything in his power by advancing the bill as promptly as parliamentary methods will permit to as early a vote as possible.

The bill reached Albany very late owing to the care with which it was prepared and the careful consideration of the mass of suggestions submitted to the Committee on Revision by architects, builders and others who had publicly been invited to offer suggestions for the betterment of the present law. It was presented with the confident assurance that no opposition would be offered from any quarter. It had the backing of the Superintendent of Buildings, it had the favor of the President of the Board of Fire Commissioners, all the trade associations had approved of it by their authorized representatives, and the fire underwriters had taken part in its preparation. The Assembly Committee on Cities promptly accorded a hearing. No one appeared in opposition; on the contrary, all who did appear were enthusiastic in praise of the bill. The committee at once reported the bill. Then came a request from the Board of Fire Underwriters that certain amendments be incorporated in the bill, particularly that the power of arrest for violations be restored similar to the provisions of the law as it existed prior to 1885. Under the rules of the House the bill had to be, and was recommitted to the Committee on Cities. A rather stormy hearing followed. The chairman of the committee insisted that the people interested in the bill should compromise and settle their differences. This was done by giving the fire underwriters nearly all that they asked for, although they had been beaten on those issues in the Revision Committee. The power to arrest, however, was not put in the bill; that feature the representatives of the trade associations would not agree to, and the fire underwriters reluctantly waived this demand under the storm of indignation that it excited. But all this work used up some ten days time, just time enough to put back the bill to an almost hopeless chance of its being reached. Very unexpectedly opposition from another quarter arose, following the fire underwriters, and based mainly on the desire to have the old arrest section—the famous section 508 of the old law—restored. We shall say nothing about this at present, and if the bill happily gets through it will probably be better to make no further reference to it whatever. But if the bill fails the story shall be told, and the responsibility for the failure of the law by causing delay be laid where it belongs. It will be a grievous disappointment to the building interests if the amendments prepared by the Committee on Revision fail to become a law. We have had many inquiries lately as to how the new Building Law was progressing. We can only say that there is just a chance yet that it will come through all right.

A careful reading of the provisions of Comptroller Myer's bill to take the searching for unpaid taxes and assessments out of the hands of private searchers and give it to the Comptroller's office, leads us to the conclusion that the bill, as amended, although a great improvement on the bill as originally proposed, is in its details a totally inadequate solution of the difficulty it is intended to remove. It is to be regretted that the Legislative Committee of the Exchange should have indorsed the measure without a more careful consideration of its provisions. There is hardly a single detail which is not open to objection. While it is quite true that the present system of allowing private searchers to make large sums out of the public has no justification whatever, and while it is quite true that the work should be done by the Comptroller's department at a merely nominal charge, it is equally important that the reform should not be founded on false methods and entail unnecessary expense. This matter of facilitating and cheapening the searching for unpaid taxes and assessments cannot be divorced from the more general reform in facilitating and cheapening all the searching neccessary to prove a title. If the reform is to be complete, the methods and principles used in one direction should be also used in another. In other words, the principle of block indexing contained in the bill of last year for the future indexing of deeds and mortgages, should also be applied to the classification of the arrearage records in the Comptroller's department. Mr. Myer's bill contemplates an indefinite number of arrearage books, in which shall be posted and entered a separate account, as against each particular lot, piece or parcel of property in this city. What maps, we should like to know, is the Comptroller going to use to determine the boundary of these lots, for in many cases they are undetermined. Furthermore, such a system would be unnecessarily complex. It would mean simply the enumeration in a certain order of all the lots in the city instead of their classification under common heads. It would mean a great deal of unnecessary expense and a clumsy system of reference in the end. The task of preparing similar books was begun in Brooklyn in 1882; it has already cost $60,000, and is not yet completed. Mr. Myers estimates the cost of a similar work in New York at $50,000, but the bill puts no limitation on the expense he may incur or the amount of time to be used. As we said before, it is wrong to pursue one method of indexing in the Comptroller's department and another in the Register's. The books of the Arrearage office should be based on the excellent maps at present being prepared by the Tax Commissioners. All city charges, all sales for unpaid city charges, all payments of such taxes or redemptions from such sales, should be indexed under the block number as it appears on the above-mentioned map. As to the provision of the bill which makes the Comptroller's certification of the bill conclusive evidence of payment and an absolute discharge of all charges prior to the issue of the certificate, few comments are necessary. It is desirable that such a certificate should be issued, but the expense ($1.50) attached to it is too high. And as such a certificate simply provides against a possible error by the Comptroller's clerks the fee which is exacted for the service should not go into the general fund, but for some years, at all events, should be kept for the special purpose of reimbursing the city for the loss occasioned by a possible error on the part of the clerks. Consequently it should be no more than is sufficient to provide for such possible losses, a matter which could be determined by experience. The city can afford to bear the expense of the few clerks necessary to make the searches. The Comptroller's course in this whole matter indicates plainly that he did not know the bearings of the reform which he has undertaken to compass.

East Side Architecture—Fifth Avenue.

It is perhaps inevitable that sooner or later in an article discussing what is known as the "East Side"—the section between 59th street and 121st street, 5th avenue and the East River—a comparison of that district with the "West Side," or something like one, will slip in. It is hard, if not impossible to prevent it. In a sense these two sections have been rivals, and the praises of each have been sung with some intensity by real estate agents and property owners for years. To get the comparison out of the way, then, it must be said that looked at as a whole the west side is architecturally superior to the east side; but, on the other hand, it is equally certain that in single examples of solid, costly, pretentious, if not artistic dwellings, the east side has distinctly the advantage. The many fine structures on 5th avenue and Madison avenue, such, for instance, as on the northeast corner of 79th street, the northeast corner of 78th street, the northeast corner of 66th street, all on 5th avenue, the northwest corner of 68th street and Madison avenue, and many others, it would not be easy to match on the other side of the city west of 8th avenue.

The east side may be divided longitudinally into two architectural sections—west of Park avenue and east thereof; and laterally, that is from east to west, into two other sections—north of 92d street and south of it.

West of Park avenue is to be found practically all that there is of architectural interest on the east side. There are a few exceptions, such as the Central Turn Verein, but bearing these in mind the statement is sufficiently accurate to pass. Also in the district north of 92d street there is little of importance; consequently, in the general review to follow, attention will be confined to the section delineated above—that is, west of Park avenue and south of 91st street.

However, before dismissing the excluded section it deserves a word or two. To be plain, it is a disgrace to the people of this city. It ought never to have been built. With certain exceptions, some of them notable, it strikes one as the work of men devoid of the slightest feeling for beauty—men who have piled brick upon brick sordidly, who have sacrificed nothing to the human part of man, who have built solely for the dollar. It merits, in a sense, Walpole's description of London, "a gigantic mass of littleness." Row succeeds row here without disclosing a trace of beauty or charm—streets of cheerless buildings that cannot be looked at without ennui. It is worth inquiring what sort of people live in these places—tenements, flats, machine-made dwellings—and take pleasure in them and call them "home." Consider for a moment what the street architecture should be of a really enlightened, intelligent and sensitive people, and then consider the æsthetic condition of those who deliberately built such structures and those who persist in living in them. Are the only attributes of civilization those that can be enumerated in dollars and cents? The idea is apparently prevalent that this is so, but as a matter of fact the barbarian who builds his hut under some tree that pleases him in front of a wide prospect of lake or vale has an element of the higher nature in his breast which the New Yorker has not. The city has undertaken to see that buildings are erected so as to be safe and healthy. One is almost tempted to wish that this authority might be extended to the æsthetic part of buildings.

Naturally, the best work within this section is on 5th avenue. The prestige of this thoroughfare and the expensiveness of land there have kept the avenue freer from the cheap abominations of the contract "arch-itect" and the speculative builder than any other street in the upper part of the city. It has been developed slowly and according to the dictates of the taste of the individuals residing there. Moreover, money has been spent, if not without stint, at least without the parsimony that cramps an architect; and those "business considerations" which so often are the cause of bad work in the designing of flats and dwellings that are in the first place "merchandise" and only subsequently "homes," have been conspicuously absent in the development of the avenue. Consequently one would be warranted in expecting a generally higher order of work here than could be found elsewhere in the city; and to an extent this is to be found, but, it must be added, to a much smaller extent than would be expected. In the new work on the avenue there is very little that is positively bad—that is unmistakably the product of an untutored pencil, such as is to be found in nearly every block on the west side, on 72d street, Central Park West and West End avenue, as well as on the Boulevard, 9th avenue and second-rate side streets.

Even where apparently little money has been spent and the architect cramped, as in the slightly too yellow brick dwelling between 65th and 66th streets, the result is a poverty-stricken design, but not a vulgar one, made hideous with a profusion of wild, cheap-looking ornamentation. The only stone work in this dwelling is the uncarved marble sills and lintels. The effect even of the arches over certain openings is lost in the plain brick work. Undoubtedly much more could have been made of this design with a small expenditure, and herein the architect is at fault. The galvanized iron freize cornice and balcony are details in the construction which also it would have been preferable to omit. These would-be impositions are everywhere an eyesore, and this sort of stamped-tin ornamentation, which disfigures even a Bowery lodging house, ought not to be seen among the dwellings of what are regarded as the wealthy and cultured class. But, as we have said, of vulgar ornament-plastered work there is little on 5th avenue.

Nearly all the pretentious houses—those that merit to be styled "mansions"—are on the avenue corners. The entrance and the main facade is put on the street, and the windows of the principal apartments open onto the narrower or avenue side. By this arrangement the architect obtains breadth for his design, and proportions that are artistically tractable. The advantage of this treatment will be seen at once by inspecting any of the corner houses built a few years ago with the entrance on the avenue. The better plan is now so fixed that it will probably be adopted in the construction of all buildings that henceforth will be erected on the avenue corners.

Another method of treatment common in the newer 5th avenue residences which do not occupy corners, and consequently have only a very limited frontage, is to place the entrance quite to the side and bow out the remainder of the facade several feet, including in the bow all the stories or some of them, according to pleasure. The dwelling between 65th and 66th streets already spoken of is an example of this. No. 806 is another example. No more successful method of treating the narrow front of a city dwelling has yet been hit upon, and the wonder is it has not been more frequently followed.

Starting from 59th street and going northwards, the first houses deserving attention are those constructed of brown stone between 61st and 62d streets. The design is of the "Romanesqued" kind so popular at present, somewhat heavy looking, but not unpleasant. The carving is good, though of a now stereotyped character. No. 804, close by, is a scholarly production and deserves attention. The design is simple, the proportions excellent, and the choice and disposition of material very satisfactory. If all the work on 5th avenue were up to this standard it would be one of the finest streets, architecturally, in the world. The Progress Club, a few doors further north, has already been described in THE RECORD AND GUIDE, and may be passed over. How superior the new work on the avenue is to the old may be seen by inspecting the brown stone house on the corner of the next block—the northeast corner of 64th street—and the smaller dwellings by it in brown stone, with the classic details that were the vogue a decade or more ago. On the north corner of 66th street a large granite dwelling is in course of construction which promises to be one of the finest in the city. The material selected has necessitated a plain design. The entrance is on 66th street, and the facade there consists of a central division, flanked on each side by a projecting semi-circular division. The openings are all rectangular, without shafts, ornamented with a plain, hollow molding. The cornice on the central bay is supported on columns, which are disposed in pairs at the sides of the windows of the upper stories, and are supported on a projecting ledge corbelled from the wall. This feature cannot be pronounced very satisfactory. It appears artificial, arbitrary, and forced upon the design instead of growing out of it. The 5th avenue side is perfectly plain, with the exception of a small balcony, which recalls that on the Down-Town Club on Pine street. Between 69th and 70th streets is a brown stone house, in what may be termed the Vanderbilt style, from the similarity of much of its details to the famous millionaires' "palaces" south of 59th street. The peculiar excresence on the second-story, not unlike the toadstool-shaped fungi that grow on trees, deserves notice. No. 934, further north, is one of the best bits of work on the avenue. It is of red brick, with band-courses of brown stone. The design consists of three vertical divisions, the centre one being flat and recessed, and the two at the sides projected and bowed. Ornamentation is very sparingly used, yet the building has an air of delicacy and refinement which is not possessed by any other on the avenue. The architect, however, was favored by the ample frontage at his disposal, and his advantage in this respect is shown by the adjoining houses which are even higher with only about half the width. Between 77th and 78th streets is a row of white stone houses of decided pretensions. The chateau features, however, are scarcely suitable to a 25-foot front city dwelling. Had the block been treated on one design it would have been better, though not satisfactory. On the north corner of 78th street is one of the largest residences on the avenue. The building is more remarkable for its solidity and massive appearance than for its architectural beauty. It is a fine house and a costly one—that is the principal word it has for the passer-by. On the north corner of the next block is a building almost as large, and decidedly more architectural in character. The design was evidently suggested by the chateaux of the early French Renaissance; but is not a city chauteau an incongruity? Mr. Hunt attempted this with W. K. Vanderbilt's house, and though he produced a successful design, he did not succeed in harmonizing it with its surroundings. A park and fine natural approaches are necessary to set it off properly, and a New York street cannot take the place of these. The building on the corner of 79th street is evidently the work of a good architect, but in simplifying his design to accord with its situation on a city street he has given it a prim, stiff appearance far from satisfactory. North of 79th street there are few new houses worth attention. The character of the avenue begins to change. The work of the contract "arch-itect" becomes plainly visible, and we find "flats" wherein "business considerations" prevail and conditions favorable to artistic work at once vanish. Tall buildings of narrow frontage, showiness, cheap construction, these are the things to be looked for, and rarely indeed does the searcher look for them in vain.

The result of an inspection of Madison avenue and Park avenue must be deferred to another article.

In another part of the paper we give the short form which in the future, provided Governor Hill signs the bill, will be used in this State for deeds conveying property in fee simple. A form of about the same length is prescribed for mortgages, and another for transfers made by executors. The larger portion of the measure consists of a careful explanation of the meaning given to the terms employed, which prevents any possible misinterpretation of the abbreviated form. The bill does not make the use of the forms compulsory. When it was originally introduced one section provided that in case any longer form of covenant was used the Register would have the right to charge a fee of five dollars in addition to his ordinary fee for recording—a charge which will probably effectually prevent the use of longer forms. In its career in the Legislature this section was modified so as to make the additional fee of five dollars for recording longer forms permissible only in New York and Kings County. In this amendment can probably be seen the handiwork of the rural county clerk, who stifled the short form bill introduced some years ago. As it does not affect, however, the efficacy of the measure as regards this city we cannot complain of the amendment. Indeed, considering how important and how satisfactory the bill is, it is singular that it passed the Legislature with so little opposition and so little noise. It is an indication for one thing, that if the Exchange would go to work seriously to push a series of measures looking toward the completion of the reform initiated by the block indexing bill of last year, and carried on by the short form bill of this year, it might be found that the backbone of the opposition was broken. We have said that the form proscribed by the bill is satisfactory. So it is, considering the present condition of other laws bearing on the transfer of realty. But it must be remembered that if our system of transfer be ever rendered as simple as the Australian system, even this form will be unnecessarily long. It is to be added that the form used was that originally adopted in the District of Columbia, and has worked satisfactorily there.

The Effect of Bridges on Real Estate.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

The efforts to obtain charters for the construction of bridges to connect Manhattan Island with Long Island and New Jersey, now being made at Washington and Albany, should set owners of real estate in our city to thinking as to the effect bridges will have on the price and value of their property.

It seems to me clear that these bridges will enable real estate here to be put to the use which will yield the greatest return to owners. The great advance in values in the lower part of the city is due chiefly to the Brooklyn Bridge and the elevated railways, which are little else than long bridges. They have made it possible for large numbers of people to crowd into a small space for the working hours of the day, and at night to scatter to their homes in the outskirts of Brooklyn, the upper part of the city, and in the suburbs. What has taken place in the lower part of the city can be repeated in other localities if only similar convenience of access and egress is supplied. The effect of a bridge is to build up a suburb which becomes a feeder to the business of the metropolis. The owners of the bridge cannot be benefited to any extent comparable with the benefit to be derived by the owners of the real estate affected. A bridge at Blackwell's Island would cause a rise in property in the belt between 34th and 50th streets; one at Washington Heights would fill up the upper end of the island, for it must be accepted, as proved by experience, that wherever a bridge is placed property is favorably affected.

It is a short-sighted view which leads anyone to oppose bridges because the promoters will be benefited largely or because population will be attracted to suburbs, when, as has been seen, by far the largest benefit will come to real estate owners in the city. OWNER.

We hear that negotiations are under way looking to the purchase of several lots on the southwest corner of Nassau street and Maiden lane for improvement.

The First Four Months.

The figures given below of the conveyances for the first four months of the current year do not differ materially from those of the same period twelve months ago. In transactions which this year involve $107,622,928 worth of property and number 5,913, there is a difference of only $2,526,203 in amount and 214 in number compared with 1889, when the figures were $105,096,725 and 5,699. The proportion which the conveyances for a nominal consideration bear to the whole number of conveyances is somewhat larger than in 1889. This year the proportion is over 25 per cent., while last year it was less than 22 per cent. Undoubtedly there is a growing disinclination on the part of purchasers of realty to disclose the prices paid for property. We refer to this fact in our Real Estate Department this week, and these general figures are a further proof of it. It will be seen in the tables that in April this year the number of transactions were considerably larger than in the same month of 1889, but the amount involved less.

In the 23d and 24th Wards much less property has changed hands this year than in the first four months of 1889, but the value in 1890 has been greater. This year $3,857,474 of realty changed hands in addition to that for which only a nominal consideration was expressed, against $3,593,467 last year; the number of parcels being only 804 for 1890 and 924 for 1889. It is plain that proportionately less unimproved property in the upper wards is dealt in now than formerly, and the building operations of recent years are beginning to affect the amount involved in the transactions.

As to the mortgages they have been more numerous than they were last year and involve a larger amount. The figures are 5,440 mortgages for this year for $113,357,373, against 5,117 and $65,182,504 last year. It must be remembered that the money amount for this year includes two exceptional sums, $40,000,000 and $5,000,000, the former being the mortgage given by the Manhattan and Metropolitan Elevated Companies to the Central Trust Company, and the latter the mortgage of the Edison Illuminating Company to the same company. Eliminating these two, the amount involved by the mortgages this year is $68,357,373, against $65,182,504 last year.

In Kings County a comparison between the figures for 1890 and 1889 do not appear on the surface so satisfactory. Fewer parcels have been sold and the amount involved is about $2,000,000 less. The nominal deeds are, however, more numerous, actually and proportionately, so that a part of the decline in the money value may be accounted for by this circumstance. On the other hand, the mortgages in Kings County are heavier both in number and amount than they were last year, which may be taken as an indication that a larger proportion of the transactions in real estate is being done on borrowed capital.

New Buildings.

WHAT THE FILINGS SHOW—FEWER BUILDINGS PROJECTED—COSTLY STRUCTURES NUMEROUS—THE NECESSITY FOR RAPID TRANSIT CLEARLY SHOWN.

During the month of April just passed there were planned forty-one buildings less than in the same month last year, at a reduced cost of $574,710. All the districts into which the city is divided in the tables given below show a reduction in the number of buildings, except the section between 14th and 59th streets, where there is an increase of fifteen in buildings and $444,425 in cost. South of 14th street three buildings less were planned, but the cost of last month's filings was $765,550 greater than the figures for April, 1889. East of Central Park there is a decrease of twenty-seven buildings, while west of the park there is a decrease of only four buildings. North of the Harlem the reduction in buildings reaches nine, while the cost has fallen off over 50 per cent., which is mainly due to the fact that only two flats and tenements were projected during April. Of the thirty-five dwellings planned in this district, thirty-four are frame and will cost on the average $3,470 each. Here are the figures for April for the last three years:

The figures for the four months ending April 30th, compared with the same months in 1889 and 1888, are given below. The table shows that 1890 is ahead of 1888 and behind 1889 in the number of buildings. This year a larger number of costly structures were planned, which accounts for the increase of $2,005,363 in cost over last year, notwithstanding eighty less buildings are embraced in the filings.

Month after month the figures show we are running behind last year, especially north of 59th street, and were it not for the large number and costly character of the down-town buildings projected, this year's figures would make a poor showing against those for 1889. The truth of this last statement is emphasized by the following figures:

	No. buildings south of 59th st.	Cost.	No. buildings north of 59th st.	Cost.
1889	301	$9,609,795	1,057	$16,409,635
1890	329	14,193,660	949	13,821,133

It will thus be seen that while south of 59th street there is a gain this year of 28 buildings and $4,583,865 in cost, in the section north of 59th street there is a loss of 108 buildings and $2,588,502 in cost. If these facts are brought to the notice of our Senators and Assemblymen at Albany, perhaps they will stop bickering for political advantage and give the city the increased transit facilities it so badly needs. THE BUILDINGS CLASSIFIED BY DISTRICTS—INTERESTING STATISTICS.

The figures for April are worth studying. Last month it was shown that the falling-off in the number of private dwellings accounted for the decrease in the monthly totals compared with March, 1889, as flats and tenements held their own. This month it is just the reverse; private dwellings have a little more than held their own, while there is a large falling-off in the number and cost of flats and tenements.

The east side shows a gain over the west side in the number of flats and tenements, and the latter section continues to lead the former in the way of private dwellings. Nearly 19 per cent. of all the buildings projected during April were of a miscellaneous character, such as stables, sheds, factories, etc. Of these seventy-two structures sixteen will go up on the east side, compared with only two on the west side, the district north of the Harlem leading with twenty-three:

	Average cost of flats and tenem'ts.	Average cost of private dwell'gs.
1889	$22,279	$11,788
1890	22,412	10,726

It will thus be seen that while the average cost for flats and tenements was smaller last year than this, the private dwellings cost more in 1889 than in 1890:

THE COSTLIEST BUILDINGS.

The list which is given below shows that fourteen buildings, or less than 4 per cent. of the total of 384 planned during April, will cost $3,140,000, or over 36 per cent. of the total of $8,743,980. Three of the fourteen are office buildings and will be erected south of Liberty street. The Washington Square district is also well represented. As usual the filings for the month embraced a great variety of structures costing from $25 up to $400,000.

Real Estate Notes.

The Sherwood, on the northeast corner of 5th avenue and 44th street, size 100x100.5, has been purchased by Chas. F. Havemeyer. The figure has not transpired. Mr. Havemeyer has been a large buyer lately. Other of his purchases are as follows:

Houston st, n e cor Crosby st	$225,000
Cortlandt st, s w cor Washington st, 20.8x57.4x31.2x58.11, five-story tenement	100,000

The six-story store and office building Nos. 74 and 76 Cortlandt street, northeast corner of Washington, has been sold to Solomon Loeb, of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. The deed fails to mention the price paid, but rumor has it that a quarter of a million dollars is the figure. The loan of $180,000 by the Poughkeepsie Savings Bank on this property some months ago will be remembered by our readers.

The cost of lots suitable for improvement by the erection of flats has been steadily going up in the 7th Ward. The latest and highest quotation is $22,500 each paid for Nos. 39 and 41 Henry street, together in size 53.5x100, by J. E. Cusack.

An east side architect informs us that one of his clients who intended to build fifty houses this year, has given up the idea of building until the eight-hour question is settled. Plans were filed and the foundations laid for some of the houses in question. All work has now been suspended. How much other work has been stopped for the same reason?

The failure of a client to be on hand to close a contract recently cost a broker the loss of a $1,500 commission and the client the property he wanted. He was only five minutes late, during which time a contract was closed with another person.

Cornelius Vanderbilt has taken title to a plot, 75x100.4, on the north side of 42d street, 80 feet east of 3d avenue. This plot cost Mr. V. $70,000, and there is much curiosity to know how he will improve the same.

Ascher Weinstein is one of the most active speculators in the market. Since January 1st he purchased twenty-one parcels for $540,950, and resold them for $606,050, showing a profit of $65,100, less commissions and legal expenses. Only four of the twenty-one parcels were north of 14th street, and none were above 43d street. During the same period Mr. W. has bought thirteen parcels, which he has not yet resold.

Our Temporary Labor From Abroad.

HOW FOREIGN WORKMEN COME HERE FOR THE SEASON AND THEN RETURN HOME.

It is not generally known that every year a large number of European workmen make their way to the United States, enter our workshops, and then, when the season is over, return to their native homes. Vague statements have appeared to this effect from time to time, but to what extent this temporarily immigrated labor is employed has never been made clear. To ascertain this, and to find out what effect it has upon the labor market, the writer called on several representatives of the employers and workmen.

WHAT THE EMPLOYERS SAY.

G. N. Williams, of the well-known firm of G. N. & B. A. Williams, was seen at his yards at Avenue A and 68th street. He said: "We had a number of stone-cutters in our employ for several years previous to 1889, who came over for the season. They were mostly Scotch, English and German. The Scotchmen generally came over to 'spy out the land,' and after working here for one season, returned to Scotland, and the next year brought their families over to the United States, making this country their home. There were, however, a number of men—but they were in the minority—who came over for two or three seasons in succession, and took back all their surplus earnings to spend it in their native country. The Englishmen and Germans generally come over to stay, as well as the Irish stone-cutters, of whom there were a few."

"How many stone-cutters do you estimate came over for the season only?" asked the interviewer.

"I should say between 200 and 300, which is about 10 per cent. of all the brown stone stone-cutters employed," was the reply.

"To what extent did this affect the labor market?"

"That I do not know. I believe the foreigners received the same wages that the citizens did, and worked just as many hours. The newcomers merely got work, I believe, because there was a demand for them. We have not employed any of these men for a year past, as the Journeymen Stone-cutters' Union have refused to admit them into their organization. As we have only union men working for us, we did not employ the foreigners."

Edward Scanlon, of the firm of Hughes & Scanlon, is one of the best-known of the "boss" stone-cutters, and is quite popular with his workmen. He was once an employé himself, and has held the positions, at different periods, of president, vice-president and treasurer of the Journeymen Stone-cutters' Association. He is well acquainted with the question of temporary-immigration labor. He said:

"The influx of foreign stone-cutters was very large in 1887 and 1888. The union, desiring to stop this class of labor from flooding the market, taxed every foreigner, or "Harvester," as he was called, the sum of $50 to get into the union. But this did not reduce the immigration, for the men found means of paying the money, and were thus able to go into the yards as union men. In the spring of 1889, the union found it necessary, for self-protection, to shut down entirely on these "harvesters," and after considerable debate resolved to declare the books closed for one year against all non-citizens. This deprived the "harvesters" from obtaining work, and we have not seen anything of them for many months. The union has therefore been a close corporation for a year. On Wednesday evening—the eve of May 1st—there was an important meeting held, at which, I believe, the question of opening the books to them was discussed."

"Are you in sympathy with the action taken by the union?"

"Yes," was Mr. Scanlon's reply, "very strongly, both my partner and myself. I was a workman once, and I remember how I had to go around without work, because the 'harvesters' had been taken on at lower pay. I think citizens ought to be encouraged before men who take all the surplus money they earn out of the country and spend it abroad."

"How do the 'harvesters' compare with the stone-cutters who have been in the trade here for years?"

"Not very well," was the reply. "It takes a season for the new men to get accustomed to the way of cutting stone here, which is different from that abroad. We would not employ men, anyway, unless they understood our way of cutting. A number of them are very good workmen, but the majority of these 'harvesters' are inferior. The Englishmen make the best stone-cutters; the Irish may be classed next, then the Scotch, and last the German. I prefer the Yank, who, though not always as strong, is quickest and uses his brains best."

WHAT THE LABOR DELEGATES SAY.

The writer then called upon the Board of Delegates of the Building Trades at their office on Clinton place. The Board meets every Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning at 10 o'clock, and the meeting room is generally crowded with delegates representing many thousands of union workmen. The writer found himself surrounded by a number of men who were clearly of the most intelligent order of workmen. Two of these, Alfred Ashley and Charles Rogers, were evidently well acquainted with the temporary immigration labor question. The former has just been elected President of the Board of Delegates, while the latter is an ex-president of the Board and is now the delegate of the working marble cutters.

"What occupations do the foreign workmen follow who come here only for the busy season?" asked the writer.

"They are for the most part brown stone cutters, bricklayers and plasterers," answered Mr. Ashley.

"What nationality do they belong to?"

"They are principally Englishmen and Scotchmen," said Mr. Rogers.

"How long do they stay here?"

"About seven or eight months," was the reply. "They come here about the end of March or the beginning of April, and remain until October or November and then return home. They work for less wages than union men, and are willing to work longer hours. They spend little or nothing here, hoard up all their money and take back their savings, which they use to live on during the winter."

"Does it pay them to come over the ocean and return for seven or eight months work?"

"Yes," was the reply. "They get their passage very cheaply, $12, I believe, being the fare. If the voyage and return involves an outlay, say of $40, it is only an average of a little over $1 a week, while their wages averages about double what they get in their own country."

"Do employers take them on readily?"

"Some do," answered the president. "They give preference to these Englishmen and Scotchmen over American citizens. Of course, no union men would work on the same job with these men. A man must be a citizen before he can belong to some unions. An employer must either have a union shop or a non-union shop. No man belonging to an organization will work at the same place with non-union men."

"Do any Italians come over for the season?" This query was put to Victor Foscato, delegate of the Italian marble mosaic workers.

"Not many," was the reply. "Those who come over generally stay here for two years. They are mostly marble cutters. They come here generally under contract. That is to say, they agree to work here for certain wages, and the balance goes to the man who contracts to bring them over. They work for $1 a day less, and work an hour longer than the union men. They do not get the difference between the union wages and $1 less, but a smaller sum still, for a certain amount is deducted by the contractor for commission and for the expenses of their ocean fare, etc., which is prepaid for them by the man who contracted to bring them over. The Englishmen and Scotchmen, as well as a few natives of other countries, do not come here under the contract system. They come here on their own chances of getting work. Nearly all the brown stone bosses have employed these men."

"It is in contravention to the Contract Labor Law passed by Congress," said President Ashley, "to contract with men outside of the United States to do work in this country."

"Yes," corroborated Rogers, "even the proposed clergyman to Trinity Church was not allowed to take his position on those grounds. Some time ago eighteen Italians were brought to this country, having been hired in Italy to come here, under the contract system, to work for Bowker & Torrey, marble bosses, of Boston. We applied to the United States authorities to have them sent back, and called attention to the Contract Labor Law, which prohibits labor hired abroad to be used here; but the authorities were lax in carrying out the law, and the marble men got the foreign workers at low prices. Paine, the firework man, evades this law by classing his imported carpenters, painters and laborers as artists, and I think that even Mr. Vanderbilt might have been called to account under the law for having hired his $10,000 a year cook on the other side."

"How many workmen of the class I am talking of do you think come over every season?" asked the writer.

On this point none of the delegates seemed to concur. In fact, none of them have means of ascertaining, for it would be next to impossible to learn the number. Delegate Rogers thought that nearly 3,000 men came over each season. President Ashley thought there were less than 1,000, while another delegate thought there were still less. Delegate Rogers evidently based his estimate on the large number of workmen who came over on the National, Inman, and other steamship lines every spring.

Delegate Rogers produced the following document, copy of an affidavit, showing how the contract labor law was violated in 1888 by Messrs. Torrey & Co. He states that although his organization called the attention of the Government to the matter, the latter took no action:

STATE OF NEW YORK.
OFFICE OF COMMISSIONERS OF EMIGRATION,
CASTLE GARDEN, NEW YORK.

S S. Pilade Triscovnia, Enrico Vinchesi, Giovanni Oristi Franzoni (and thirteen others whose names are mentioned, all over age) being duly sworn, deposed: That they are natives of Italy, and arrived at New York April 15, 1888, per steamship Rugia from Hamburg; that they are marble cutters by trade and are going to Boston; that each of them had their passage to this country paid by Carlo Menzhi, agent in Italy of Messrs. Torrey & Co., of Boston, and furthermore each of them received some money for the journey from the same agents; each of them has given a receipt for 300 francs, which amount they are to refund the said Messrs. Torrey & Co. The said agent of Messrs. Torrey & Co. came to one of the deponents, Giovanni Franzoni, and asked him if he could get some twenty stone-cutters to go to America, and he then asked the others if they were willing to go, in which case they would get a pay of at least ten francs (about $2) a day, and more, if they were worth more; the 300 francs were to be refunded in installments of thirty francs a month, to be deducted from their wages, etc. (The signatures of the eighteen Italians imported follow, three of them being unable to write their names.)

Signed and sworn to April 15, 1888.

Patrick J. Kelly, at present treasurer of the Journeymen Stonecutters' Association, said: "Our association found it necessary to keep out the 'harvesters,' or the 'birds of passage,' as they have been called in a Government communication on the subject. We found the fee of $50 did not accomplish this, and we then shut down on them altogether, for our own self-protection, by only admitting citizens. On Wednesday evening, April 30th, we resolved to abrogate this measure, and our books are now open to all-comers for membership, as follows: 'Members of unions in other cities will be admitted by transfer card, without entrance fee, and on paying only the dues of the month in which they are enrolled, that is, fifty cents in any month from May to October, and ten cents in any month from November to April. Non-members will be admitted on a fee of $10, while "harvesters" will have to pay $50 admission. Our wages were reduced by the harvesters about 22½ per cent.'"

"How long do the 'harvesters' generally stay?" asked the writer.

"They come here about March 15th and remain till near Christmas time, and then return to get back either for Christmas or New Year."

William Thompson, an English stone-cutter, who is now a citizen, was seen in one of the yards. He said: "The reason why Britishers and others are able to come across here for the season and live like a lord in the winter in their own country is because they earn as much here in two days as they do on the other side in a week. The wages of a stone-cutter in Manchester and other parts of Lancashire is nine pence (18 cents) an hour, and in Leeds and other Yorkshire towns eight pence (16 cents) an hour. At nine pence an hour, and nine hours work a day, with five hours on Saturdays, the Lancashire stone-cutter makes thirty-seven shillings and six pence a week, which is about $9. Now our wages are $9 for two days work, and we only work eight hours a day. The 'harvesters' can therefore afford their passage, and even take chances on being idle part of the time, and still lay by enough money to live in the old country from New Year till March without working."

The Eight-Hour Day Movement—The Framers' Strike Practically Over.

The diamond framers of New York City were the first to demand the eight-hour day, instead of nine hours, which they had up till April 30th been working. They "struck" on Thursday, May Day, and before the evening had arrived about sixty out of the seventy-five employers had agreed to their terms—namely, eight hours work per diem and forty cents per hour. The number of men working in the framers' shops at present is estimated at over 2,500, and of these about 2,000, mostly working with the German "bosses," have won the fight, practically without a struggle. It is expected that by to-day, the dozen or more employers still holding out will have fallen into line with the majority. The concession gives the men the same pay for eight hours as they previously received for nine.

It is understood that on Monday the carpenters will strike for an eight-hour day. Many of the master carpenters have expected this, but very few of them have made allowance for it in their contracts. The feeling among many of the bosses is that the eight-hour day should be made prospective, so as to give them a chance on their contracts. That is to say, they are not unwilling to grant a reduction of hours, provided they receive three to six months' notice ahead, so that they shall not lose money through having made their contracts on nine-hour day estimates.

It looks as though the labor organizations intend to make a fight all along the line, but it is to be piecemeal, not wholesale. One trade at a time is to go out, and in quick succession.

To what extent building operations will be suspended, postponed or abandoned, owing to reduced hours of labor, cannot at present be anticipated. That it will add considerably to the cost of each building is certain, but how many capitalists and builders will be deterred by this extra cost from building remains to be seen. One east side builder states that he has about fifty buildings in contemplation, but that he will suspend operations until the result of the strikes are known. Other builders speak similarly.

Nearly 100,000 Men Engaged in the Building Trades.

The labor strikes at the present time suggest the query as to how many workmen are engaged in the building trades in New York city. The following estimate, made especially for THE RECORD AND GUIDE by President Ashley of the Board of Delegates of the Building Trades, will be perused with interest:

Bricklayers	3,000	Machine Wood Workers	500
Artificial Stone Masons	450	Marble Cutters	600
Carpenters	8,000	Italian Mosaic Cutters	175
Painters	12,000	Encaustic Tile Layers and Helpers	450
Locksmiths and Railing Makers	500	Engineers on Buildings	150
Framers	3,000	Housesmiths and Helpers	3,000
House Trim Manufacturers, including Cabinet Makers, and Sash, Door and Blind Makers.	4,000	Steamfitters and Helpers	1,000
Varnishers	2,000	Plumbers and Helpers	2,500
Plasterers	3,000	Gasfitters	600
Brown Stone Cutters	3,500	Stairbuilders	750
Granite Cutters and Setters	1,000	Paperhangers	700
Laborers	20,000	Derrickmen	300
Fresco Painters	1,000	Brick Handlers and Material Drivers	2,000
Slate and Metal Roofers	700
Cornice and Skylight Makers	750	Total	76,125
Tin and Sheet Iron Workers	500

"Probably, there is a trade I may have missed," says Mr. Ashley, "and besides these there are quite a number of smaller trades, such as electric house wiremen, and men who work on elevators, etc, whom I have not reckoned, which would probably add up 5,000 more. Also quite a number of men are engaged in the lumber handling, etc., which I can't get at. So you see that there are nearly 100,000 men engaged in connection with building trades. All these trades I have mentioned, with their numbers, are strong unions."

The "Zoo" and West Side Property-owners.

Property-owners on 8th avenue and the side streets on the west side, in the neighborhood selected by the Park Commissioners to harbor the menagerie nuisance objected to by residents on 5th avenue, have commenced active hostilities. This week they appeared by deputation before the commissioners and gave expression to their feelings. In return they received some advice from President Hutchins which may or may not assist them. They were told that the bill under which they are to be inflicted with sounds and odors gathered from the four quarters of the globe in the interests of natural history and the education of the masses, requires that the new Zoological garden be placed in Central Park, and no other site than the one that offends them is suitable. The commissioners said they could not help the complainants, whose only recourse is to go to Albany and get passed an amendment to the obnoxious bill. The advice is candid but somewhat ineffectual, in view of the short time that there is before the Legislature will adjourn. The matter, however, will be again considered by the commissioners at their regular meeting next week.

Charles E. Schuyler Interviewed

OVER $1,000,000 IN SALES THIS YEAR.

[COMMUNICATED.]

East side real estate brokers and agents, with whom it was customary five or six years ago, to refer to the west side in terms more of slight than respect, now realize that the natural advantages of the section have proved a force in favor of its improvement which has overcome all prejudices and misstatements. In addition to that it has been sufficient to overcome such real obstacles as bad roads, a disgracefully-conditioned Boulevard, and unpaved and badly-sidewalked cross streets. Notwithstanding these disadavantages, nearly all of which have since been overcome, capitalists were willing to place their money in lots and builders were ready to risk their fortunes in houses and flats, while the general public have come by the hundreds, and even thousands, to put their money in properties for investment or for their own residence purposes.

It must be added, however, that the day of the west side did not arrive until the best part of the east side was practically completed. The latter section was the first to take hold of the public favor, as far as buildings and street improvements were concerned. The east side had its 5th and Madison avenues and its miles of cross streets brimming with wealth and magnificence long before the first handsome residence or apartment house was built on the west side. And it was only when there was little land left of an eligible character to build high-class residences upon on the east side, and prices of lots were unprofitably high, that builders turned their attention to the long-neglected west side of the city. Even then it was only the more courageous who ventured out of the beaten path; but when it was seen that the pioneers made large profits, and that people were willing to relieve them of their investments at figures which netted them much greater profits than they could have realized on the east side, there was no hesitating decision, and the pioneers found themselves literally swamped by the great rush of builders who transferred their operations to the west side. Everyone seemed anxious to get an early share of the profits, and the east side statistics of building, in place of showing a much larger amount expended between 59th and 125th streets, east of 5th avenue, than between the same streets west of 8th avenue, soon found the tables turned, the preponderating expenditure being in favor of the west side, whereas it had previously been in favor of the east side. The scale is still turning in the same direction, and will remain so as long as the purchasing demand for west side properties continues.

Among the brokers and agents who were the earliest to perceive the coming rise of the west side was Charles E. Schuyler, whose office is the oldest established in that section. Mr. Schuyler now has associated with him Wm. R. Ware, who has charge of his agency department, and who was for many years with the well-known firm of L. J. Carpenter, and A. A. Gibbs, who has charge of his sales department. During the last three or four months Mr. Schuyler's sales have been very numerous and they are an indication of what a large spring business has been done on the west side. I called on Mr. Schuyler to ascertain his views on the future of the west side. He said: "The west side is now firmly established as a great residence centre. It contains some of the finest avenues in the city. The Boulevard, which has for many years been a reproach to us, and justly so, is now on the point of being placed in a first-class condition. It will be paved with asphalt between 59th and 89th streets, a distance of one mile and a half, before the summer is over, and will then be one of the finest avenues, certainly the broadest, in the city. The Boulevard is, in fact, 150 feet wide, which cannot be said of any other thoroughfare in New York. Then take Riverside Drive. To my mind there is no finer avenue for residence purposes in the United States, and it is surprising to me that our wealthy citizens do not take advantage of its superiority for residence purposes by building palatial homes along its entire frontage. From there they could have a superb view of the Palisades for ten or fifteen miles, while the Hudson would wind its course in front of their homes. Every morning when they rose a beautiful land and water view would meet their eyes, and when they opened their windows in the summer the healthgiving water breezes, mingled with the breezes blown over from the hills on the opposite shore, would be an invigorating tonic which they could get in no other section of the city. At present the Drive is taken advantage of by the thousands of riders and drivers who pass into it from the Central Park through 72d street, but it has not yet been largely used for residence purposes. The Vice-President of the Seaboard National Bank, Samuel G Bayne, Augustin Daly, Cyrus Clark, Peter Doelger, James A. Deering and a few other well-known New Yorkers are among the first handful of pioneers on this avenue, while I know of a 40-foot residence which is to be built on the Drive shortly not far from 80th street. Speaking of Riverside as an avenue for driving, it is a coincidence that the route now taken for driving is largely the same as that which Washington and his contemporaries used to take over one hundred years ago, Riverside Drive forming part of this route. The old drive used to be up Bloomingdale road, along Riverside and up to Claremont and back. Then there is West End avenue, which to my mind is one of the handsomest residence thoroughfares in the city at this moment. I can only illustrate my faith in what I say by telling you that I have bought my own home on that avenue. Its handsome architecture, the fine interiors of its houses, the wealth of its residents, its first-class asphalt pavement, and last, but not least, its double rows of trees and grass plots, not to speak of its restricted character, will always make it, next to Riverside, the most exclusive and desirable residence avenue on the west side."

Continuing, Mr. Schuyler said: "I consider the entire section on the west side, between 64th and 104th streets, better adapted for residence purposes than any other part of New York because it is freer from stables, factories, cold water tenements and other permanent improvements of an objectionable character than any other section. In that entire territory there are not over half-a-dozen large livery stables and only one factory that I know of, this being one for the manufacture of silk, which is hardly of an objectionable character. On the other hand it has the best drainage and is on high ground; in fact the lowest ground in that section is higher than Murray Hill."

"What do you think of the section north of 104th street and south of 125th street?" asked the writer.

"I think it has a good future," was Mr. Schuyler's reply. "It is now largely owned by first-class people, among whom are the Astors, Goelets and Schermerhorns, and it only needs better rapid transit to make it an easily accessible, select, and, to a large extent, restricted residence locality."

"What kind of rapid transit do you favor?"

"I think," said Mr. Schuyler, "an open cut along the Boulevard would be of value. It would not hurt that thoroughfare, because it is destined to be an avenue of flats, stores and churches. Speaking of churches, I may add that the west side can now boast of some of the handsomest and prettiest in the city. Among these are the Bloomingdale Reformed Dutch, All Angels', Christ Church, Rutgers Riverside Presbyterian, and others, while the new church for the Trinity corporation will soon be added to the list, not to speak of the prospective Cathedral. The character and construction of our west side buildings is, on the whole, superior in comparison to that of any other section. We have still some building relics of days gone by, among these being the Van Den Huival house, on the Boulevard and 79th street, and the Paletiah Perritt house, the foundations of which still exist, which once was surrounded by the block bounded by 74th and 75th streets, West End and Riverside avenues, since largely improved by W. E. D. Stokes and others. Then there is the old Apthorpe house, between 90th and 91st streets, 9th and 10th avenues, and the Livingston Manor, at Riverside Drive and 90th street, now occupied by Cyrus Clark, and Claremont House, at Grant's Tomb, Riverside Drive. But these will all have to give way soon to the march of modern improvements." OBSERVER.

Coming Auction Sales of Yonkers Property.

Within the next week or two a number of important auction sales of Yonkers property are announced, which taken together with sales at private contract indicates that there is quite a movement in real estate just north of the city limits. On Tuesday, May 6th, three of these sales will be conducted by Richard V. Harnett & Co. One hundred and fifty well-situated lots and four dwellings, the property of Cyrus Cleveland, will be sold on that date. They are situated on Elm, Garnet, Cliff, Cedar, Alder, and Spruce streets, and 80 per cent. of the purchase money may remain on bond and mortgage at five per cent., and the titles are guaranteed by the Title Guarantee and Trust Co. Other property of Cyrus Cleveland, consisting of twelve lots on Riverdale avenue, between Downing and Ludlow streets, will be sold. A plot, 100x207.10, belonging to William H. Thorne, with a residence thereon on High street, and a dwelling on a lot 55x101, No. 32 Irving place, will also be offered.

On the same date forty lots, the property of John T. Waring, situated on Nepperhan and Lake avenues and Nepperhan place, will be sold. The title is guaranteed by the Lawyers' Title Insurance Co., and eighty per cent. of the purchase money may remain on bond and mortgage. Other sales of Yonkers property are announced in our real estate columns.

The Astor Sales.

We are enabled to state, on the best authority, that the sale of some property recently by William Waldorf Astor, does not indicate a change in the policy of the estate. It was merely the result of a decision to dispose of odds and ends that the estate did not particularly desire to retain. They were quietly placed in the hands of George R. Read, of Pine street, and disposed of at prices which were considered satisfactory by the estate. These properties are mostly in the 7th, 8th, 11th and 12th Wards, some of them being on Water and Monroe streets. One transfer appears in the conveyances this week, namely, Nos. 394 and 396 Bowery and No. 32 Lafayette place, sold to R. F. Pettit for Mayer Kahn in exchange. Other parcels sold will be taken title to next week, and others in succeeding weeks until about the middle of June, and the total amount of these parcels will be between $1,000,000 and $1,200,000. The balance of the estate will be kept intact.

The statement made that Mr. W. W. Astor is bound by the will of his father not to sell any property is refuted by the sales of the properties referred to. Not only that, but it is understood that Mr. Astor is absolutely unshackled by any provisions of the will, and has complete and absolute disposal of the entire estate.

A reporter of THE RECORD AND GUIDE called on George R. Read, who made a statement to the same effect. "There is no mystery about it," said Mr. Read, decisively. "The parcels which have been sold were out-lying pieces, situated at some distance from the bulk of the Astor property; consequently it was difficult to take care of them, and their sale was simply the outcome of a desire to concentrate the interests of the estate to property homogeneous in character and central in situation."

A Correction.

The architect of the Fifth Avenue apartment house, a picture of which is given in the east side supplement in this number, is Mr. Frank Wennemer and not Fred Wennemer.

Real Estate Exchange Matters.

The Legislative Committee held its regular meeting on Tuesday at 3:30 P. M. After the reading of the minutes, the chairman called on Mr. Richard V. Harnett for a report from the Committee on Rapid Transit. That gentleman stated that the committee simply reported progress, as they had been unable to hold a meeting for lack of a quorum. Mr. Harnett said, however, that he wished to present a resolution favoring the amended Fassett Rapid Transit bill, which passed the Assembly on Monday evening, and that they would introduce it by permission of those present as soon as they heard whether or not the Senate had taken action on the bill.

Senate bill No. 631, which provides for an official search by the Comptroller, as to all arrears due on property at $1.50 for each lot searched, such search to constitute a guarantee that the property is free and clear of all encumbrances, was read.

Richard Deeves, in introducing a motion approving of the bill, said: "I think this is a very worthy bill, and we ought to indorse it."

After some discussion as to the exact provisions of the bill, Sinclair Myers moved an amendment to refer it to an appropriate committee, giving as his reason for so doing the seeming ignorance of those present as to exactly what the bill meant.

A. E. Marling asked whether the bill under consideration was the same one referred to in the editorial columns of THE RECORD AND GUIDE some weeks ago, and against whose passage protests had been made by many of the daily newspapers. Mr. Marling said he thought the committee should hesitate to indorse the bill, and he was therefore in favor of reference to a committee. Mr. Deeves, replying, said: "As I understand it, owners now make searches which may or may not be accurate, and which are entirely irresponsible, while for the search proposed in the bill, to be made under the supervision of the Comptroller, that official would be held directly responsible and owners would be freed from any further liability for water rents, etc., prior to the search. The cost, also, I believe, is very much less than under the present system. I oppose a reference to a committee, as we could not hear from the committee in time, and the Legislature shortly adjourns."

Mr. Myers' amendment was then withdrawn, and the motion expressing approval of the bill passed without a dissenting voice.

Mr. Deeves, who had charge of the Rapit Transit Committee's resolution said, in introducing it: "Rapid transit matters are now in such a state that it will take very little to knock them over." The resolution, as amended, read: "That this Legislative Committee recommend and earnestly urge the State Senate to pass the Rapid Transit bill, known as the Fassett bill, as passed by the Assembly, and that a communication to that effect be sent to the presiding officer of the State Senate." The resolution was passed unanimously.

In conversation with a reporter for THE RECORD AND GUIDE, Mr. Deeves said, in regard to the bill providing for an official search in the Comptroller's Office: "As to the charge of $1.50 for each search, let me say that the Exchange does not approve of the details of this bill, but only the principle involved. The Legislature will attend to the details."

Our Letter-Bag.—The Failures of Builders.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

In a recent issue you pointed out some dangerous symptoms in the building trade without then suggesting a remedy. Building, it may be remarked, is an extra hazardous business, for almost all builders fail sooner or later. This should not be so. Making buildings should be at least as safe as making shoes. Why is it otherwise? The reasons are worth looking into.

First—The speculative prices at which vacant lots are held make it hard for the builder to buy lots and realize a profit so as to "get out" whole. If he pay more for a part of his raw material—the land—than it is worth for use, his product costs too much. It is well known that the increase of value attaches only to the land, and not to the house, which can usually be copied at about the same cost. The builder and the landlord both hope to make a profit by the advance in the land; but the increase obtains only as to a part of the article the builder has to sell.

Second—The necessity of putting up houses on his lots which are, or look, better than the neighborhood demands, in order to keep a fair proportion between the value of the house and the site. This leads to showy, bad work.

Third—The pressing necessity to speculate himself in order to get lots to build on—that is, a place to work at his trade—which makes him more and more reckless.

Fourth—The facility which our conditions give to a small capitalist for obtaining the use of money and credit, which multiplies the number of his competitors. Having got this credit he is forced to sell at any price at once, or to take up new and larger enterprises in order to pay back debts. To stop is ruin.

What can be done to cure these evils? Are they merely a part of our industrial system? Can no one except a monopolist, a genius, a landowner, or some one specially favored by the laws get rich without particularly good fortune? In other words, is there anything in our laws or business methods specially hard on the home-maker?

At present our tax law is carried out, as recently shown in THE RECORD AND GUIDE, in this way. For instance, a New York builder buys six lots at 93d street West for $10,000, each assessed for the purpose of taxation at 40 per cent., the average for vacant lots, or $4,000 each; the tax of 2 per cent. equals $80 each. He builds flats on them, costing for material and labor $17,000 apiece; total, $27,000 per house. On this he puts a profit of 10 per cent., which makes the selling price $30,000 in round numbers. Now, our benign assessor values the whole for taxation at 55 per cent., the usual rate for improved property—that is, $16,500 each house; and we tax each house 2 per cent.—that is, $330. The result is a fine for furnishing homes to a dozen families of $250 a house, or $1,500 for the six—nearly 10 per cent. of his longed-for profit. Even if he is lucky and sells before the tax becomes a lien, it is considered in and practically deducted from the price he can get; but generally he trades it off, and, having succeeded in that quarter, he wants to buy the next lot. He offers to take those two at $10,000 each. Oh, no! the improvements in the street (fine neighborhood now), his own and others, have raised the price to $12,000, or 20 per cent. gross advance on the speculator's vacant land, and 7 per cent. on our apartment house. Either he must pay this extra $2,000 or make a new experiment.

To help the builder, then, we must make it profitable to build such houses as the street demands; we must relieve the projector of over-stimulated competition, and check the speculation in vacant land without checking needed improvement. Now, were the tax based, not on the value of the land and the building, but on the rental value of the land alone, raised as this rises and lowered as this falls, the taxes on vacant lands would be larger and on dwellings smaller. The people, instead of the landlord, would get part of that profit which the landlord now gets without having earned it. There would be little inducement to hold land vacant if it could be used, as the owner would have to pay just as much as if it were used; therefore the strong tendency would be to rent out every lot for something, if only for a pasture or a playground. This would check the speculator, who, while he has an economic use in merchandising, is an admitted evil in land-owning, and would take off the fine for improvements. Such a tax would at the same time greatly increase the number of small, cheap buildings in the outskirts of the city, develop the suburbs by the building of temporary houses, and also make it more profitable to put good buildings on space which is greatly needed. The increase of building would keep material men immensely busy, would reduce rents and make it cheaper for the workingman to live.

As the profit in buying land and selling it with a loan would be greatly reduced, operators would be much more careful of their risks and the present overproduction would be checked. The prosperity and growth of the city would be tremendously increased. Buildings would be finest, largest and most expensive on the most central streets, and would be poorer and smaller, in a fairly regular degree, according to their distance from the centres. All this would be done without making it any less profitable to own good houses, as the amount added to the tax on rental values of the land would be deducted from the tax on the building. The remedy seems simple; is it not worth trying? The editor is not responsible for this plan, but if any one has a better one which is practicable, or sees why this will not work, he will doubtless be glad to hear of it.

BOLTON HALL.

We cannot agree with Mr. Hall that building is an "extra hazardous" business, or even that, assuming, as he says, that erecting houses is not as safe as making shoes, that his proposed remedy would be an improvement on the present methods of taxation. In the first case it has been calculated that of all business enterprises some 95 per cent. terminate in failure. This percentage, so far as we know, has not been disputed, and it would be incumbent on Mr. Hall to show that the proportion was larger among builders than among the average of business men, before his statement that building is an "extra hazardous" business could be justified. The "dangerous symptoms" which we pointed out a couple of weeks back had not the general significance which Mr. Hall has given them; they are characteristic of the market at the present time; but with a little prudence on the part of builders and building loan operators, and a little sense on the part of our legislators they would speedily disappear. Consequently, without going into a protracted argument over details, it is only sufficient to say that we can see but little in the first three causes which Mr. Hall enumerates. To the fourth, viz., the facility with which a builder can obtain large credits on little or no capital, is doubtless largely due much of the present over-production, but the abuse can be easily remedied.

Like Mr. Hall we think it wrong that vacant lots should not be taxed at the same rate as improved property; but, unlike him, we believe that the burden falls ultimately not on the builder but on the consumer. It may, indeed, tend to discourage operators with small capitals, but in the long run Mr. Hall may rest assured that no taxes come out of the pockets of the builder, they simply form a part of his necessary expenses, to be placed in the same category as fire insurance. As to Mr. Hall's proposition to tax the "rental value of the land alone," we leave it to stand upon its own merits. It is sufficient to say that a reform which will at once increase building, check over-production and reduce rents without reducing taxation is worthy of some attention, if only from the eyes of the curious. But we should like to know how Mr. Hall's "rental value" of land is to be determined.

Real Estate Department.

There is little new to say concerning the market this week. At private contract sales have been rather hard to close, especially where the property in negotiation has been situated up town.

The official filings disclose the sale and transfer of many valuable properties which have not been previously reported. Among these are sixteen lots on Lenox avenue, between and on 116th and 117th streets, which formed part of the Sherwood estate; about fifty lots on the east and west side of Lenox avenue and 137th, 138th and 139th streets, sold to speculator Herman Wronkow, and subsequently traded by him to Charles E. Runk for a dwelling on Central Park West, near 85th street, and three flats on the southeast corner of 7th avenue and 127th street. The figures on all the foregoing have not been made public. Great secrecy has also been the rule on the improved properties transferred. The Sherwood corner of 5th avenue and 44th street, sold to Charles F. Havemeyer, and Nos. 74 and 76 Cortlandt street to Solomon Loeb, are cases in point.

The leading building loan operators continue to purchase and resell with loans, which indicates they have confidence in the market.

The attendance on 'Change the past few weeks on the fine days when attractive properties have been advertised has been large. The composition of the crowds, however, has been unsatisfactory, as most of the auctioneers can testify. Few of those present were real buyers, the majority being there "to see how things went." In many instances property has been bid in for the owner's account, because buyers have failed to appreciate what the owners considered the fair value of the parcels put up. In some cases, however, the failure of the sales has been due largely to insufficient advertising. Only a small amount is set aside by owners, and auctioneers are expected with this sum to get out posters and advertise in the proper newspapers. This, of course, they cannot do unless a fair appropriation is made.

During the next few weeks an unusually large number of suburban parcels are to be sold at auction. A great deal of this property is in Westchester County.

Last Saturday H. C. Mapes & Co. sold thirty-two lots and the Adee mansion, at Westchester, N. Y., for a total of $13,560. These lots were sold for account of Andrew Donahoe, and several hundred dollars less was realized at Saturday's sale than Mr. Donahoe bid for the same lots last October. Owing to the storm the sale was poorly attended. There were about five purchasers, mostly residents of Westchester. Some of the lots have been resold at an advance since the sale, and offers showing profits have been made for others.

On Monday but little business was transacted on 'Change. An executor's sale to close the estate of E. M. Attwater resulted in the sale to Joseph Laemmle of No. 105 Macdougal street and 13 Minnetta lane for $23,700, and a plot, 100x200, on Woodruff avenue, between Prospect and Franklin avenues, for $10,100. By order of the executors of Philip Malone No. 411 West 16th street was sold to Herman Kreisch for $21,500. About sixty-eight lots on 181st street, Northern avenue and the Hudson River, belonging to the same estate, were bid in by C. Cronkright at $20,000.

On Tuesday a very large list of property was presented, more in fact than was crowded into all the other days of the week put together. The attendance was large, but the crowd contained few real buyers, most of those competing being the men regularly seen on 'Change. The sales on the whole were not satisfactory, as many of the best parcels put up were bid in for the account of owners. An executor's sale of the estate of Nelson Duckworth resulted in the purchase by Francis H. Leggett, the grocer, of Nos. 3 and 5 Congress street, between West Houston and King streets, for $26,700. The first bid was $12,000. Nos. 29½, 31 and 33 Thompson street were sold to A. D. Nooney for $24,000. No. 141 East 19th street, west of 3d avenue, was sold to John J. Matthews for $18,700. Thos. C. Smith purchased for Henry L. Hoguet, President of the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank, No. 350 East 125th street for $11,500. Mr. Hoguet owns the corner adjoining. Under a foreclosure decree the block front on west side of 1st avenue, between 29th and 30th streets, 197.6 on avenue by 182.4 on 29th street by 125 feet on 30th street, being a brewery, stables, malthouse, etc., sold to S. Rosenwald for $215,000. The amount due was $176,847. Nos. 134 to 138 Avenue D and Nos. 454 and 456 10th street sold under similar circumstances to the plaintiff for $114,050, as against $87,545 due thereon. The four avenue houses on the southwest corner of 93d street and 1st avenue were sold to the Bradley & Currier Company for $72,050, as against $78,873 due on the four avenue and one street house which was withdrawn. The Avenue D and 1st avenue tenements belonged to the late Henry Muldoon, builder.

On Wednesday the partition sale of the Solomon estate was adjourned to May 28th. The only sale held was that of twenty-four and a-half acres and a stone residence at Throgg's Neck. This sale, it appears, was brought to close a partition suit which had been commenced. It started at $15,000 and rose to about $21,000, at which figure it was knocked down. It turned out, however, that the purchaser was a party in interest who did not have the necessary 10 per cent. On the resale it was knocked down to C. F. Rime, one of the parties in interest, for $16,400.

On Thursday the sale postponed from Monday was still further adjourned for a week.

On Friday all the sales were of a legal character. Under foreclosure, a large plot with frontages on Columbia, Madison and Monroe avenues and Kingsbridge road sold to Wm. Steinway for the Astoria Homestead Company at $40,000. The house on this plot is of fine construction, and is reported to have cost $40,000 to build, leaving out of consideration the land on which it is built. It was occupied by F. Grote, the ivory goods manufacturer, who failed recently. To satisfy mortgages of $36,337 and interest. No. 20 East 32d street, east of 5th avenue, was sold to Geo. H. Purser, Jr., for $36,800.

On Monday, May 5th, James L. Wells will sell sixty lots on Hull and Decatur avenues, in the 24th Ward.

On Tuesday, May 6th, Peter F. Meyer will sell the valuable property Nos. 80, 82, 84 and 86 Vesey and 209 Washington street, being the northeast corner of those streets. There are four four-story brick buildings on the plot, which has a frontage on Vesey street of 77.3 feet and on Washington street of 53 feet x 96.2½ on the north line and 49.11 on the east line. The sale is by order of the Supreme Court, in partition, and will be absolute. The annual rental is $13,400, and all the tenants pay Croton water charges and make interior repairs. It seldom happens that such a choice corner is offered under the hammer.

On Tuesday, May 6th, John F. B. Smyth will sell a plot containing 5,454 square feet, on the north side of Manhattan avenue, about 283 feet west of 9th avenue; a five-story brick double flat, 25x80x100, No. 2252 7th avenue, and by order of the executors the four-story brown stone dwelling No. 136 East 29th street.

On Wednesday, May 7th, John F. B. Smyth will sell two brick dwellings, lots 20x97.8, Nos. 246 and 248 Monroe street; the four five-story brown stone double flats, 25x about 83x100.11 each, Nos. 262, 264, 266 and 268 West 123d street; four lots, 44x112.6 each, two on Daly avenue, running through to two on Honeywell avenue, near Tremont avenue; the four-story brown stone dwelling, lot 20x100.5, No. 62 East 66th street, and the three-story brick and brown stone dwelling, lot 20x100, No. 139 West 94th street.

On Wednesday, May 7th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell a plot 84x300, 33.22 south of the proposed continuation of Denman place, in the 23d Ward; the five-story brick double tenement, No. 619 West 46th street, and the five-story brick double tenement, 25x72x102.2, No. 486 East 74th street.

On Thursday, May 8th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell the two five-story brick double tenements, 25x85x98.9, Nos. 337 and 339 East 24th street and the five-story brick and brown stone flat, Nos. 203 and 205 East 124th street.

On Thursday, May 8th, Smyth & Ryan will sell 121 villa sites and two Queen Anne cottages at Larchmont Manor, Westchester County, N. Y. These lots are situated on Beech, Kane, Woodbine, Oak, St. Clare and Loretto avenues. The title is guaranteed and 50 per cent. of the purchase money can remain on bond and mortgage. The property is sold under certain restrictions, and the situation has many residential advantages.

On Monday, May 12th, James L. Wells will sell 140 select lots in Bedford Park.

On Wednesday, May 14th, at 11 A. M., on the grounds, Taylor & Fox will sell 1,100 lots in the 26th Ward of the City of Brooklyn, on New Lots road, Linwood, Elton and other streets. An advertisement of this sale with full particulars will be found on another page.

Wells will sell the four-story brown stone dwelling, 17x50x99.11, No. 212 West 142d street; the two five-story brick double flats, 25x60x100 each, Nos. 21 and 23 East 114th street, and two handsome plots at Yonkers, on the north side of Roberts avenue, between Park and Bellevue avenues, containing respectively twenty-two and twenty-six lots.

On Thursday, May 15th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell, by order of the executors, to close the estate of Paul A. Oliver, deceased, 163 lots and 6¾ acres of water front land and land under water, with riparian right, situated at Fort Hamilton, on the Shore road, Marine road, 1st, 2d and 3d avenues, 91st, 92d, 93d and Oliver streets. There is a three-story frame dwelling, 30x40, on the property. It commands a view of the Narrows, New York Bay, and New York City, and is within 45 minutes of New York via the 39th Street Ferry and Bay Ridge boat. The title is guaranteed by the Lawyers' Title Insurance Co., and 60 per cent. of the purchase money can remain on bond and mortgage.

On Tuesday, May 20th, H. C. Mapes & Co. will sell, to close the estate of the late Charlton Ferris, over 112 acres of land with improvements thereon at Throgg's Neck, Westchester, N. Y. Taber, C. P. Huntington and John A. Morris. The title is perfect, and the terms are easy.

How to Draw a Contract.

An invaluable work for all dealers in realty is found in "The Guide to Buyers and Sellers of Real Estate," by Counsellor Geo. W. Van Siclen. This pamphlet, of only fifty-six pages, offers a complete solution of all the complicated questions that arise in drawing contracts. It discusses questions of titles, liens, curtesy and dower rights, deeds, searches, etc., and contains forms of contracts and judicial decisions which, with other general information, will go far towards making every man his own lawyer. It tells all about fixtures, assumption of mortgages, apportionment of rents, description of property, terms of payment, damages for failure to carry out contracts, information on setting aside contracts for mistake or fraud, and forms of deeds. Published by THE RECORD AND GUIDE, 191 Broadway. Price 50 cents.

Bound Volumes of the Record and Guide.

Subscribers and others can purchase at this office years 1887 and 1888 of THE RECORD AND GUIDE, handsomely bound in half morocco. This is a rare chance for real estate men who cannot afford to wait while their RECORDS are being bound. Volume XLIII., the first half of 1889, or any other single volume in 1888 or 1889, can be had for $4.75 per volume, or $9.50 per year.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

[For prices see pages XIII., XIV., XV. and XVII.]

Although up to the present writing no general outbreak of labor difficulties has developed, the fear of it has proven a more or less potent factor upon the market for material and temporarily reduced the line of purchasing. Builders and contractors generally, not knowing exactly how their men were about to act, naturally felt adverse to handling more stuff than might be necessary to last them the week out, and this in turn found reflection in the action of dealers who, wherever it was possible, preferred depending upon accumulations on hand to meet the requirements of current trade and make a few renewals from first hand offerings as circumstances would admit. There seems to be an impression that the building trade will not encounter as serious combat with labor as has in some instances been suggested, but the hope is, that whatever it may be will come quickly and reach a prompt settlement.

BRICKS,—Another generally unsatisfactory week's business has been encountered on the market for Common Hards. Supplies were large and continuous, the demand only fair, and on the great bulk of the offering the inferiority of condition kept the advantage entirely on the side of the buyer, and worse still without inciting sufficient confidence to induce investment to any extent against the chances for future wants. Nice, smooth and attractive stock has stood up very well to last week's rates, the upper line of value ranging at about $7.00@7.37½ and even $7.50 per M. in exceptional cases, but when it struck the washed, either as a part or whole cargo, it became a mere contest of shrewdness between buyer and seller to fix the rate, and the latter, as a rule, had to succumb. A great deal of stuff has sold from $6 downward, that on a quick market would have come much nearer the upper line of prices, but as matters stood there appeared to be no good business tactics in holding, and receivers, no doubt, wisely disposed of cargoes whenever they found an opportunity. The meagre and cautious character of the inquiry in the face of prevailing generally good weather may be to a considerable extent traced to the fear of labor troubles to come, and has led contractors and dealers to draw upon their stacks rather than make fresh investment on the uncertainty. The inquiry is said to have been full enough to take off the better qualities reasonably close, but of poor stuff there is considerable left over, and with more expected the accumulation cannot run down much unless demand improves. Pales have in a few exceptional cases reached $3.50 per M, but the more general range was $2.75@3.25, with trade slow. The advices from points of production indicate good steady progress with the manufacture of the new stock; indeed, matters are even somewhat more forward than recently predicted, a cargo of new brick having put in an appearance from New Jersey, and one would in all probability have come to hand from the Hudson River had a vessel been ready for shipment. It is quite likely, therefore, the middle of the month will find the new season fully opened.

LATH.—Receivers of lath have had frequent experience, that in the midst of a boom they are in danger and it has come to them again this week with considerable force. It was not a very good juncture to expect any great amount of demand in view of the supposed impending labor troubles, making consumers and dealers alike cautious, and with one of those familiar "unexpected" heavy arrivals the market found a load it could not conveniently carry, and concessions to sell became a necessity. The settling off was at first gradual, but eventually a little more rapid until $2.25 per M on slab stock was reached. By that time surplus accumulation had become worked off however, and at the close the tone is somewhat stronger with $2.35 generally asked, and offering indifferent. Indeed, buyers do not object very greatly to cost at about the figures now ruling, and seem fairly willing to go ahead to the extent of any ordinary want that may appear to be indicated, especially when they consider that at the difference in freight rates lath are now about as cheap as they were at this time last year. Some 600,000 to 700,000 Northern lath sold this week.

LIME.—It is impossible to draw out any really new suggestions from operators on this market. Coastwise arrivals have continued moderate, and the State makers have sent in no more stock than they could help, but the supply was at all times ample, and really a little more than required by the current run of demand. On prices there is simply no change nor likely to be until after the meeting of the Eastern Association next month at least, and possibly not then, as the idea now is that the "combine" will be renewed for another year.

LUMBER.—There has been practically the same general line of suggestions as last week. Operators of course do not all secure trade alike, and as the volume of business fluctuates there is complaint or commendation, as the case may be, but running up an average for this and the adjoining cities there is unquestionably a steady gain both in the distributive deal and in the call to fill out and keep up assortments. On pretty much all staple descriptions of lumber a well-sustained line of value may be noted, and, as a rule, without evidence that any early reaction is to be counted among the probabilities, yet on the other hand it looks as though all stimulating features had become pretty thoroughly discounted and further advances must be of an exceptional character. Soliciting trade on behalf of manufacturers continues with more or less freedom, but, as a rule, in better form than last year, and as soon as an agent commences to feel a little lonesome here he promptly starts out for some other field, most frequently to the eastward.

Eastern Spruce must be considered as less uniformly firm than earlier in the season, though on the general market advantages remain with the seller for all first-class and attractive specifications. Cutting has not yet been of sufficient magnitude to make an accumulation, and in many cases the mills are still away behind on special orders, with little or no improvement in the shipping facilities. On the other hand, however, the demand continues one of necessity only, dealers point blank refusing to negotiate upon anything they cannot see early assured use for, and the majority hoping for the good time coming when it shall be their duty to dictate terms. If they ever do get that opportunity they will crowd matters pretty hard to make a good average against the opening of the season. The combination of yard dealers after continuous trial has proven its efficacy and kept business in healthy condition. Notwithstanding the increased cost of cargoes there has as yet been no corresponding addition to the distributive rates, and possibly may be none until the limit fixed for present figures expires some time next month. This is not only thoroughly honest policy with custom, but seems good business, as any strain on cost might divert considerable trade to other woods, and by the time mentioned there may be a chance to judge more clearly regarding the probable supply of spruce. The comparatively full arrivals during April indicate that transportation can be obtained on a pinch, and there is likely to be more than less freight room with the open weather and at ruling rates.

Piling is probably finding a somewhat less pointed and anxious demand as the full amounts secured during the forepart of the season have made many buyers feel reasonably secure against wants for a few weeks to come at all events. Receivers in the meanwhile are cheerful and confident and contend that the interference with deliveries this spring will act as a support to the market the season through.

Hemlock confirms about all the favorable suggestions we have from time to time made in regard to the general prospects of the market, and the current tone is firm. Even the chronic tendency to deprecate extreme valuations seems to have become in a measure cured and the admission of advantages enjoyed by sellers who can tender first-class stock is of a comparatively universal character. The removal of offerings of the State product, while it may act as a poise against further advance, is not calculated upon as a factor likely to cut down the line of cost in any way.

White Pine is not likely to obtain much of a boom through unusual demand, and if sellers secure any advantages at all it will come upon the evidence of positive reduced offerings and a modification of the effort to secure custom. Not that pressure to realize has pronounced form, but there always appears to be quite as much stock available as can well be taken care of, and frequently a few new agents bobbing up who imagine they can produce some fresh wrinkle on the already well-worked field, so that about all buyers have to do is to bide their time and satisfy wants without much difficulty. Some of the travelers have already commenced swinging around the circle of outside markets and, it is said, obtained some fair orders. The export movement is keeping up very well.

Yellow Pine retains a firm market all along the line, the distributive rates securing support without difficulty, and cargo cost rather inclined to harden if anything; in fact, for that matter, the tendency is positive where buyers want any extra favors in the matter of deliveries, cut, etc. Demand seems to have been somewhat irregularly divided of late, some operators complaining of a slight falling off, others of a gain; but average is quite as full or possibly increasing somewhat with a number of deals making for rail delivery in small lots, as wanted for yard stocks. There has also been quite a little increase of orders booked from Eastern points.

Carolina Pine, kiln dried, dressed stock and rough boards find a continued good demand, and when the local call slacks up occasionally, other points it is claimed can be depended upon to take all there may be to offer at former rates. Timber, too, is spoken quite as well of as formerly, and is retaining a great deal more than the average favor this season, but danger exists that manufacturers may overdo matters, as any change in the position of spruce calculated to reduce its cost must at once find reflection upon the Southern timber.

Hardwoods from the tenor of current reports are in good form all along the line, and seems hardly necessary to make any special distinction. Of course some of the leading descriptions, such as poplar and quarter sawed oak, sell with a great deal more freedom than the bulk of the supply, but all varieties retain their ordinary relative proportion in the movement, and are commanding a steady satisfactory run of prices. Walnut is the most seriously neglected on home account, but retains the interest of foreign trade when carefully selected. From some of the primary points the offering comes with slight pressure, but generally manufacturers show no special anxiety.

The exports of lumber, exclusive of hardwoods, from the port of New York during the month of April were as follows:

	1890. Feet.	1889. Feet.
To West Indies	3,752,000	2,263,000
To South America	1,768,000	4,325,000

To Europe	36,000	57,000
Total feet	7,128,000	8,079,000
Previously reported	23,250,000	22,466,000
Total since Jan. 1	30,378,000	30,545,000

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

The Northwestern Lumberman as follows:

Throughout the country there is good deal of lumber moving, enough, surely, to show that there would be an unusually active trade this year, if there were peace in labor ranks. Lumbermen were confident of demand and prices at the outset of the season, and all conditions were promising. There was prospect of a large amount of building in the cities, and manufacturing seemed to have entered on a period of great prosperity. Even now, with labor troubles present and ahead, there is a strong movement of mill product, both in soft and hard woods, that denotes meagreness of supplies at consuming points, and an eagerness to get stocks forward to meet a large consumptive requirement.

The shipments of pine from lake points since the opening of navigation have been so active as to go far toward clearing off the stocks that had been carried through the winter, and were considered somewhat of a menace to spring prices. A large amount of lumber has been bought on Lakes Michigan and Superior to go east, and the prices that have been paid for it have put western dealers out of the market in several instances. Indeed, the eastern demand seems to be rather stronger than the western this year; at least, there is an unusual activity of eastern buyers at lake points. Dealers in this city are shipping considerable lumber eastward, the demand in Pennsylvania showing particularly large proportion. Probably the shortage of hemlock and the firm prices for it prevailing in that state have tended to stimulate the demand for western pine.

All over the country the hardwood trade was never in a better condition. Consumption last year was unprecedented, and accumulated stocks were drawn upon during the winter to an extraordinary extent. On the opening of spring it was found that there was almost a scarcity of the different kinds of oak, a short supply of ash, and a positive dearth of cherry. The limitation of supply was rendered doubly conspicuous by the excessively wet weather in the Ohio and Mississippi river valleys, and in Arkansas, which greatly hindered the handling of logs and lumber. At the present time hardwoods are in active request, and prices on the better grades of dry lumber are very firm.

It was thought in March that the high tides in West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee rivers would carry so many poplar logs to the mills that the result would be depressing to the market. But thus far prices have been well maintained, especially on the better grades, and the demand is equal to the supply. The poplar trade seems to have reached such a steadfast footing that causes which once would have broken down the market now have but little effect on it.

The Mississippi Valley Lumberman as follows upon log prospects on the big river:

The reports from the tributaries are to the effect that driving is now general on most of the streams with circumstances all favorable to the rapid and uninterrupted moving of the crop. The ice is not all out of the lakes, but the streams are generally open, and driving crews are employed at all points in getting the logs under way while the stage of water is so satisfactory as at present. If the present status of affairs continues a few days longer most of the logs now on the lower streams will get into the main Mississippi without delay or loss and be in the booms at Minneapolis prior to the 10th of May. The main drive started at Brainerd Monday with a good stage of water in the river. The Crow Wing is now open and it was expected that the front drive would pass into the Mississippi Wednesday. The break-up is so slow in the north that if water is plenty the logs will get down in good shape for the use of the mills, and no apprehension is now felt in regard to water.

The Timberman as follows upon the Chicago cargo market:

Several cargoes have been sold on the market during the past week, but they are mostly made up of culls and the clearings up around the mills. Little straight stock has been received, and it has all been last year's cut, except perhaps a little green piece stuff, which has found ready sale. Short piece stuff goes at $10 for green and $10.50 for dry. Buyers are disposed to hang back for lower prices, but manufacturers are firm, and are able to get their price, in spite of light business. Cull piece stuff is not selling at figures reported last week, the prices now ranging from $6.50 to $7. Some hemlock has come in, and is quite strong at $7 50 to $8. An exceptionally fine cargo the first of the week, contains a good deal of 2x12 and long lengths, of which there is a scarcity just now, was held at $8.25, but sold at a little less than that figure.

And upon the yard trade as follows:

There is a growing sentiment among dealers, however, that prices on the market for the product will drop before very long. The first cargoes are usually taken by the local retailers and those down along the canal. But this year their trade is so light they are not buying, and wholesalers are taking only what they are obliged to, in the hopes that the manufacturers will come to their terms. But it may be noted that lumber is being held very stiff at the mill, at an advance in some cases of $3 and $4 a thousand over closing prices last season. This applies to good lumber, but it is true to a certain extent of all grades.

Out of the yards prices on common lumber may be said to be as unsettled as ever, but on good stock they are firmly held. One of the features of the past week is the sudden development of a scarcity of two inch B selects. All B selects are scarce, but a firm that was looking for 2-inch the other day could find it at only two places in the city, and at these the stock was held at $34 and $34.50. Three weeks ago plenty of the same material could be secured at $31. Considerable of this stock is wanted in the oil regions to construct tanks.

Scarcely any two dealers in this city agree as to the present status of the hardwood trade. A firm on one side of the street will claim it has all it can do, and that its city trade is good in spite of the strike while one just across the way reports hardly any local business, and that it is laying off some of its yard force because there is nothing for the men to do. The slackness of work in the yards, however, is due as much to the fact that very little lumber is coming as to any other cause

METALS.—Copper—Ingot has found a generally good market with a stiffening tendency on value. Delivery on contract continues to absorb a goodly portion of the supply as it becomes available, and whatever may be left over finds a waiting demand. The syndicate stock is firmly held, production moderate and well under control, and buyers evidently understand the necessity for prompt, full bids. As we close it leaks out that in a quiet way a heavy deal has been made involving 7,500,000 lbs. ingot taken by consumers from supplies held by bankers, and enough in outside lots to make a total movement of ten million lbs., giving increased strength to the position at advanced values. Quotations are generally placed at 14½@14⅝c. for Lake and 12½@13¼c. for casting brands. Manufactured Copper has been somewhat more active on a general demand from all regular natural sources, and the position of the market remains quite firm and satisfactory. On some of the more popular sizes orders are said to be behind. We quote as follows: Sheets, not above 30x72 in., 16oz. and over, 22c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 23c.; do, 12 to 14 oz,

IRON—Scotch Pig has fluctuated in price, reflecting the variations in foreign market, but the sale is somewhat limited here and the influence upon general position unimportant. Supplies are only moderate. We quote at about $20 00 @25.00 per ton according to brand. American Pig has on the whole ruled somewhat steadier. The Southern make is well sold up, and the Northern producer quite indifferent, so that pressure to realize is lightened. There is, however, very little really new demand, and in a general way it looks as though most consumers felt no apprehension regarding the future and were unwilling to go into an investment until compelled to by actual wants. Current sales in consequence are principally in small lots, for which steady prices can be maintained. We quote at $18.00 @19.00 per ton for No. 1 X foundry; $17.00@18.00 for No. 2 X do., and $16.00@17.00 for Gray Forge. Old material meets with rather moderate and comparatively indifferent attention and has no really good, steady prop to values, though on the general range there is not believed to be much variation likely until crude material changes. We quote at about $25.00@25.50 for old rails; $22 50@23.00 for No. 1 wrought scrap; $18.00@18.50 for cast scrap, and $17.00@17.50 for car wheels. Manufactured Iron from store has been moderately active and there is now and then a good contract deal made in architectural shapes with the market kept quite steady all along the line of standard grades. We quote Common Merchant Bar, ordinary sizes, at 2.10 @2.12c. from store, and refined at 2 30@2.60c.; Rods, round and square, 2.40@2.45c.; Bands, 2.60@2.65c.; Norway Nail Rods, 4@5c., and domestic sheet on the basis of 3.00@3.05c. for common Nos. 10@16. Other descriptions at corresponding prices, with 1-10c. less on large lots from cars. Steel Rails are still finding a more or less uncertain market. Demand from pretty much all quarters is light, the railway companies seem indifferent about the future, and it is difficult to bring matters to a really fair test. The inclination, however, is in buyers' favor, and manufacturers have openly offered to accept lower rates. We quote at about $33.00@34.00 per ton for standard section at the mills and $34.50@35.00 do. at tide water. LEAD—Domestic Pig secured quite a full amount of sale at the West and values advanced there, with also an upward turn here, but the local interest was not much excited, and the deal proved comparatively moderate. We quote at 4.00 @4.10c. as to quality. The manufactures of lead are quoted: Bar, 4½c.; pipe, 6c.; sheet, 6¾c., less the usual discount to the trade; and tin lined pipe, 15c.; block tin pipe 45c., on same terms. TIN—Pig gets a great many fluctuations out of the speculative element and consumers have to follow; but they do so carefully and rarely invest beyond clearly defined wants. We quote at about $20.25@20.35c. for round lots, and 20⅜@20½c. for jobbing parcels. Tin plate has sold to some extent for future delivery, but afterward demand dropped off, and with consumers in an indifferent mood the market still lacks solid strength. We quote prices as follows: I. C. Charcoal, ⅛ cross assortment, Melyn grades, $5.85@5.90, each additional X add 1.50; I. C. Charcoal, ⅛ cross assortment, Allaway grade, $4.95@5.00, each additional X add $1; Charcoal terne, M. F. grade, 14x20, $6.60@6.65; M. F. grade, 20x28, $13.50@13.55; Worcester, 14x20, $4.80@4.85; Worcester, 20x28, $9.65@9.70.; Dean grade, 14x20. $4.60@4.65; Dean grade, 20x28, $9.20@9.35; D. R. D. grade, 14x20, $4.45@4.50; D. R. D. grade, 20x28, $9.00@9.10; I. C. Coke, Penlan grade, $4.35@4.40; J. B. grade, 14x20, $4.45 @ 4.50; I. C. Bessemer steel, squares, $4.80@4.90 basis; I. C. Siemens steel, squares, $5.00@5.05 basis. Spelter has found dull, slow trade, and a generally weak tone on values. We quote 4.95@5.10c. for common Western, according to brand.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—The increase of demand from channels of actual consumption noted last week continues to a very fair extent, and the spread is reaching new territory. This naturally gives matters better general form, and operators as a rule are comparatively cheerful. The reflection is being felt to some extent upon first-hand stocks, and as the assortment of jobbers break up and run down they will undoubtedly become better customers. Supplies are full enough for all present requirements, both as to quality and assortment, but well in hand, and the line of value supported without an apparent effort. Linseed Oil is selling very well and ruling firmly, with crushers talking stiffly on the belief that the advance in silver will affect the price of foreign seed. We quote at 60@61c. for Western and 62@64c. for City. Spirits Turpentine has continued more than plenty against the current run of demand, and prices again lower, the market closing dull and apparently void of strength. We quote at 38@39c. per gallon, according to quantity, delivery, etc.

NAILS.—Buyers move with the usual caution and orders from most of the dependent localities are carefully calculated to the natural early wants of investing customers. There is a tendency to avoid free or open offerings, yet always enough stock kept upon sale to meet every demand promptly, and former rates are readily accepted. The check to declining tendency on iron seems to inspire a little more hopeful feeling in regard to cut nails. We quote at $1.80@1.85 per keg for car lots, and $1.85@1.95 per keg for parcels from store.

TAR AND PITCH.—Demand irregular and not of over-abundant proportions, the market showing an absence of any specially interesting feature at the moment. We quote Pitch at $1.40@1.55 per bbl.; Tar at $2.12½@2.30, according to quantity, quality and delivery.

The East Side—Its Streets and Buildings.

Now that so large a proportion of the civilized populations are concentrating in cities, the proper making and management of these centres are creating problems, the importance of which is equaled only by the grave responsibility which rest on thinking men for their successful solution. It is not part of our present purpose to give a comprehensive enumeration of these problems, the relation they bear one to another, their comparative importance, or even the aspect under which they present themselves in this city; but the condition of that part of the city, which we intend to treat of in this article is in many respects so far from what it should be, that it is not inappropriate to embody in a description of the east side some few suggestions as to what this section of the city might be, or have been, if there had existed a clearer appreciation in the beginning of the possibilities of city making, and consequently a more intelligent effort to lay out the streets which it would have been a pleasure to live upon, and build houses which it would have been a pleasure to live in. And if, in so doing, we seem to place the standard too high, and find faults, where we might just as well have instanced virtues, or at least improvements, it will be because the deficiencies which we point out are so little appreciated that it is not unfair to emphasize them.

We are most of us familiar with the susceptible creature who takes a trip to the country, becomes intoxicated with the odors of verdancy; the "crowing of the chanticleer," the "soft sighing of the breezes," and other rural phenomena, and thereupon sits down and writes a poem or a rhapsody on the sweet sensuous contentment of country life, compared with the jarring bustle, and the inevitable stone walls of the city. And being familiar with him we generally try to avoid him, for he belongs to that manner of man who wax eloquent over comparisons which it is unnecessary to make and grow didactic over superficial distinctions. Nevertheless, like many of the muddle-headed he mingles a certain proportion of truth with an inconceivable amount of shiboleth. An American city is a most perfect illustration of how mathematically-minded a creature man is. A city is "all made up" of straight lines and corners. Simplicity of arrangement is necessary; and to the untutored simplicity always becomes uniformity. It is just this deadly uniformity which is our first objection to the east side, as at present arranged. The engineers who are responsible for our street system in general committed this fault wherever possible; and on the east side it was indefinitely possible; for neither the configuration of the land, nor previously existing roads had to be regarded in making street parallel to street, avenue parallel to avenue, and the streets and avenues invariably at right angles. Some streets are made broader than others; but otherwise they are in themselves exactly alike, a characteristic which, we believe, is admirable in peas, but objectionable in streets.

Such uniformity must render a district commonplace. The east side may be compared to a Chinese play, which has neither beginning, middle nor ending, which possesses neither unity as a whole nor distinction in its parts. A street leads nowhere except to the next avenue, and an avenue nowhere but to the next street. No opportunity is provided for architectural display, because no one location is more central, more inevitable, more impossible to avoid seeing than another. If one street is lined with a better class of houses than its neighbor—assuming both to be of the same width—it is due to the accidental circumstances rather than to a design, which made one locality more desirable. The only possible advantage of this dreary uniformity, so far as we can see, is that it makes it impossible for anyone to get lost, provided that one has eyes to see the signs on the lamp posts; and in its conception it must have been the outcome of a sad lack of originality among the engineers who are responsible for the design. Any child can draw a rectangle and surround it with similar rectangles; and our engineers did nothing more. It is singular that a protest has not been raised against the system, by intelligent people. Suppose that Mr. Olmstead, when he designed our beautiful Central Park, had made every walk and carriageway parallel or at right angles to every other walk and carriageway: suppose he had planted his trees in rows, at distances of say ten feet apart; suppose he had made his lake like a reservoir and his bushes like hedgerows, what a howl would have been raised! People would have cried that there are no straight lines in nature; that mountains do not follow the parallels of latitude, nor do rivers take their course from longitudinal lines.

The analogy may seem fallacious, for it would be manifestly absurd to situate houses on the same principle of intelligent promiscuity which is used in planting trees by landscape gardeners; but, however inadequate the illustration, we consider that the engineers who designed—the word implies too much—our street system have made practically the same error as Mr. Olmstead would have made if he had laid out the park on the mathematical principles mentioned above. For the method of grouping details so as to suggest the individuality of each part, while combining all parts into a nicely adjusted whole, would, if carried into the sphere of street planning, have produced something very different from the mechanical regularity of the present arrangement. Properly speaking, a street system should be constructed on the same principles as a genealogical tree. In the first place there should be a central square—the Rome to which all roads would lead—and as nobody could possibly escape running across this square in the course of any perambulations around the city, it would naturally be the site, in the first place, of all the public buildings and of all the important private structures, for the location would stimulate architects to design buildings worthy of the site, and the value of the property would give owners the required inducement to spend all necessary money. Leading away from the avenue should be broad and beautiful boulevards—like the Unter den Linden in Berlin—which proximately might well be the business part of the city and ultimately the sites for the finest residences. These boulevards, furthermore, should every once in a while grow into small parks and squares, which themselves would become the centre from which smaller but in their way equally tasteful streets could radiate. The parks in such a city would be brought as it were to the very doors of people's houses. Instead of having one big pleasure ground, situated for no particular reason between 59th and 110th streets, there would be numberless small parks which could be reached by a few minutes' walk, and which in their situation are the necessary outgrowth of the street system.

WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN DONE.

It is perfectly true that at no time would such an arrangement of streets been possible in New York, situated as the city is on an island, and that at no time would it be possible of complete realization in any city, simply because any city which could afford such a street system would probably be so well built up that vested rights would be too much interfered with. But it appears to us obvious that some such method of arrangement should be followed, wherever permissible, in opening up new sections; and it is sincerely to be hoped that the Street Commissioner of the 23d and 24th Wards, if the office is ever constituted, will not fall into the errors which have made New York, south of the Harlem, an eye-sore, and a trial to the spirit. The arrangement of the streets in the district east of Central Park is unfortunately but the necessary outcome of the same plan of arrangement south of 59th street, and in finding fault with the former we implicitly do the same for the rest of the city north of 14th street. South of 14th street the streets for the most part have frequently not even the advantage of regularity; and we are in doubt which method is productive of the worst results—the one which leaves their arrangement to the accidents of building, or the one which leaves it to the stupid lack of imagination in city officials. But whatever the method the results in both cases are very similar. New Yorkers live in depressing surroundings, do an extraordinary amount of unnecessary walking and riding, and waste large sums of money, because the uniformity or promiscuity of the streets, giving as it does one section no advantage over another as a location for a particular kind of building, leads to transitoriness in the use to which given districts are put, and consequently necessitates a large amount of useless tearing down and reconstruction. Not only this, however, but the city is put to the expense of buying improved property for the purpose of making parks in the districts which are overcrowded, and in which no sufficient provision was originally made for breathing places—a process which, it may be remarked, tends to increase the overcrowding. This mistake has not been made in the upper wards to the same extent; and the western half of the district under consideration is supplied in a clumsy way with sufficient park room. It may be doubted, however, if the section east of 3d avenue is adequately so provided; and considering that the streets are largely if not exclusively lined with tenements, it is quite possible that if a couple of small parks are not put there at present, when there is sufficient vacant space for the purpose, that ultimately the city may not be put to the same unnecessary expense as it has been in the lower wards. The best solution of the matter would probably be the laying out of a park something similar to the Riverside on the North River.

Thus far we have endeavored to show that a fundamental mistake was made in the designing of the street system of this and other parts of the city. And we are sorry to say that the same disregard of æsthetic considerations has been exhibited in the arrangement of the houses in their relation one to another and to the streets. Here again we must bring in our susceptible friend, to whom the monotony of city streets is a sore trial to the flesh; and we must admit that whatever his wealth of epithet, it would be difficult for him to describe the utterly depressing character of the present method of building and placing houses. The same considerations which led us to suggest a system of streets which would be a constant succession of surprises, rather than an unspeakably dull uniformity, would lead to further suggestion as to the arrangement of each particular street.

In every block in the newer portions of the city devoted to residential purposes there is a certain amount of space which is unoccupied. This proportion is larger in the case of dwellings, and smaller in the case of tenements and flats. The whole question of the arrangement of houses in relation to the streets and to one another, so that a maximum of comfort may be obtained for those who live in them, turns on the use to which this vacant space is put. In this city, and on the east side, as elsewhere, it is used to no good purpose whatever. With the exception of some few localities on the west side of the city, in nearly all our streets, houses are erected as near as permissible to the curb line, and the space in the rear is devoted to a back yard, in which for the most part people do nothing but hang out their washing to dry. Consequently there is but little room in front for the planting of trees and grass which would give to the street suburban freshness to the outlook, and a pleasant variety of appearance. In the case of tenements, furthermore, there is so little room remaining in the rear—in most cases less than 15 per cent. of the lot—and there are so many uncleanly people who have a right to its use, that the back yard, far from adding to the attractiveness of the building, rather detracts from it. This space may be sufficient to give the inhabitants as much light and air as is necessary for health, but it certainly does not give all that is necessary for comfort.

5th Avenue, near 124th Street.

Of course this stuffing of as many men and as many houses as possible in a given space is caused by the high price of land, which necessitates the erection of a building which will return as much money as possible. This aspect of the matter we will come to shortly; but it is noticeable that the same fact is not true to the same extent in dwellings. For the most part these structures are built just as tenements and flats are built, on lots, which are 100 feet deep; but as a rule they do not cover much more than 50 or 60 per cent. of such a lot—a proportion which leaves ample space for some patches of green in the front of the dwelling, for the planting of clinging vines which is so pleasant a feature of many Boston residences, and for an artistic arrangement of entrances. But even in addition to this it leaves a space in the rear, so large that if put to its best uses it might increase the attractiveness of the dwelling a hundred fold, and go far toward making a New York house bearable during the summer time. In what way, then, can this space be put to its best uses? Only, we answer, by tearing down fences, and throwing the whole area into a private park, to be used only by the occupants of the block, and to be paid for out of their pockets. The proposition is a hazardous one to make, if only for the reason that, obvious that it is, it has never been tried in this city. We have indeed our private parks, but they are not part and parcel of the residences. There are, doubtless, many difficulties in the way of any such arrangement. The amount and the apportionment of the expense, the rights an individual owner would have in the property after he had surrendered it to his neighbors for use in common, the impossibility of convincing a number of individual owners of the desirability of the change, the necessities householders would be under to protect the backs of their residences even as they do the front—all these objections would have to be considered, and in the mass they would probably constitute an effectual bar to any attempt to convert the back yards of any existing block into a park. But we believe the experiment might be successfully tried in new districts, where the property could be sold under restrictions. There is an increasing number of communities round about the city which have successfully combined for purposes similar to the one outlined above, and there is no reason whatever why a block of houses could not be built under like restrictions in this city.

North Side of 71st Street, bet. 5th and Madison Avenues.

Northeast Corner 5th Avenue and 78th Street.

Such we believe to be probably the best use to which the back yards of dwelling houses could be put; but in cases where such an employment of the vacant spaces is not possible, it is foolish not at least partially to utilize the rest of the lot in an intelligent manner by placing the houses farther back from the street line. No one can be held responsible for the lack of sense which is the most obvious characteristic of the present method of situating houses on the lot, simply because the responsibility is collective. Every one shares it who will buy or rent a house which is situated and built with such a disregard for the most obvious considerations of comfort. If New Yorkers demanded something better they would get it, and so it is with tenements and their occupants. The lower classes have neither the senses to feel keenly the wretched conditions under which they live any more than they have the imagination to conceive of better circumstances. In order to make them feel and demand the healthier conditions which their dwellings do not give them at present, attempts should be made to place examples of better arranged and situated buildings before them. This is done to a certain extent in the model tenements which philanthropists are erecting at various places; but although these model tenements may be perfect in their sanitary arrangements, we do not consider that sufficient. A workingman's home should be attractive as well as healthy.

The Fifth Avenue Apartment House, Southeast Corner 5th Avenue and 87th Street. FRED. WINNEMER, Architect.

HOW THE REFORM MUST COME.

Poor and mean as the lives of the workingmen must necessarily be when living under such depressing surroundings, we should hesitate to recommend, under the circumstances, legislative action for their amelioration. It would be doubtful even if the Legislature has the power, either to condemn or restrict property on grounds other than those of public necessity. We can indeed condemn land for park purposes, not, however, because of the pleasure parks give, but because they are required for sanitary reasons, and in the same way we can force builders to conform to certain laws in building houses on the assumption that such laws are necessary for the health and safety of the occupants. But it would be quite a different matter to pass a law compelling a builder to erect his house so that the comfort of the occupant would be best secured. In the final analysis we believe that the necessity of this second class of laws could be demonstrated about as well as could the first, but it may be doubted whether the courts would see the question in the same light. Consequently the amelioration must come, if it comes at all, from a demand on the part of those who live in the houses that they shall be fit for the purpose. We find it impossible to believe, in surveying the long rows of sombre tenements and unspeakable dwellings which line the streets on the east side and elsewhere in this city, that there will not come a time when middle and lower class alike, becoming endowed with a nicer sensitiveness to their surroundings and a clearer perception of the tonic and refining value of a home which is a constant source of joy and relief, will revolt against the sinister monotony of their present dwellings. So much of the worth of a man's life depends upon his atmosphere, and so large a part of this atmosphere is made by his home that we assert with confidence that if the moral worth and productive power of the people are to be improved one of the first steps will be the introduction of a little variety and beauty into the situation and arrangement of their habitations.

EAST SIDE PAVEMENTS.

Thus far we have endeavored to show certain faults, unfortunately irremediable, in the street system, not, indeed, of the east side alone, but shared by that section with the rest of the city. We now come to a special consideration of the streets of that part of the city apart from any faults of general arrangement, or the situation of the houses in relation thereto, and here again we cannot consider their condition satisfactory. In so far as the paving is concerned it possesses the characteristics of roughness where the pavements have been laid and utter slovenliness where they have not been. The pavements are uniformly made of either Belgian trap or granite block in a manner which will necessitate repaving wherever much used, and possessing the well-known faults of all such pavements, viz., noisiness and dirtiness. With the exception, however, on certain of the avenues the traffic on any of the thoroughfares is not likely to be heavy for some years to come; and we do not suppose that any attempt will be made to improve either the method or material of the paving until the district is well built up and people have come to realize the discomforts of rough streets. As to the condition of such of the streets and such parts of the avenues as have not already been paved, it is simply disgraceful. There ought to be some provision made for taking care of the streets before they are inhabited sufficiently to warrant pavement. If anyone thinks the word disgraceful too strong let him look at, say, Park avenue, on the east side of the railroad tracks, between 100th and 102d streets. There are ruts in the road which would not be tolerated in the most mountainous country district, and no light vehicle could pass along it except at the risk of the occupant's neck. In one sense the example is not typical, but in another it is, for it is an illustration of what may result from the present do-nothing policy of taking care of unpaved streets.

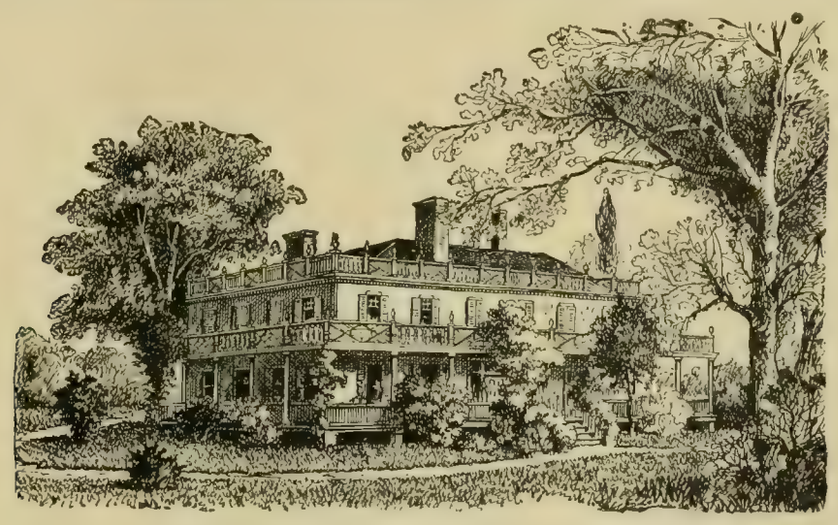
Such a total lack of intelligent care could be tolerated only by people who take no pride in neatness. Some of the paved streets also are filthy to an extreme degree. Old shoes, tin cans and refuse of all kinds are scattered about with profusion. This would be a good field for our new Street Cleaning Commissioner to make himself felt.

It is interesting to remark how the configuration of the land on the east side has impeded or aided building, according as the property was or was not in a condition for immediate improvement. The district round about 99th street and Park avenue seems to have suffered most from rock and such impediments. Improvements are very scarce in the vicinity—a fact that may be partially due to the noisy Manhattan car stables on the block bounded by 99th and 100th streets, 3d and Lexington avenues, but which must in the main be attributed to the rock, which increases the initial cost of putting up buildings to such an extent that speculators will naturally choose less obstructed localities for the field of their operations. Thus it is that in this district there is an interruption in the course of continuous improvement, the sections, both north and south, being far more occupied than the one of which we are speaking.

RAPID TRANSIT.



It may have seemed in the foregoing that we have adopted too critical an attitude toward the streets of the east side. If so, we answer that it was no part of our intention to present a brief in favor of the district, but rather impartially to consider if there were any signs of improvement in this newer part of the city over the section south of 59th street. As a matter of fact, we have not found any signs of such an improvement; but this much being said, it should be added that consequently the east side, place for place, and money for money, is probably just about as desirable for living purposes as any other arbitrarily selected district in the city. How desirable this is, our readers may judge from the foregoing, but whatever its disadvantages, they are as a general thing absolute and not comparative. Its rapid transit facilities are about as good, if not better, distance for distance, as those of any other part of the city; its streets are as well paved, its houses are as well built. Its industries are limited in number, but they are prosperous and permanent; and they are bound to increase in time. The eastsiders, it may be noticed, are particularly interested in that solution of the rapid transit problem which THE RECORD AND GUIDE has been advocating. No plan which has as yet been proposed would give them the relief from overcrowding, which they require; indeed, nobody has proposed to run a new line up east of the park. Such a line would be totally unnecessary, as there are already two elevated road structures. What the east side particularly needs is the addition to present facilities, which could be obtained by the third track, and additional terminal facilities. Another improvement, which will come in time, is an increase in cross-town street roads. At present there are no cross-town cars running on streets between 59th and 125th streets. It is probable that in the near future some connection will be made with the transverse road to be built through the park at 85th street; but this will not be enough. The residents along Madison and 5th avenues should have some means of transit to the elevated road on 3d avenue, and we believe that the streets at which the elevated stations are placed will be some time in the future transversed by cross-town tracks.

Some of the Principal Plans Filed.

A list of the plans filed during the year shows that the number of important buildings, while numerous, are not as many as might have been anticipated, considering that the section between 59th and 125th streets, between 5th avenue and the East River, takes in such a very large part of Manhattan Island. Still the list is not by any means a small one, and we give below the results of a canvass of some of the most important of the buildings, together with their present condition:

Nos. 103 and 105 East 59th street. Plans were recently filed for a five-story brick stable, 45x100.5, to be erected on this site, but at present the ground is occupied by two three-story, high stoop, private dwellings, and there is no evidence that a stable is likely to be built upon the spot, for No. 105 has the "To let" sign of F. Zittel on it, which does not look as though the building would be torn down. In the plans filed the architects named are MacGregor & Sons, and the lessee C. F. Frothingham.

At Nos. 801 and 802 5th avenue, between 61st and 62d streets, D. & J. Jardine, the architects, have been building two handsome brown stone front residences, one 22.10 and one 22.9x69, for Jabez A. Bostwick, president of the New England Road. The houses both have their plastering completed, and are ready for the interior decorations. They are estimated to cost a total of $70,000.

Residence of Archibald Gracie, East River, foot 89th Street.

Further along 5th avenue, between 65th and 66th streets, a bright-looking buff brick front dwelling is approaching the stage of occupancy. It has been built for William Jay, the well-known lawyer and club man, and is 25x71 in size, the cost being estimated at $39,000. Rotch & Tilden, of Boston, are the architects.

On the northeast corner of 5th avenue and 66th street, H. O. Havemeyer's superb residence is nearing completion. It is a three-story and attic dwelling, 50.5x115.2 in size, and is by far the costliest private house now under way on the east side. It has a stone front, and the cost is estimated by the architect, C. C. Haight, at $185,000.

On the north side of 67th street, 100 feet west of 3d avenue, a building of an entirely different character presents itself. It is the Hebrew synagogue, which is being built from plans by Schneider & Herter. The edifice is approaching completion, and while the exterior to a large extent displays uniformity of design, the architecture is not entirely what one might expect a place of worship to be, the religion of whose devotees had its origin in the Orient. The building is to cost $75,000.

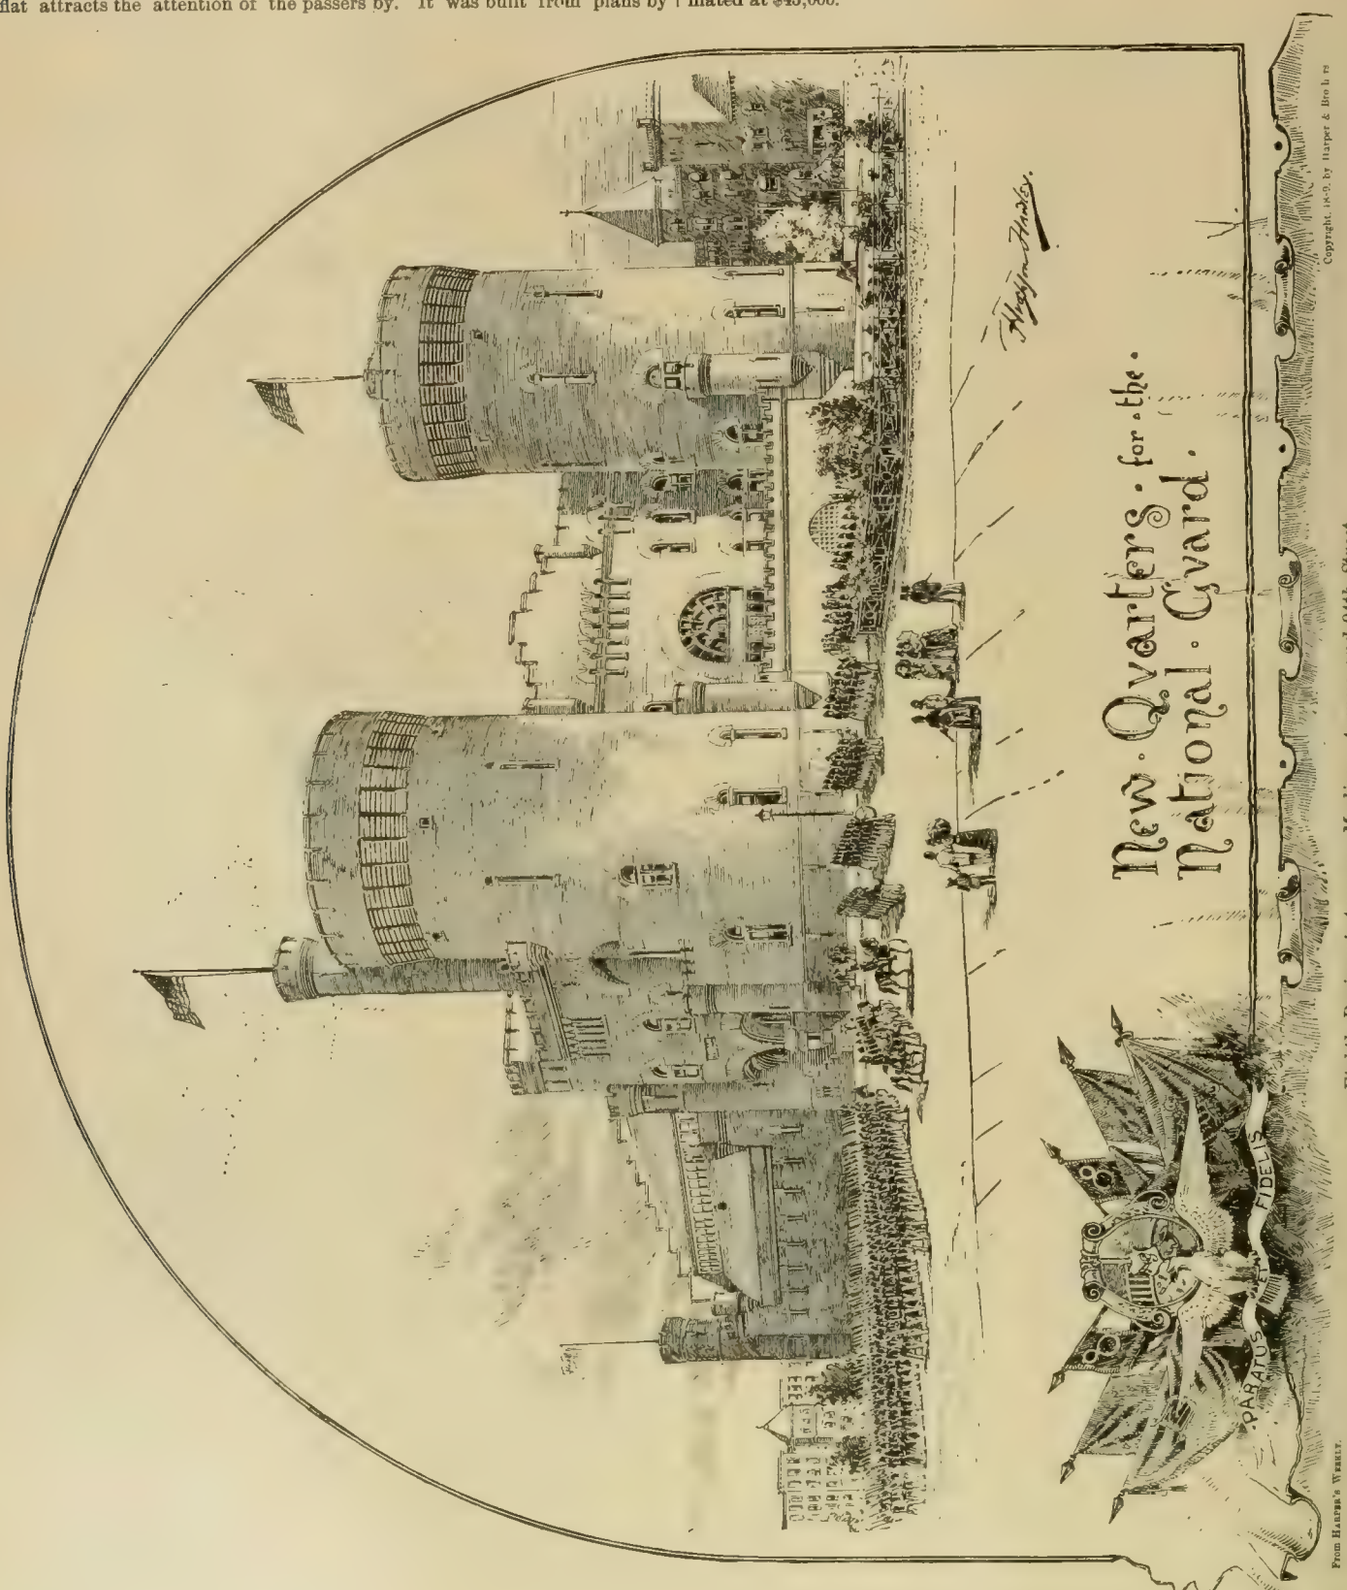
A few doors further west, on the same side of the street, and commencing 58 feet east of Lexington avenue, is a six-story building erected by the Mount Sinai Hospital, from plans by Brunner & Tryon. The building is massive in appearance, and is said to be of fire-proof construction. It is to be used as a training school for nurses, and contains many new features and conveniences with that object. The building is now about completed, and will cost over $80,000. It is 57x90.5 in dimension.

Four striking private houses have just been completed on the northwest corner of Madison avenue, by Thom & Wilson, for David Hennessy. They have frontages varying from 20 to 25 feet, and have red brick and stone fronts, with one exception, the latter having a facade entirely of brown stone. The corner house fronts on the avenue, and the others front on the street. Their cost is estimated at $120,000.

About two blocks further north, on the southwest corner of Madison avenue and 73d street, a stone front church is approaching completion. It is being built from plans by W. A. Potter. The building is 58x83.6 in size, and the cost is estimated at $65,000.

On the southeast corner of 5th avenue and 85th street the six-story flat built by Philip Braender, for which plans were filed in the year here dealt with, has for some time been completed, and is now partly rented. The plans are by Fred. Wennemer, and the dimension of the building is 52.2x 96. The cost is estimated at $125,000.

Elliott F. Shepard's stable, built for use of the horses and stages of the Fifth Avenue Transportation Company, on the north side of 88th street and the south side of 89th street, between Park and Madison avenues, has long since been completed and has been occupied for some two months It has not by any means improved the value of surrounding property. The plans were drawn by McKim, Mead & White, and the cost was put down at $50,000.



Between Lexington and Park avenues, on 82d street, No. 123, a five-story flat attracts the attention of the passers by. It was built from plans by Ed. Wenz. The front is an unusual one, and is probably the only one of its kind on the east side. It has a first story and basement of red sandstone, the front above being of mottled brick, with stone trimmings to match, all with the exception of the windows. These are bays, running from base to roof, and they are of iron construction, painted in a mahogany color. The effect is unique, to say the least of it, and cannot fail to be noticed in the midst of a not very architecturally pretentious neighborhood.

On the southwest corner of 3d avenue and 81st street the masons are at work on the third story of a five-story flat with stores, which they are erecting on the site from plans by M. C. Merritt, 54.4x80 and 86 in size. The building promises to be plain and unpretentious, with a brick front, but very slightly relieved by the introduction of stone trimmings. It is to cost $50,000.

A five-story storage warehouse and stable, 100.6x90 in size, is being built on the south side of 88th street, just east of 3d avenue, for Hugo Gorsch, from plans by Kurtzer & Rohl. The building is up to the second story and it promises to have a plain exterior. It is to cost $30,000.

A very nice-looking building is the five-story flat, built on the southeast corner of Lexington avenue and 91st street, from plans by Weber & Drosser. Here one sees the introduction of terra cotta to advantage. The material matches the buff-brick front, and the effect is cheerful and artistic. The building is now being rented, and the cost was about $60,000. In size it is 96.8x45.

A building completed and occupied, having been commenced last spring, is that on the northwest corner of Lexington avenue and 93d street. It is 40x71.8 in size, and was built from plans by Ed. Wenz. The cost is estimated at $45,000.

Eighth Regiment Armory, Madison Avenue and 94th Street.

A bright appearance has the buff-brick front flat, built from plans by Fred. Wennemer. It is five stories high, 27.6x96.8 in size, and cost $30,000. It is now about ready for occupancy.

The foundations are being laid for a five-story flat, 36x96.6 in size, which Francis J. Schnugg is building on the southwest corner of Lexington avenue and 96th street, and for which plans were filed this season. The building is to be ready by the fall, and is to cost $40,000. Fred. Wennemer is the architect.

A cheerful buff-brick front has the five-story warehouse, built by Wilmurt & Jarvis, on the north side of 100th street, 200 feet east of 3d avenue. The size is 50x90, and J. C. Burne, the architect, estimated the cost at $35,000. It is now being rented.

At Nos. 22 and 24 East 91st street A. Balchun is building two five-story brick flats, 30.7x90 and 20.6x88 in size, respectively, from plans by C. Stegmayer. They are up to the fourth story and will evidently be ready for the fall market

Plans were recently filed for a five-story brick and brown stone front flat, 30x96 in size, to be built by McDonough & O'Sullivan, on the northeast corner of Madison avenue and 116th street, from plans by T. P. Neville. The ground is of rock, and this is now being blasted out preparatory to the erection of the building, which is to cost $60,000.

Plans were filed this winter for a seven-story stone front flat, 96x60 and 50, to be built on the southwest corner of Madison avenue and 118th street, by Carrie E. Meres from plans by A. B. Jennings. The modest sum of $200,000 was named in the plans as the estimated cost of this structure. When the writer visited the spot a few days ago he found it covered with from 12 to 20 feet of rock, on the pinnacle of which several men were lazily reclining in the sun. There was no evidence that any preparation was about to be made to put up a $200,000 building on the site.

On the southeast corner of Lexington avenue and 124th street Chas. Mierisch has completed a five-story brick apartment house, 37.8x96.11 in size, from plans by Douglas Smyth. The building is a plain one, and the cost is placed at $35,000.

On the north side of 124th street and the south side of 125th street, running through, between Park and Lexington avenues, Oscar Hammerstein, editor and theatre proprietor, is building two structures of a totally different character. The one is for pleasure and the other for business. The former is on 124th street, and has its walls up about 20 feet above the ground, while the latter is on 125th street, and is up to the second story. The one is to be a theatre, 100x126.10 in size, to cost $150,000, and the other a four-story brick, stone and terra cotta front office building, 100x75 in size, to cost $80,000. Both are from plans by J. B. McElfatrick & Sons, and both are to be ready by the fall.

On the south side of 88th street, 100 feet west of 1st avenue, a four-story building is up to the first tier of beams. It is a boy's lodging house and school, belonging to the City Mission, and is from plans by Vaux & Radford. It is 36x96, and is to cost $47,000. Plans were also filed for a building of a similar character on the north side of 73d street, 113 feet east of 1st avenue, from plans by Vaux & Radford, which is to cost $64,000.

The three-story brick school being built at Nos. 437 and 439 East 115th street is from plans by L. J. O'Connor. It is to cost $30,000 and will be ready for the fall term. It is now approaching completion.

The three-story brick dormitory and laundry, 118x101, for which plans were filed, to be built on the northeast corner of Avenue A and 89th street, is from plans by William Schickel & Co. It is to cost $50,000.

An Analysis of the Buildings Planned.

HITHERTO UNPUBLISHED FIGURES—A TABULATED LIST, SHOWING THE DIFFERENT CLASSES OF STRUCTURES PLANNED DURING THE YEAR.

We will now take a glance at the character of the new buildings projected in the "East Side" District. In addition to this, other figures are given, so as to make the tables as comprehensive and interesting as possible.

In the first place, we will take the number and estimated cost of the new buildings for which plans were filed during the years 1886 to 1889 inclusive. From these, which are given below, it will be seen that the large sum of $47,815,636 was expended in new buildings during these four years, the number planned being 2,866. This is exclusive of expenditures made in alterations, which involved several millions more; but allowing for a number of building plans filed and abandoned, it is safe to say that the figures given represent at least the amount expended, and if the actual cost could be obtained it would probably exceed $50,000,000. It will be noticed that the largest number and estimated cost of the buildings planned was in 1887, which in reality was the high water mark year for the east side—a great many builders in that part of the city having in 1888 and 1889 transferred their operations to the west side, the result of which is shown, in a subsequent table below, in the comparison made between the two sides of the city, which is favorable to the latter section. The following is the table above referred to, which shows that the years 1887, 1886, 1889 and 1888 come in the order of precedence in the number and estimated cost of the buildings planned in the district between 59th and 125th streets, east of 5th avenue:

TABLE I.

BUILDINGS PLANNED BETWEEN 59TH AND 125TH STREETS, EAST OF 5TH AVENUE.

	No.	Estimated cost.
1886	853	$12,917,875
1887	888	15,752,963
1888	537	9,537,293
1889	588	9,607,505
	2,866	$47,815,636

The second table will be found very interesting, giving as it does a comparison of the different classes of buildings erected on both sides of the city. It has been generally known that more private dwellings have been built on the west side than on the east side, but to what extent was never ascertained. The figures which we now give, published for the first time, shed a clear light on the matter, and enable us to ascertain exactly to what extent the west side shows up better than the east side, as a whole.

In one particular both sides of the city correspond, viz.: they show that the largest amount expended is in flats and tenements. These buildings, curiously enough, are within a few units of being exactly the same in number. But it is in their total amount that the difference displays itself, for while the 375 buildings on the east side cost $7,080,200, the 379 buildings on the west side cost $10,973,500. This gives an average of $18,880 per building on the east side, and $28,953 on the west side, which tends to show that the buildings, on an average, have been more costly in construction in the latter section than in the former.

Another point, very forcibly illustrated in the figures, shows to what a large extent private house building has been undertaken on the west side, as compared with the east side. In 1889 the sum of $8,372,000 was the estimated cost of the 420 private houses planned in the former section while only $1,502,500 was the estimated cost of 101 buildings planned in the latter section.

The dwellings planned on the west side numbered more than four to each one on the east side, while they cost about five-and-a-half times as much. In other words, the average cost of each private dwelling, grouping the three and four-story houses together, was $14,876 on the east side, while on the west side it was nearly $20,000. These figures demonstrate that in the former section the houses, on an average, were less costly in construction than in the latter section.

Still another point of comparison. The east side, in churches, hotels and store buildings, shows a smaller number and a lesser cost in 1889 than the same character of buildings planned on the west side, and they averaged more in cost in the latter section, as the table below shows. Again—and it is a very strong point in favor of the west side—the number of stables, factories and other structures of a character that are objectionable in residential localities, were more numerously planned on the east side than they were on the west, there being no less than 104 of such miscellaneous buildings erected on the east side against but 28 on the west side. The only offset to this is the fact that the average size of the buildings in the latter section was larger, and the cost greater, than in the former section. It should be added, however, that these miscellaneous buildings on the east side were almost entirely confined to the section east of 3d avenue, the district between 3d and 5th avenues being comparatively free from them.

The second table also gives the figures for the first quarter of 1890. From these it will be seen that on the east side the number of apartment buildings planned somewhat exceeded those on the west side, while the estimated cost was considerably less. In private houses the east side continues, as in 1889, to make a much smaller showing, the comparison, in number, being as about as four to one in favor of the west side, and in cost about as three and a-half to one. In hotels, churches, etc., the east side shows up better than the west, while in miscellaneous buildings, those of a non-residential character, the east side continues its reputation for superiority, the number being about as three to one, and the cost about as two and a-half to one. The following is the table:

The third table shows the number and cost of the different classes of buildings projected in the territory described from the beginning of April, 1889, to the beginning of April, 1890. It shows that the number of tenements exceeds in the proportion of about three and three-quarters to one the number of three and four-story dwellings, and in cost in the proportion of over four to one. Indeed, the number of tenements is 108 larger, and their estimated cost $3,541,020 greater than all the other classes of buildings combined. This would be very extraordinary were it not for the fact that the records of conveyances show that the number of tenements sold is extremely large, proving that the supply is only made to meet the demand. The number of three-story houses planned was somewhat in excess of the four-story dwellings, though the cost of the latter was two-thirds greater than the former. The number of miscellaneous buildings for which plans were filed was very large, being fifteen more than the three and four-story dwellings and flats combined, though their cost was only half. The number of flats were small, their estimated cost averaging less than $50,000 each. By flats improved tenements are not meant, the latter being in nearly every case designated as "flats" in the plans filed. The following is the table:

Lots Improved and Unimproved.

STATISTICS THAT WILL BE READ WITH INTEREST.

Table IV., dealing with the vacant and improved lots in the territory under consideration, section by section, is of considerable interest. We first see that there are 20,633 lots between 59th and 125th streets, east of 5th avenue. Of these 12,466, over 60 per cent, or about three-fifths, have been improved. This will be quite a revelation to those who have an impression that the east side is nearly all built up. There are still 8,167 lots vacant and unimproved at the present time. The section showing the most number of lots improved is between 72d and 86th streets, where there are 3,249 lots built upon, the section between 59th and 72d streets coming next with 2,784 lots, and the section between 110th and 116th streets coming last with only 1,125 lots improved. The number of lots vacant and unimproved is largest between 96th and 110th streets, and smallest between 110th and 116th streets. In 1886 the total number of such lots in the territory dealt with was 9,656. Since then 1,489 more lots have been improved. Of course these lots do not each represent one building, for a large number of structures cover several lots, while others cover a frontage of only two-thirds or four-fifths of a lot. It should be added, also, that the list, when made out in 1886, did not include, among the vacant lots, any three-story frame buildings, whereas in the list for 1890 all frame buildings, of whatever character, as well as all small brick buildings not of a permanent character, were included in the number of lots unimproved, under the heading of "vacant," otherwise the number of lots improved since 1886 would have shown up considerably larger than 1,489. It will be seen that the section which has been most improved since 1886 is that between 96th and 110th streets, between 86th and 96th streets coming next; while the sections between 116th and 125th streets, and between 59th and 72d streets, stand at the bottom of the list. The table is quite an instructive one:

	20,633	9,656	8,167	1,489

An extremely interesting table is that which follows. Builders and others interested in building operations will scan it eagerly. It shows how many vacant and unimproved lots there are on each avenue between 59th and 125th streets, 5th avenue and Avenue B, on each side of the avenue, and between certain streets, divided into sections. To elaborate upon this very useful table would be unnecessary. A few points, however, are worthy of notice. The table shows us that there are more lots vacant on Madison avenue, between 59th and 125th streets, than there are on any other avenue, their number being 458, of which 245 are on the west side and 213 on the east side. Park avenue has 335 vacant lots and 5th avenue (one side) 389, while 3d avenue has 180, and 2d avenue 194, Avenue B having the least of all, namely, 89, owing to the irregular lines of the river, which runs to the avenue at certain points.

A glance along the totals between each section shows that there are more vacant avenue lots between 96th and 110th streets than in any other section, namely, 705. The section between 86th and 96th streets comes next with 544 lots, that between 110th and 116th streets showing the least number of avenue lots vacant unimproved. But the figures tell the story in detail:

An almost equally interesting table is that which follows. It shows the number of vacant and unimproved lots on the streets, between the different avenues, section by section. From this it will be seen that there are more street lots unimproved between 1st avenue and Avenue A than between any other avenues in the territory here dealt with, namely, 1,276, and that the least number of unimproved lots is between Lexington and 3d avenues, where there are only 280. The section containing most unimproved street lots is between 96th and 110th streets, namely 1,452, while that containing the least is between 110th and 116th streets, where there are but 470. The total number of street lots, unimproved, is 5,523, and the total number of avenue lots 2,644—less than one-half the former. The following is the table:

A Year's Conveyances Tabulated.

STATISTICS SHOWING THE NUMBER, CHARACTER AND COST OF THE PROPERTIES SOLD FROM APRIL, 1889, TILL APRIL, 1890.

Table VII., which follows, is the result of a laborious and painstaking effort to get at the particulars of the sales of real estate for the period named above, together with the number, cost and character of the various properties sold or conveyed during that time. It shows the number and amount of the properties transferred, together with the number conveyed for nominal considerations, as well as the number reconveyed, for the year ending April 1, 1890.

This is the first time a table of such a character has ever been made, and it will therefore be perused with some interest. It is worth studying, from an investor's point of view, and will also have considerable value for builders. It will be seen that 437 three-story private houses were purchased or conveyed during the year on the streets between 59th and 125th, east of 5th avenue, and 272 four-story houses, 28 flats and 1,072 tenements. These buildings all front on streets.

The number of three-story houses conveyed which front on avenues was 101. These have mostly been on Lexington, Park and Pleasant avenues The four-story avenue houses number 52, the flats 8 and the tenements 537.

Perhaps the most notable surprise to the reader in perusing this table will be the unexpectedly large proportion of the whole number and cost which the tenements occupy. It has been generally supposed that a good deal of money is put into east side tenements, but that so large a number as 1,609 were conveyed, of which 1,182 cost $25,476,227 would scarcely have been surmised. Now, 1,072 were tenements fronting on streets, and 537 fronting on avenues. The tenements are not far from double the number of the flats and three and four-story dwellings combined. This goes far to show that builders are not necessarily unwise in putting up such a large number of tenements on the east side, for, when so many millions of dollars are invested in them, builders are erecting structures to meet a very large demand. In using the word "tenements" it should be added that in a great many instances these buildings are named in the conveyances as flats or apartment houses, but the amounts at which they were conveyed shows clearly that they were tenements, although a great many of them are evidently of the better class, and contain various improvements. This explanation is necessary, for the word "tenement" has been much misconstrued, and the tables may be used to institute comparisons with other sections of the city to the disadvantage of the east side, when such a comparison might be incorrect and unjust.

The vacant lot table of conveyances during the year is one of considerable interest. It shows that nearly $12,000,000 has been placed in real estate of a vacant and unimproved character. The number of lots under the heading of "Vacant and Unimproved" include all frame dwellings of whatever character, as well as old one and two-story brick buildings and other structures that cannot be classified under any of the other headings. These properties have, in the vast majority of instances, been purchased for improvement, and most of those not acquired with that object will no doubt within a comparatively short time be used for building purposes. The unimproved properties transferred cover 1,950 lots, averaging 25x100, of which nearly 1,200 were on streets and 758 on avenues. Of the total amount for which those properties were transferred nearly six and three-quarter millions was for street lots and over five and a-quarter millions for avenue lots. It should be added that in the transfers many of the single lots have frontages of various sizes, from 16.8 to 25 feet, but these have been entered as two-thirds of a lot, or otherwise, according to their size, so that the total number of lots given in each case represents actual average lots of 2,500 square feet each. Where, for instance, a transfer appears of 230x100 it has been entered as 9 1-5 lots in the detailed tables, and this accounts for the fractional figures in the totals.

The properties sold of a miscellaneous character numbered 63, of which 57 were on streets and 6 on avenues. These include factories, stables, one or two churches and other buildings not of a residential character. The total amount at which 33 of these were conveyed was $1,490,410, a comparatively small sum in the grand total.

There are two items in the tables which require explanation as well as comment. These are the properties conveyed for a nominal consideration and those reconveyed. The "No. nominal" include every transfer where the price is not named in the deed, or where the amount stated is not the proper value of the property, such as "$1," "gift," "exchange," etc. Such transfers are in no case included in the amounts given. For instance, although 1,609 tenements were transferred in the territory named, the number conveyed for nominal considerations was 427. The amount in the same column, namely, $25,476,227, represents the price of the 1,609 tenements, minus the 427 conveyed at a nominal figure; that is, 1,182, which gives an average of $21,553 per tenement. In the same way the number of four-story dwellings which were transferred for $5,657,720 was 324, minus 92, namely, 232, an average of $24,386 per house; the number of flats transferred for $2,059,971 being 29, an average of over $70,000 per building, and the unimproved lots conveyed for $11,990,016 numbering over 1,349, an average of about $8,888 each. In the same way the average in each case can be obtained of each class of building, both on the streets and avenues. It is worth adding that if it were possible to obtain the value of each parcel conveyed for a nominal consideration the total amount—which would then be the actual figure at which the properties were transferred—would, in the same proportion, be $72,460,688. For, if 3,254 buildings and lots are conveyed for $52,162,910, then 1,266 parcels—the number conveyed at nominal figures—would amount to $20,297,778, which would give a grand total of $72,460,688 involved in the properties conveyed between 59th and 125th streets, east of 5th avenue, for the year ending April 1, 1890. This total, while theoretical, is probably not far from correct.

The second item requiring some explanation, namely, the parcels reconveyed, has reference to the number of properties which were resold or reconveyed by parties of the second part, either for the same amounts as paid to the parties of the first part, or at an advance, or for a nominal consideration. The number of reconveyances given do not include every parcel that was sold or conveyed more than once during the year, but only such parcels as were on the same day, or within a very few days, reconveyed. They represent the largest part of the total number, so reconveyed, but no attempt was made to get at the exact number, for that would have taken several weeks' work to ascertain, and the result would scarcely have been commensurate with the labor involved. But the numbers named in the tables represent probably three-fourths of the number of properties conveyed more than once during the year, and they therefore teach us something. Of these reconveyances, as we have called them, there were 220 properties of an improved character. As the total number of buildings transferred was 2,570, the reconveyances represent over 8½ per cent. of the whole. In the unimproved lots they represent nearly 9½ per cent. of the whole. This we know positively, but it is not improbable that somewhere between 12 and 15 per cent. of the total number of properties sold or transferred were reconveyed during the year.

The importance of the real estate transactions in the territory here dealt with will at once be seen at a glance of the total figures of the street and avenue properties conveyed. These amount to over $52,000,000. Of this amount properties were sold and conveyed in strictly private dwellings to the extent of over $11,000,000; in flats and tenements of over $27,500,000, and in vacant and unimproved properties nearly $12,000,000, the balance being in buildings of a miscellaneous character. These figures do not, of course, include the parcels conveyed for nominal considerations, as explained above. The table, which is well worth studying, speaks for itself:

* The amount includes the total number of properties transferred, minus the number transferred for nominal considerations. For instance, in the street properties $4,530,196 represents the cost of the 437 three-story dwellings, minus 74, which would leave 363 as the number conveyed for $4,530,196.

Foreclosures on the East and West Sides.

We give herewith a list of the foreclosure suits commenced during the first three months of 1890 on the east and the west sides. It will be seen that they number about the same in both sections, there being fifty-seven on the east side and sixty-two on the west, and that, furthermore, in both sections there were proportionally more foreclosure suits during the month of February than during either of the other two. Taken all in all, the exhibit must be regarded as very favorable. Considering the speculative character of much of the building done, the small margin on which builders have carried on their operations, and the fact that many houses remain unsold, it is singular that so few have been unable to meet their obligations.

VOL. XLV. MAY 10, 1890. No. 1,156.

Wall street is a scene of animation and cheerfulness, never apparent in that interesting locality except when it is enjoying a bull market. As a general thing people prefer to buy than to sell, and while in bear times business may be brisk, the frequenters of the Street do not portray in their countenances such satisfaction as in periods like these. Quotations started up again, fresh from their little rest rather than reaction of the middle of the week, and a number of stocks which had previously been inactive begin to take part in the rise, giving a healthy, broadening appearance to the market. It is curious to note in connection with the oft-repeated announcement that Mr. Gould was not in the market, that the beginning of the rise was contemporaneous with the offer of the new Manhattan 4s, and that yesterday it took a new start in a story that Mr. Gould had given out large buying orders in Missouri Pacific, which was followed by the notification that the holders of that stock were to receive bond subscription privileges. Of course, as time goes on reaction must be expected from time to time on realizations of profits by speculators, but there is nothing in the condition of affairs which indicate anything but further advance in the long run. The effect of the large shipments of securities to the other side has yet to be seen in the movement of gold, which can only be favorable to this country.

The net result of over four months of talking, writing, disputing, amending, appointing commissioners, appointing other commissioners, sending delegations, passing resolutions, and the other interesting performances incidental to the failure of any rapid transit bill, is, as usual, absolutely nil. The brave assertion of Mayor Grant when he took his position, that the ending of his two-years' term would see an adequate rapid transit system fairly under construction, has been disproved by the sad logic of facts; and New Yorkers must be content for some years to come to hang on straps, be packed like sardines in a box, and watch the increasing exodus of population to the more accessible regions of Long Island and New Jersey. It is true that the Bridge bill has failed also, but it is not impossible that a tunnel under the East River may provide an outlet for the lateral current on one side, while the improved facilities of the New Jersey roads will assist materially a similar current on the other. It may be well to consider how much delay has to be faced. Nothing, it is quite certain, can be done for twelve months—nothing, that is, in the way of providing those perfect facilities which people have been erroneously aiming at. It is by no means certain that even next session of the Legislature anything can be accomplished; but assuming that our Legislature can manage skilfully to combine a rapid transit bill with their more important political and personal interests, it will still be a matter of three or four years before the route can be selected, the consent of the various persons and officials in interest obtained, and the road constructed. Meanwhile it is quite certain that the present state of things will become unbearable, and we had better cease the futile attempt to urge the political banditti at Albany and the City Hall to act for the public interest, and turn to the Manhattan Company, which holds, as it has always held, the key of the situation. We are in the position of the man who spends years in bridging a river, instead of taking advantage temporarily of the ford which is under his nose; we throw away our bread because we cannot spread it with butter. It is no use vituperating over the failure at Albany. The indignation, if it amounts to anything, should be reserved until the election next fall. But it is a matter of grave necessity to take advantage of what facilities we have and improve them as best we can. The Cable Railroad bill is in the Governor's hands, and if it is signed it will do something toward better facilities. It is to be hoped that Mr. Hill will have the courage to give it his approval; for, although it is by no means a perfect bill, yet it will help, not indeed so much to solve the rapid transit problem in its larger aspects, but to supplement the imperfect facilities of our street-car lines.

The success of the strike of the carpenters and framers in this city for an eight-hour day with nine hours' pay was much of a foregone conclusion from the first, and these trades were probably selected by the leaders of the movement with a view to the "moral effect" as well as the practical result. Of course, this shortening of the hours of labor without an equivalent reduction of pay means that the increase in the income of these men must come out of somebody's pocket; and, clearly in this case, that somebody will be the public that purchase and dwell in houses. Few seriously maintain, though it is sometimes asserted, that the carpenters or the framers will now turn out as much work in eight hours as they did in nine. Eight hours' work will not be more productive in future than formerly; consequently, in the wages account for these two trades in the construction of a building there will be an increase of one-eighth. This may be estimated at about 2 per cent. of the total cost of an ordinary four-story dwelling, and less in a tenement; so much of the work for which is manufactured outside of this city. In the latter case, the increase will probably be not very much more than 1 per cent. In the case of a flat or an apartment house the increase will be about the same as in a dwelling, while with ordinary store and loft buildings the increase may be as much as 1⅔ per cent. Whether owners of houses completed before the strike will endeavor to obtain this increase remains to be seen. Probably they will. Certainly, in the case of new houses hereafter erected an increase in cost will take place. A disposition is evinced in certain quarters to condemn the action of the men, and to regard the eight-hour movement generally as unrighteous if not criminal. This is nonsense. Labor is as much entitled to the best terms it can make for itself as Capital, so long as those terms are made by legitimate means. There can be very little doubt that the eight-hour day will soon obtain in many trades, but only in those that are strongly organized. To the mass of workers in this country it is a long way off—to clerks, domestic servants, agricultural laborers and others. We do not agree, however, with those who hold that these people never can obtain the shorter hours, principally because of the nature of their work. There is no reason why even the agricultural laborer, whose work is said to be of a kind that forever precludes the possibility of an eight-hour day, should not obtain what the carpenters and framers have successfully striven for in this city. An universal eight-hour day would, however, benefit no one pecuniarily, though it might morally and mentally, unless the shorter day were accompanied by a proportionate increase in production. The carpenters and framers of this city are now better off than they were, but at the expense of the "public"—all who use a building for any purpose or pay rent. But should the "public"—all trades and professions—work only eight hours and get nine hours pay, a general increase in prices would follow and no one would be better off than formerly. The eight-hour movement destroys its pecuniary results more and more with each success.

Governor Hill got in another well-directed blow at the Legislature during the past week. It is the cue of the Republicans to class the Governor, because of his opposition to a strict application of the Australian system and a high license bill, as the supporter of all that is vicious in our political life—the friend of the briber and the rum-seller. As a counteractive, the Governor has started a little reform movement of his own—one which has two advantages, viz.: that there is real need for the change proposed, but no possibility of its accomplishment. "Recent partisan acts," says the Governor, with disgust at the idea, "both in Congress and in various State Legislatures have induced me to suggest to your honorable body whether a radical change is not advisable in our constitutional methods of determining contested elections." And he goes on to show how four-fifths of all contested elections in Congress are decided in favor of the dominant party, how a legislative body to-day has no rules of evidence to guide it in the exercise of judicial functions, how elections are contested and candidates seated on the flimsiest pretences; and he recounts the English experience in dealing with the same matter, which finally resulted in placing the judicial function in the hands of a judicial officer. All this is very true; and it is simply the system of subverting all the functions of the State to partisan advantage, the system which in our national government has made our President but little more than the official distributor of spoils, and which in our municipal politics has led to the constant necessity of careful scrutiny on the assumption that there is always some underhand work being done, which has prostituted this single judicial function which our legislative bodies have been given. But it is supremely ridiculous to see so uncompromising a partisan as Governor Hill addressing such a partisan body as our State Legislature for the purpose of gravely recommending that the taint of partisanship in this matter should be removed from legislation. What a curious game it is these men play! Governor Hill tries to get ahead of the Legislature, and the Legislature tries to get ahead of Governor Hill; and to accomplish these purposes they both pose as examples of pure devotion to the public good and resolute haters of mere partisanship. As well might Satan ask his Privy Council to abolish sin.

Amid the legislative turmoil at Albany there are many bills introduced, and some passed, which involve principles radical and subversive to an extraordinary degree, but which, amid the pressure of more immediately important measures, escape any searching criticism. Among these bills may be classed Assemblyman Hoag's measure, providing that the candidate for Mayor in this city who receives the second largest number of votes shall become ipso facto a member of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, with a comfortable salary to maintain the dignity of his position. It is hardly necessary to dwell upon the importance of such a law to the Republican machine of this city: a fact which will insure an executive veto. The Republican nomination would forthwith become a desideratum to the faithful, and be worth something of a contribution to the campaign cash box. The number of gentlemen who are willing to lead the forlorn Republican hope would increase marvellously in number and dwindle perceptibly in character. On the other hand its inspiring effect would be limited to the candidate. It would doubtless make a pretty picture to see a Republican, who was at once a staunch Protectionist, and a very religious man into the bargain, seated at that table in the Mayor's office, over which so much money is so badly spent every year, dealing out his intelligent vote on this or that appropriation and expressing his opinions occasionally in a way that would cause sorrow to Tammany and bring joy to the Tribune. The hard and steady workers of the Republican organization would appreciate the fine harmony of such a scene; but we also fear that their interest in it would be purely artistic. A membership on the Board of Estimate and Apportionment would be pleasant and profitable—for the candidate; but he would have no offices at his disposal and would have small influence in securing any. We do not care to say that the Republican "boys" are not superior to their Tammany prototypes, for in the light of certain recent biographies that would be a hazardous statement to make; but in common with the latter, "if they have a little weakness," it is for occupying official positions. Consequently it is unlikely that Mr. Hoag's measure would do anything to diminish deals, while it would probably tend to perpetuate the present system of running a Republican candidate.

But apart from the bearings of such a reform on the Republican machine and its aims, there is another point of view from which to look at Mr. Hoag's proposal. Is any new principal introduced by it? If so, for what purpose? We should answer that the bill is a very curious and crude attempt at minority representation. The Republicans complain that, although their party includes a larger part of the taxpayers, they have no direct representation in the city departments, and no control at all over the expenditure of the city's money. It need hardly be stated that their claims to this representation, so far as it is based on the fact that most taxpayers are Republicans, has no foundation whatever. A property-owner, whatever his tax bills, pays taxes out of his own pocket only on the house he occupies, for the rest he is simply an agent in the distribution of increased rents, which he receives from his tenants for the purpose. The Republicans then have just the same right to be represented in the expenditure of the city's money as any other class of voters, and no more. And this fact breaks down the only shadow of an argument which could justify giving the Republican candidate a membership in the Board of Estimate and Apportionment rather than any other position. The minute this is admitted the absurdity of the whole proposition becomes manifest, for if he has no claim to the particular position on this board he certainly has no better claim to any other office. Admit the right of a defeated candidate for Mayor to recognition and you would, by implication, admit similar rights to all defeated candidates. Minority representation is possible in a legislative body because it is composite, but it is not so in an executive, who is, or ought to be, a unit. Mr. Hoag's proposal is absurd from any point of view but that of partisan politics.

Andrew H. Green's, or shall we say Mayor Grant's and Mayor Chapin's, commission to inquire into the expediency of uniting New York, Brooklyn and other counties into a single city, should waste no time before starting their investigation. These commissions may be useful pieces of machinery, but not unfrequently the enemies of a reform cannot do better than to have a commission appointed to report as to its advisability. Sometimes apathy on the part of the commission, oftener disagreements among the members, and still oftener procrastination on the part of the Legislature have rendered nugatory months of careful investigation. Mr. Green, however, is something of an enthusiast on this consolidation scheme, and he is not likely either to let the grass grow before making his investigation or before putting in his report. Whether anything will come of the report is another and far different question. It is sufficient at this juncture to say that, despite the manifest advantages of consolidation, there will be a strong and increasing opposition to contend against. Neither will it arise, as has been frequently asserted, merely from the professional politicians. Those astute and not over-scrupulous gentlemen may, indeed, make the most effective fight against the union; but there are certain people over the river who are opposed to consolidation for motives and for reasons other than those connected with official preferment. There is fast being created in Brooklyn a local spirit which objects to unification with the metropolis—a spirit which has been nurtured by the marvelous growth which has taken place in Brooklyn during the past five years. That city is becoming more and more of a self-supporting organism. Its theatres, banks, clubs and local business enterprises have increased in number and prosperity, and while it is still largely dependent on New York, that dependence is by no means so complete as it was, consequently it is not surprising that, as the city has attained to certain individuality, the citizens should wish that individuality reflected in a separate municipal organization. The best way, we judge, to pave the way to a consolidation is to increase the facilities of communication, for the union ought to rest, not on a one-sided but on a reciprocal interchange of commodities and services. Residents of Brooklyn should not only be obliged to seek in New York for things they want, but New Yorkers should find it necessary to cross the river for other purposes than to see friends. At present there seems but little chance of so well-balanced an intercourse, but the time may come when people living on the Island will cross the river for business purposes, even as at the present time many a house-owner in Brooklyn finds his bread in New York.

Who Defeated the New Building Law?

The amended Building law is dead, the Legislature having ended its session without taking action on the bill. Much as this result is to be deplored, the Legislature is not to be blamed, but the fault is to be laid to the unseemly squabble that arose at home, and which seems to be inevitably connected with any attempt to revise the law. The bill went to Albany very late, but still in time to have gone through successfully had all been harmony. The bill was presented with full assurance that there would be no opposition to it from any quarter. Relying on that statement, the Committee on Cities of the Assembly promptly reported the bill. To the astonishment of the friends of the bill, the Board of Fire Underwriters of this city sent up notice that they desired a hearing to present a series of amendments. Under the rules of the Assembly the bill had to be re-committed to the Cities Committee; a second public hearing was given, the Underwriters were placated, and after about ten days' time the bill was once more reported back to the Committee of the Whole. This serious loss of time might have been overcome, but opposition arose from other quarters, and the aid of one or two members of Assembly was secured to prevent the bill from being considered under unanimous consent.

Let it be remembered that here was a bill prepared by an entirely competent and public spirited body of men, the Committee on Revision being composed of the Superintendent of Buildings of this city, one member from the New York Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, one member from the Society of Architectural Iron Manufacturers, one member from the New York Board of Fire Underwriters, one member from the Real Estate Owners' and Builders' Association, and two members from the Mechanics' and Traders' Exchange. This committee was assisted by representatives from the Architectural League, by such well-known and able architects as Mr. F. H. Kimball and Mr. L. de C. Berg of Cady & Co., by Mr. A. J. Post, by Mr. F. C. Moore, President of the Continental Insurance Co., and by many other architects, builders and business men. Open meetings had been held to which all interested were invited to present their views. The law was finally completed, and the committee were well satisfied with their work. No one member got in all that he deemed should go in the law, but the finished work represented the consensus of opinions as to what was best; and it went to Albany.

The Board of Underwriters, however, followed the bill to get in what they had been unable to get from the Committee on Revision. They obtained what they went for—one of their demands being to give them a representative on Boards of Surveys called to determine extent of damage by fire—as it was an attack on the bill at a critical moment. That is, they practically obtained all they demanded except the power to arrest owners, architects and builders for violations even of small technicalities, and where the parties may have had no intention to evade any of the voluminous requirements of the law.

The Committee on Cities of the Assembly, of their own volition, added to the Board of Examiners a member from the Real Estate Exchange, who was required to be an architect or builder, and reduced the representation from two to one member from the Mechanics' and Traders' Exchange. Thus the number of members forming the Board of Examiners was not increased; but a representative was given to an important real estate interest. But when this news reached the Mechanics' and Traders' Exchange all the merits of the bill became as nothing in the face of their being reduced to one representative, although all the other and equally important associations have only one, and they set about to beat the bill.

The opposition that caused the most astonishment, however, was that made by Chief Bonner, of the Fire Department, who wrote letters to several members of the Assembly, saying the bill was a bad one and should be defeated! Well, it turned out afterwards that his reasons for taking this pessimistic view were that the Committee on Revision had increased the height of non-fire-proof buildings from 80 to 85 feet, when the object of this increase is to make the height uniform with the special law limiting the height of apartment houses, and to enable proper heights of stories to be obtained without increasing the number of stories; that the committee had increased the area for store buildings on corner lots from 75x100 feet to 100x105 feet, although requiring that when the area of any floor in such building exceed 7,500 feet superficial all the floors must be constructed on the slow-burning principle; that the committee had refused to incorporate a suggestion of his that every wood or coal bin in the cellars of apartment houses must be constructed fire-proof; that 8-inch partition walls to a height of 50 feet were dangerous and should be prohibited, although in the present law, the Chief taking the ground that a wooden stud and lath and plaster partition was preferable to an 8-inch brick partition; that no brick wall should be lined under any circumstances. Chief Bonner had got from the Board of Fire Underwriters their points and made them his own, and wound up his objections to the amended law that it did not give the Fire Department the summary right to arrest persons charged with violations of the Building law.

Then came a request from the Fire Commissioners to the Committee on Revision for a meeting, which was held. Two commissioners were present, President Purroy being sick and absent, as he has been for some weeks past from his office. Commissioner Robbins presided. The objections made by Chief Bonner were presented to the committee, and verbally answered one by one. The acting president presented a clause providing for the arrest of persons for violations, prepared by the attorney to the Fire Department. The committee absolutely refused to entertain it. The acting president offered the ultimatum to the committee to accept the arrest clause and consent to incorporate it in the bill, or the Fire Commissioners would oppose the bill, Mr. Robbins declaring that in case the bill got through the Legislature without this arrest feature he would appear before the Governor and ask the latter to veto the bill. The committee was obdurate and retired. Following this meeting went to Albany telegraphic requests in the name of the Board of Fire Commissioners that the bill be defeated.

It is no wonder that the many friends of the bill in the Legislature were bewildered and made uncertain as to what was the right thing to do, nor that the bill, under the circumstances narrated, should be allowed to sleep to its death. It seems strange that the views of the Superintendent of Buildings, that official having been delegated by the Board of Fire Commissioners some few months ago to represent them in the Revision Committee, should be counterbalanced by the opinions of the Chief of the Fire Department as to points of construction in buildings and administration of the bureau of buildings. It also seems strange that members of a committee should not remain content with the verdict of their peers, without seeking by after methods to compass their ends, which in this case caused the defeat of a bill of great public importance. If the gentlemen who made up the Committee on Revision are not competent to the task, then competent men do not exist, nor men more conscientious, painstaking and desirous of promoting the public welfare. The power to arrest for violations is a sore point with the building interest and real estate owners. That power was wrested away from the department some five years ago on a direct issue, and is not and should not be restored in any revision of the law. That power was abused in the past and made an instrument for oppression and extortion. Ample fines are in the law and full legal powers to reach offenders through due process of the law, and by injunction proceedings to stop willful violations. With but few exceptions, all owners, architects and builders are ready to carry out the strict requirements of the law. At any rate, reputable owners and builders should not be subject to the indignity of an arrest, when perhaps they are in utter ignorance of a violation until the hand of an officer is laid upon their shoulders. The property doesn't run away, and the law reaches the property through lis pendens and other means to enforce the payment of fines.

It will do no good now to describe the merits and advantages of the amended law. It had been our purpose to lay before our readers a full and comprehensive description of the changes, the grouping together of the various subject matters, commencing with excavations, then foundations, walls, partitions, floors, internal arrangements, in the manner that one would naturally proceed in erecting a building, and describe what had been done for the relief of builders and in what way greater security and safety against fire and accidents has been provided for without materially increasing the cost of buildings. Sooner or later the work of revising the building laws must be supplemented by a bill creating a separate Department of Buildings, and bringing together under one general head the construction of buildings, plumbing and ventilation, sewers and vaults, building permits of all kinds, and thus do away with the senseless delays and vexations experienced by architects and those who invest nearly seventy millions of dollars each year in new buildings in addition to spending some ten millions of dollars yearly in alterations and improvements to existing buildings. We bid the gentlemen who have already given so much of their time and experience to building law matters not to falter in their good work, and eventually success will crown their efforts. Public sentiment is with them, and will support them in every emergency.

A Phase of the Rapid Transit Problem.

In spite of the fact that "politics" have again defeated all attempts to give New York rapid transit, it cannot be long held from this city, whose inhabitants have become convinced through recent discussions of the urgent needs of it. It is fully time that citizens anticipate favorable action on the part of the Legislature, and give their attention to the question which directly affects them: How shall rapid transit lines be managed? In other words, shall private companies or the city itself own the lines? This question may appear somewhat strange in print to the reading public, who have not during the whole discussion of the subject of rapid transit received so much as an intimation from the daily press that any other plan than that of private control is for a moment to be regarded. Nevertheless, public ownership of rapid transit lines is practicable, and is a plan which should receive the most careful consideration before a single step is taken toward the further erection of street car lines of any kind. And although the legislative sanction has not yet been given to rapid transit in this city, it is not too soon to make investigations as to the practicability of municipal control with reference to this branch of the city service.

The object of rapid transit is to bring the annexed districts of the city closer to the business centre. It is by this means only that the city can grow to any great extent from without. Establish lines and the outlying barren districts will become at once convenient for habitation. But all this is clear; what is not clearly seen is that in the very nature of these connecting lines lies the possibility of increased city revenues when once they are owned and operated by the municipal authorities. Each year thereafter as the connected districts grow in population the return from the roads will increase correspondingly. The city, after paying for its investment, will have then, it is seen, a source of revenue which increases in proportion to the growth of its outlying parts. Should not the city hesitate before giving away this profitable source of revenue to private companies?

The immediate result of placing rapid transit in the hands of private companies will be to subject the laboring population of the annexed districts to the regulation of legalized monopolies. It is of little avail to urge that the actions of these private rapid transit companies will be held in check by limitations specified in the charters granted. The streets of this city are now practically owned by private companies operating under nominal restrictions. The whole question of satisfactory management of street car lines is not settled when a maximum limit is placed on the amount of fare to be charged, as it seems to be generally supposed. So far as the amount of fare charged is concerned, it would probably not be any different under one system of control from that under the other—it would not be over five cents in either case. It makes a great difference to the citizen, however, whether the proceeds derived from these fares go into the city treasury or into the pockets of private capitalists. Mr. Hewitt recognized the importance of this difference when he was Mayor. In his message of January 31, 1888, speaking of rapid transit, he said: "I think it will be conceded that these lines would do an enormous business, which would be very profitable even at five cents per passenger. If this be true, then the city has an additional reason for undertaking the construction of these roads, because a reasonable share of the profit can thus be secured to the treasury. The city can build the roads at less cost than any private company. The money can be borrowed at three per cent, whereas no other party could probably secure it at better than five per cent. per annum. The difference of two per cent. per annum invested so as to produce only three per cent. per annum would constitute a Sinking Fund which would liquidate the principal of the debt in thirty-five years." These are the printed words of a New York Mayor, who admittedly had a grasp upon municipal subjects such as no other recent occupant of the Mayoralty of this city possessed.

As the rapid transit lines will be used for the greater part by people with small incomes, their interests should naturally be considered first. Instead, therefore, of operating the lines with a view to obtaining a revenue, the direct interest of this class might best be served by reducing fares to the lowest rate consistent with efficient and satisfactory management. But to what demands of the city's population will private rapid transit companies listen, whose sole object in operating the roads is to receive as large returns as possible on their investment. Glasgow, in Scotland, owns its own street railways, runs special workingmen's cars for one-cent fares. Does any one suppose for a minute that private companies would run rapid transit cars for workingmen at reduced rates, especially when these workingmen are largely dependent upon this means of transportation, which connects their homes with their places of work? Then, too, the interest of the working public may require a greater number of cars or trains daily than it is for the interest of private companies to provide. The public may rest assured that the reason the morning and evening cars on the elevated railroads of this city are so crowded that there is not standing room left is that it would not be so profitable for the management of these lines to increase the number of trains.

There is one principle which the experience of municipalities all over the country is daily working out, and it is this: public necessity makes a service a public function. This principle applied will go a long way toward solving such municipal problems as "How to manage rapid transit?"

The bill to authorize the appointment of a commission to draft and report laws for the construction, regulation and inspection of buildings in all the cities of the State, excepting the cities of New York and Brooklyn, which already have building laws, ignominiously failed in the Legislature, whose session has just ended. The New York Board of Fire Underwriters had officially forwarded their approval of the bill, and requested that the bill receive favorable action. The Fire Underwriters in Buffalo, Albany and several other cities, together with a number of leading architects through the State, gave their indorsement to the measure, but the bill early struck the same snag that is responsible for many a wreck in the tortuous political waters. There was patronage in the bill. Three commissioners were to be appointed, and for the salaries of these experts, who are required to be skilled in the construction of buildings, and for counsel fees and printing and other necessary expenses in the prosecution of the work, a total expenditure of $10,000 was provided. The commissioners were to be appointed by the Governor—a Democratic Governor was to be given appointments by a Republican Legislature. The Judiciary Committee of the Senate, of the opinion to a man that a code of building laws should be drawn applicable to cities of various sizes, could not agree as to how the commission should be appointed, and the bill failed even to get a report at their hands. For a time longer buildings can be erected throughout the State without regard to principles of safe construction or with reasonable security from fire and exemption from conditions which invite disease and foster contagion, because a party advantage is deemed of more importance by men who control the making of our laws than is the public welfare of whole communities.

It is a relief to turn from the daily strife which private gas companies keep alive in this city to an examination of the annual report of the superintendent of the city gas works of Richmond, Va., which has just been issued. The gas works of that city were placed under municipal control in 1851, and during the period of thirty-nine years which has ensued since that date their management has been above criticism. It is not necessary to refer to the report of these works to obtain this fact. If the management of them had been anything but successful no known earthly force could have suppressed the fact a day; for private companies have been long watching the chance, and are only too ready to take advantage of the slightest defect of operation to get a hold upon these works. The latest attempt towards wresting the works from the city was made by some wealthy persons of this city, who went to Richmond, and as a first step towards buying up the plant gave a dinner to which all members of the City Council and their friends were invited. Fortunately, the "irrepressible press"—which in that city has been brought to a belief in municipal control of public works through everyday observations—penetrated the design and put a stop to further corrupt proceedings. Similar underhanded means have been attempted in the interests of private companies to secure control of the city gas works of Philadelphia. There, complaints have been trumped up by designing persons, and on the strength of this self-created opposition they call upon the city to give up its works. There seems to be no limit to the length to which the audacity of these private companies leads them. An examination of the report of the city gas works of Richmond for 1889 shows that the total output consumed during this year was 166,769,887 cubic feet, of which amount 44,135,687 cubic feet were furnished free to the city. Notwithstanding this free supply of gas for public lighting, the city was able to realize $58,390.61 as a net profit on the year's management. To obtain the actual amount saved to the city through the operation of its own works, $64,703.14 —the expense of public lighting which the city would have to pay under a system of private control—should be added to this sum, giving a total of $123,094.14 as the actual saving to the city of Richmond for the year 1889. The average illuminating power of the gas for the year was 19.42 candles. It is proposed by the management of the works to soon reduce the price of gas, which is now $1.50 for 1,000 feet to $1.25. This change will not diminish the annual receipts, it is thought, as the consumption will thereby be increased. The city is now taking steps toward buying up the plant of the Schuyler Electric Light Company, the contract of which expires in 1891. The city gas works of Richmond invites inspection, and the authorities of this city would not lose anything by accepting the invitation.

Investments—Good and Bad.

MAKING A MARKET.

The way in which people view the market is very peculiar. The most popular standpoint is from the stock the observer happens to be interested in, so that a man long of Delaware & Hudson will say the market has gone up fourteen or fifteen points, while the holder of C. C. C. & St. L. preferred will not think an advance of one point much of a bull market. Then again there is a general tendency to attribute the movements in the prices of stock to some one cause, because it happens coincidentally to occupy the public attention. And, too, more often than anything, the colossal burden of carrying prices up or down is credited to this or that individual. At one time Mr. Pierepont Morgan is the fetich invoked by the Street, at another Mr. Gould or Mr. Villard. As a matter of fact, it is not one but all of these which go to make a market. Just now it is the fashion to attribute the advance to the movement at Washington toward silver legislation, and the fact that prices do not advance faster to an unexplainable indifference of Mr. Gould to profit on stock transactions. The report of an agreement on a silver bill by the party able to carry it was naturally a bull factor in Wall street, and at any time that Mr. Gould chooses to employ his wealth and abilities in putting up prices, the result is likely to be noticeable. But, as a matter of fact, advance was inevitable with or without silver legislation or Mr. Gould. The movement of prices attest this. The lowest recent figures for the general list were seen in the month of February, and, notwithstanding that funds were scarce and banks suspicious of collateral, during March prices hardened and gradually advanced, stocks which had suffered most in the immediately preceding decline benefiting to the largest extent. Early in April there was some reaction, and a new advance set in about three weeks ago. There was then, it is true, news from Washington favorable to such a movement, but the attitude of the railroads, and especially of Missouri Pacific, was against it. Still it may be remarked in passing that Missouri Pacific has advanced in three weeks more than any of the Vanderbilts' and in fact holds a good place among the stocks, showing large gains. There are a great many agencies at work in the making of a market. One most important is the long continued trade prosperity. For about four years nearly all manufactures have been in a flourishing condition; it would be hard to find in the commercial history of the country another period of equal duration when business was so generally good. This industrial activity has, of course, affected the railroads, which have been taxed to the utmost of their carrying capacity and have made handsome increases in both gross and net earnings in spite of the tendency of rates to lower and in spite of a very much more serious trouble, extreme competition verging on rank hostility among themselves. Money, which naturally favors trade before investment, is now plentiful in New York as in other financial centres, and seeks employment in the investment and speculative markets. Instead of the borrower searching for funds the lender is the seeker, and his rules in the matter of collateral are much less rigid than they were only a few weeks ago. Money usually collects in New York about this time, and that is why the stock market, like the Mississippi, may be expected to have a spring rise. That is why, also, an advance was certain without the aid of the railroad magnates, who have sometimes to wait by the pool like other people, or of the political magnates who know so little of the causes of its rise and fall. Now, that being the case, what deduction is to be drawn from the present situation? There is everywhere a rise in investment and speculative securities, for which long preparation had been made, and was brought about in the most natural course of things financial. There are also existent other things which tend to accelerate that rise. There is no telling to what extent the passage of a liberal silver bill would be interpreted in favor of an advance in securities, notwithstanding that it is apparent on its face that it would be a considerable time before our currency could in any way feel the effects of the operation of the measure, even without taking into account the extent to which the national bank circulations will retire before the new federal obligations. Any considerable advance in the general market takes its first step among the bond issues; the volume of business and prices both increasing rapidly, this has been the case in the present movement. There is also the Western railroad situation to be considered. Even that may improve soon. If the agents and managers are the stock speculators they are said to be they will find in Wall street very strong argument in favor of agreement, and will speedily settle their differences on rates, arbitraries and distribution of business, and turn to their more important private interests. The coal trade having survived a very bad winter, speaking from the coaler's point of view, without demoralization gives strength to the stocks specially affected by that trade. Our total exports show an increase over imports for the fiscal year, due to the enlarged sale of our breadstuffs abroad, notwithstanding large fallings off in cotton and oil, though late weekly returns show that for the time being imports exceed exports. European buyings of our securities have been lately, and continue to be very large, particularly in the investment lines. A great many investments which were thrown over in anticipation of reorganization have been, and others are being replaced, now that reorganization has been effected. All these tend to show that the advance now seen is only the beginning of a changed market, and that we shall have for some time to come prices advancing and business in securities active. The periods of reaction will be the buyer's opportunity. The reaction which has been seen this week was expected and is no more than is characteristic of a bull market. A gentleman very prominent in Wall street, fond of striking figures and having a supreme contempt for any one thinking differently from himself, has said that any one who cannot smell this is a bull market ought to buy himself a rubber nose. Without going so far as this, it is very difficult so see how any one can be bearish on the situation unless he is a born bear. One can find tolerance for hereditary imperfections, as one may, too, ask consideration for the fallibility of his own views.

ADVICE GRATIS.

S. C. M. wants to know if we think C. C. C. & St. L. common a good buy at present prices? The stock will probably advance with the general market, but it is not the one we should select for the investor. It is reasonably sure to pay 4 per cent. this year, but we do not see why our correspondent should favor it to the exclusion of good 4 per cent. bonds which are selling at very little more. The system is now very extended, and the stock capital large; earnings do not show increase enough to warrant the expectation that the common stock dividend will be made equal to the preferred.

HARLEM.—"What is your opinion of Mo., Kansas & Texas securities?" The reorganization of the property has been completed, and has been bettered and extended by the receivers. It has been unofficially estimated, and the estimate is apparently a good one, that $4,000,000 excess earnings have been laid out on the property. So that when turned over to the new company it can be operated for 60 per cent. of gross earnings. On this basis last year's earnings were more than the interest on both First and Second mortgage bonds. For the first three months of this year earnings increased $320,000. In the same months of 1889 the road earned 19 per cent. of its year's earnings. In the first quarter of this year the property earned $1,781,873; with the proportions the same as in 1889. The earnings for the year should be something more thaa $9,750,000. With such earnings the cost of operation may go as high as 75 per cent. and still leave sufficient to pay 4 per cent. on $50,000,000 of First and Second mortgage bonds.

J. J. B., with entirely unnecessary apologies for troubling us, asks: "What should a holder of West Michigan do?" For the present hold on. The stock has sold down very low, or more properly been marked down, for the transactions have been very light. The rally has been considerable, but considering the excellent showing of the company we think it can go on.

INDUSTRIAL—"Do you favor investment in mercantile and industrial issues?" We made our position clear on this point in the initial article of this column. We see no reason why outside capital should not participate in the large profits of general industries if invested with proper caution and a due exercise of common sense.

STOCK BUYER—"What are the chances for rise in Burlington and Quincy?" Of all the Northwestern stocks Burlington & Quincy would be our choice. The increase in its earnings more than offsets the recent issue of bonds, and relying upon a continuance of the foresight and good management which have made Burlington the property it is, and remembering, too, the lesson it got on the labor problem, it ought and doubtless will come to the front of the Northwesterners as a dividend payer, even if it can never again pay 8 per cent, owing to increase of competition and extra cost of handling.

A Conversation at Sea.

It happened early last winter that I took passage on one of the large ocean liners during January. At the time, I remember, I thought it a great hardship. The passage was sure to be rough; there would be but few passengers to chat with on the voyage; and as I stepped over the gangplank my feelings were the reverse of pleasant. But the business could not wait the pleasure of the waves, the temperature and a crowd of tourists, so that I had no alternative but to screw up my courage to the inevitably uncomfortable, just as a man does upon taking a seat in a dentist's chair. I was, however, most agreeably disappointed. The passage, it is true, was rough, the weather cold, and the few passengers on board, like Sir Joseph Porter, "generally stayed below." But I soon discovered that this was not an unmixed misfortune. I had the decks and the smoking-room very much to myself; I was not continually harrassed by melancholy people who evidently did not expect to live; and the very roughness of the weather, unaccompanied, as it was, by sickness, had an element of surprise and grandeur in it which supplied in excitement what it lacked in repose. A calm sea is too monotonous, and the variety which my company lacked was supplied by the waves and the weather.

I was not, however, entirely alone. Among the woe-begone faces, which occasionally appeared at the dinner table only to vanish subsequently for days at a time, there was one face which was not woe-begone, one protuberant waistcoat, which never missed a meal, one well-muffled gentleman, who breasted the weather with myself throughout the day and filled the smoking-room throughout the evening with his presence and his pipe. The more I observed that man, the more I envied him. He did everything with such a zest, such an evident determination to get what he wanted and enjoy it after possession. He damned the waiters without stint, insisted that every chop should be cooked to perfection, growled incessantly at the "bill-a-fare," was disgusted with every kind of weather, and settled into a state of satisfaction only when after dinner he was sitting in a chair and puffing out clouds of smoke. Then, and then only, did he become approachable, and then it was that we entered into the conversation which I am about to detail.

About nine o'clock one night I watched my chance, caught the boat still for an instant, and slipped into the smoking-room without much of that preliminary maneuvering which makes an attempt to gain any objective point on a tossing ship a matter of careful deliberation and nice adjustment of opportunity to end. I found my bumptious companion sitting there in that fat and comfortable way which betokened a good digestion and freedom from that care and responsibility entailed on him by any action. Apparently he was more than usually talkable; indeed, I may say that up to this time our conversation had been limited to a polite question on my part, and a monosyllabic affirmative or negative on his. But on this evening I saw him for the first time beam a little bit on my entrance, and I settled down to try and discover what the man had to say; for I was assured that a man all corners and edges like this one must in his inevitable friction with the world have found something to damn besides an overdone chop.

"It is getting a bit rougher," I suggested, as a preliminary nothing; but all I got in response was a grunt, which might mean anything, and probably did mean nothing at all beyond a contempt for conventional questions. Evidently the roughness of the weather was a matter of comparative indifference to my bear at this moment. Unfortunately I did not see the fundamental character of my error, and I kept on plying him with questions about chops, service fees, the comparative advantages of different steamship lines—in short, all the subjects which form the conversational fare of tourists on a ship, and which, indeed, usually supplied him with subject matter for complaints innumerable. Finally, I was beginning to get disgruntled to the extent of mentally dogmatizing on the lack of sociability and expansiveness displayed by your ordinary "Britisher," when a chance inquiry and an immediate response showed me my mistake. Evidently the man wanted to talk about himself and his own affairs, but he did not care to do so until I encouraged him.

"What! me, John Watson, me get sea-sick," said he, with a fine scorn at the very idea, and an unhesitating disregard of grammatical formalities. "Why, sir, I have traveled on nearly every steamship line in the world, and have not been sick for years. I fear rough weather no more than Sirius fears the north wind."

The comparison, I subsequently learned, was not original; but at the time I was very much impressed by it, and made a mental note of it for future reference. But after this my task became easy. I questioned him as to his travels, as to his reasons for traveling, as to his experiences when traveling, and finally as to the causes of his present visit to the United States; and just so long as my inquiries were personal, without being impertinently curious, he talked with a garrulousness born of a second bottle of wine, and aided by his previously prolonged silence.

I soon learned that he had been obliged to work hard when young, without being able to get a stable position, owing to the successive misfortunes of his different employers. Having been engaged, however, in a number of different lines of business, and having been obliged continually to stint himself, he accumulated a valuable business experience, and through hard necessity learnt the value of money. When about thirty-five years old, however, he was unexpectedly left a large sum, and he had since devoted his life to its judicious investment, his objects being to find securities, which, like the Duke of Plaza-Toro (Limited), combined perfect safety with unequalled profits.

"Yes," he said, as he recovered his equilibrium after a sudden lurch of the ship; "I was not going to sit down in England, put the money in three per cents., and spend my life showing myself off as a four or five hundred thousand pounder. A man with a large sum of money is no longer his own master; he becomes endowed with large opportunities and enormous responsibilities. That money must be invested in the way that will give the biggest return, no matter in what country that return was to be found. But I was not going to trust to any scoundrelly agents to do the business for me. I always see what I buy, my young friend; and there would be fewer fools in the world if there were more like me."

Then he went on to tell how he had railroad stock in one country, irrigation canals in another, plantations in another, real estate in another, and, finally, he added, triumphantly: "I have never made a bad investment yet; no, not one."

Personally I thought that his investment in that second bottle of wine was something of a mistake, for his volubility was becoming almost tiresome.

"And what brought you to New York this last time?" I inquired.

"Real estate," he replied with sudden brevity. "I wanted to have some landed interests in your country and I came to the conclusion that the metropolis was best for the purpose, both because of its convenience and because of its assured position. But I soon began to curse myself for my pains. Why? do you ask. Why, because my time is valuable, and when I buy property I want to do it cheaply and quickly. I cannot stay pottering around two or three months in a place for the sake of an investment. There I was in New York, fuming from place to place, paying fees, commissions, making searches and going through a thousand formalities. I tell you, you are all a lot of barbarians to stand this sort of thing for a month. The laws of the State of New York as relating to land transfer seem designed to make it as difficult as possible."

"I do not quite see that," said I, dubiously. The man was getting too violent.

"You don't quite see it!" said he, with scant courtesy. "Well then, where are your eyes? I want to buy a railroad bond, I can do it in two hours, provided I hasten its delivery. Is there anything in the nature of real estate to make it more difficult of transfer? Assuredly not. But your law-makers have heaped obstacle upon obstacle; they have given creditors facilities to seize it, which the latter do not possess in regard to any other kind of property; they have given wives an equity in it which prevents the husband from calling it his own; they insist that every piece of property shall have a pedigree which must be examined previous to transfer, without providing for any system whereby such a pedigree can be conveniently searched; they tax it for local and State matters, practically to the exclusion of every other kind of property, and then do not even give a man an opportunity to learn cheaply and quickly what the charges are against his land. Yet no one raises his voice against these burdens which are as unnecessary as they are colossal. You have a thousand newspapers chattering about a protective tariff. Yet here is a system of burdensome charges upon the exchange of the most substantial kind of property—burdens which directly result in high rents and higher rates of interest on mortgages—and there is not a paper who will give it more than passing attention."

During this little harangue the ship was beginning to roll in an alarming manner, and both the sturdy critic and myself had some considerable difficulty in retaining our balance. Moreover, the room, which was the small smoking-room, had become suffocating with smoke, for my bear, who ordinarily was a model smoker, had become so excited by this time that he was puffing violently on an enormous cigar, and emphasizing his remarks by occasional gesticulations. In order to cool him off I suggested a turn on the deck, but we rose at an unfortunate moment, for just as we were on our feet a sudden lurch threw us both into the corner. My companion was upset in more ways than one by this, and, having regained his seat, resolutely refused to stir.

"What do you think happened to me?" gurgled my 500,000 pound treasure, after a while.

I professed that I had not the slightest idea.

"I know what I am talking about," he continued. "When I bought my property in New York I had to fuss around for six weeks—for six weeks. Just think of that. I was not going to give the matter wholly into the hands of a petti-fogging lawyer. It was my business to see what was done. The property I purchased had changed hands many times before. But that did not do me any good. We had to go through the whole business again, and search through a mountain of tomes without the aid of an intelligible index. Talk about the 'Empire of the Dead.' Bah, its foundation stone is the asinine stupidity of the living. The practice is simply one of digging a hole in order to put a man in it. The past leaves you a mighty dust-heap of books and papers, a wilderness of documents; and you retain them and build enormous houses to hold them, only for the purpose of giving lawyers a chance to guide you through. You use a mass of verbiage to convey or lease a piece of property, only because certain stationers make money by printing the forms, and certain officials add to their fees by recording them. It would be in principle not a whit less sensible to erect your houses in one jumbled mass. without streets or numbers, so that a number of guides could make a living by showing you around. What did my lawyer have to do? He had to ramble through the Register's office and pay fees there; he rambled through the County Clerk's office and paid fees there; he had to search the United States District Court, Circuit Court, the Loan Commissioners, the Tax office, paying fees all the time, and gleefully charging me for his pains. The whole business is an outrage, and I am done with your real estate for ever."

Here the man began to bluster so incoherently, and vituperate with such an evident lack of mental equilibrium that I began to be somewhat alarmed. The boat had been tossing around more and more all the time; and I could see that my Neptune-defier was not quite steady—his face was becoming pale. Finally he motioned for me to ring the bell, and said with a sickly grin that he thought he would retire. I smiled a cheerful smile wished him a pleasant night's rest; and a moment later this maritime Sirius disappeared down the hatchway, supported by two very unhappy stewards. But whether it was the wine, the smoke, the "impious ocean," or the iniquitous land transfer laws of this State, which caused this complete extinction of my British star, I was never able to ascertain. He was my only companion, and I was sorry to lose him.

The next day I noticed that Mr. Watson avoided me in a way that showed that he was to some extent ashamed of himself, and it was not until towards the end of the voyage that I was again able to approach him. The weather had moderated considerably, so that our fellow-travelers were beginning to show themselves, and that circumstance in itself kept us apart, for the man never cared to talk when a crowd was around. But one night late, finding him sitting on deck well muffled up, I drew up a chair and sat down next to him.

"Do you mind," I asked, "reopening the conversation we had the other evening?"

"Not at all," he answered.

"Well, then," I said, "why is it that you were so very much annoyed by your difficulty in purchasing property in New York? Surely you have met with the same difficulties elsewhere. In England every one knows that the systems both of land transfer and land tenure are buried in abuses, which Parliament has as yet been unable to remedy."

"Very true," returned Mr. Watson, "and more is the pity. But you have not the same excuses for the retention of time worn, expensive and burdensome methods as England has. You pride yourself on your enterprise, your readiness to adopt more satisfactory methods, your ability to throw a law or a machine aside as soon as it ceases to fit its purpose, or as soon as anything better is offered. America, your orators tell us, is a country which despises obsolete methods; she is continually finding 'short cuts' which bring her to her various destinations wishout waste of time or money. Matthew Arnold has praised you for your readiness to think clearly and see straight. Yet here is a system of patent abuses, which are allowed to remain year after year, with hardly a voice to point out their absurdity. In England it is different. Around the land of that country are grouped associations in the minds of the people which makes it almost impossible for any reformatory law, which rests on the voluntary consent of the people, as the Cairns Act did, to become effective. An Englishman has almost a superstitious reverence for title deeds; and many of the absurdities, such as entailed land for instance, are so closely connected with social forms that an attempt to reform the law is taken as an abridgment of aristocratic privilege.

"I have heard," I replied, "that the system of land-laws in Australia are an improvement on our own. Have you had any experience with them?"

"Yes," answered Mr. Watson, his eyes lighting with a glow which betrayed the fact that he was about to mount a hobby. "It was the fact that I had just come from Australia and had become used to their simple methods of transfer which made particularly unbearable the delays and inconveniences of my experience in New York. The gentleman who introduced the Australian reform was, as you probably know, Sir Robert Torrens—the measure having been named after him. The essential principle of the Torrens act was the registration of titles instead of the registration of deeds. A deed, of course, means one conveyance, and in order to prove a clear title you have to search not only for all previous conveyances, but for all judgments, liens, etc., which could by any means affect the title. But when you register the title, this searching is done once and for always. Your equity in the property which previously was steeped in retrospect, is brought as it were 'up to date' by each successive conveyance. I am just as indifferent in Australia as to the person or persons who owned a piece of property before I purchased it as the man is who buys a railway bond. I do not care whether or not he has a wife, whether there are any judgments filed against him, whether his father in case the property was inherited had any judgments filed against him, or whether his father had one, two, three or ten children. I get a certificate of a perfect title. What more can a man want? I will not at present go into a description of the way the land is bought under the operation of the act, nor can I wait to describe the mechanism in full, but I would like to give you an illustration of its workings. When I buy a piece of property, I, together with the grantor, go before the Registrar. The grantor brings with him his certificate of title, which is a copy of that on the Registrar's books. He then fills out in presence of the official the memorial on the back of the certificate, which is simply to this effect: "I (that is the grantor), in consideration of the sum of so and so, transfer to you all my estate and interest in the lands described in vol. 7, folio 14, of the register book." A certificate of title is issued to me, bearing on its face all the mortgage and leases against the land, and I have my title. The whole transaction does not cost me five dollars, and does not take much more than five minutes. A mortgage costs five shillings, a release of mortgage the same, and a lease 10 shillings. There have been examples of people who mortgaged their property for $35, because of these small charges. A farmer cultivating his own land rides four or five miles into a town, goes to a broker, asks for $250 to pay his men, and gets it on a mortgage in fifteen minutes."

"Are you aware," I said, "that we have begun a reform on the same lines in this city? But we have approached the problem in a different way. After all it does not make so much difference whether it is the deeds or the title which is registered, provided that you have a simple and convenient index which will aid you in obtaining immediate access to all the instruments relating to the parcel you wish to convey."

"I acknowledge," Mr. Watson replied, that such an index would greatly facilitate the transfer of property, but I should think that the trouble would be that as it does not obviate the necessity of searches, it falls short of accomplishing what the Torrens law has accomplished. It would not give you an indefeasible title guaranteed by the State."

"But the State in Australia," I answered, "as I understand it, never guarantees a title which is not indefeasible already. I buy a Government bond without a State guarantee, because a man's possession of the bond is prima facie evidence of his title to it, just as his possession of the certificate in Australia is an evidence of his title to the property. This State guarantee is not intended to make good what the Australians call a 'blistered title;' it is simply a provision against a possible error made by the State solicitors when they originally searched the title."

"I fear it is getting rather late," he replied, with a yawn, and bidding me a cordial good night he betook himself to his state-room, leaving me to reflect that he had been wise even in his cups, when he called us a pack of fools for sitting in our chairs and sweating under a load of useless papers, when a litte careful thought and a year or so of hard work against the active and latent opposition against which every reform has to contend, would remove from our shoulders a burden which is indeed not overpowering, but which is annoying and exasperating.

The Exterior Street, East River.

OTHER WATER FRONT IMPROVEMENTS IN PROSPECT.

The article on the above subject which appeared in THE RECORD AND GUIDE of the 19th ult. created considerable interest among property-holders, builders, business men and others interested in the improvement of the East River water front between 64th and 81st streets. That article clearly showed that the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund have been neglectful of their duty in carrying out the law on this matter—a law passed in 1887 in compliance with the business requirements of the east side. Although three years have elapsed little or nothing has yet been done to forward this important improvement.

The policy of the Sinking Fund Commissioners in fearing to commit the city to an outlay of about $1,570,000 where it is absolutely needed, displays not only want of courage but considerable shortsightedness. It is in keeping with the halting policy which. by neglecting to approve the Dock Board's plan for a comprehensive improvement of our North River water front, has driven a large portion of the shipping and commerce which naturally belongs to us to New Jersey and Brooklyn. Such a policy is censurable because the people of this city lose millions of dollars annually and are put to perpetual inconvenience thereby, and because the increased assessed valuation of property resulting from these improvements and the revenue derivable from the new piers constructed would, within less than a decade, it is estimated, more than repay the cost with interest charges of the entire improvement. But here is an outlay which does not involve $20,000,000, as the above plan would have entailed. A sum of $1,570,040 is the expenditure estimated, part of which ($660,000) will be saddled upon the property-owners benefited. Yet the Sinking Fund Commissioners have been about two years in making up their minds about it.

The commission held a special meeting to consider the matter on Monday, after leaving the question in abeyance for nearly a year. At this meeting such prominent east side property-owners as Cornelius O'Reilly, John D. Crimmins and Joseph Blumenthal addressed the Board, urging that immediate action be taken to carry out the improvement. Plans were also discussed for the laying out of the prospective exterior street from 49th to 53d street, along the East River, as well as improving the water front between 59th and 64th streets and the East River. After an examination of the plans, and explanations of them by the engineer-in-chief of the Dock Department, the whole matter was referred to the Commissioner of Public Works and the Dock Commissioners, with a request that they report to the Board the estimated cost of the improvements. Th exterior street, between 64th and 81st streets, will involve an outlay, so it is officially estimated, of about $1,570,040, while in a talk with Chief-Engineer Greene, of the Dock Board, the latter said: "I think the improvement of the water front between 49th and 53d streets and between 59th and 64th streets, will cost about $500,000, on a rough guess." So that the three improvements will cost about $2.000,000 altogether, which means an annual interest charge to the city of only $50,000. And it is this small charge that the commissioners hesitate to incur, notwithstanding that the rents from new piers and other sources of concurrent income will probably be twice that sum. Engineer Greene states that his department can get the figures in a week or two, and there is no reason why the Commissioner of Public Works should not report his estimates to the Board within the same time. The Nineteenth Ward Business Men's Association should keep a sharp lookout on all the commissioners, and not cease their efforts until the Sinking Fund Board authorizes the necessary appropriations for the execution of these important water front improvements.

Real Estate Exchange Matters.

On Monday the Rapid Transit Committee of the Real Estate Exchange held its regular meeting. No business was transacted, but the members had an informal talk on the action of the Legislative Committee last week in indorsing the Compromise Fassett Rapid Transit bill. It was the unanimous opinion of the gentlemen present that the Legislative Committee, comprising only a small number, had acted unwisely in committing the Exchange to the support of any bill after the Committee of One Hundred had declared at Albany that they favored no bill, but only desired rapid transit. It is believed that the resolution was passed thoughtlessly in the hope that it might succeed in helping the passage of the bill which seemed, at the time the committee met, so likely to become a law. It was resolved on the part of the Rapid Transit Committee to send a copy of THE RECORD AND GUIDE containing an account of the last meeting of the Legislative Committee to Senator Fassett, to show him that the resolution adopted was not the sentiment of a majority of the Exchange.

The meeting of the Legislative Committee on Tuesday was very poorly attended, due probably to the bad weather. Benjamin F. Romaine, Jr., occupied the chair, and Alfred E. Marling, as usual, acted as secretary.

A letter from the Post-Office Clerks' Association was read, asking the indorsement by the Exchange of a bill now before Congress, reducing the number of hours of daily labor from twelve to eight. It was moved to grant the request. Mr. Moses Ottinger, in discussing the bill, said: "Before we go any further, I would like to know whether we ought to meddle with the bill at all."

F. R. Houghton suggested that the committee had refused officially to favor the change of the names of 9th and 10th avenues, and he saw no reason why they should take up the Postal Clerks' bill. The motion was then amended by ordering a reference to the Committee on Federal Relations.

The following gentlemen were elected to membership in the Exchange at the meeting of the Board of Directors last Tuesday afternoon: Stock—Chas. Henry Butler, Jas. A. Breen and Elias Kempner. Annual—Isaac W. Maclay, P. J. Cuskley and Henry H. Gordon.

P. S. Treacy has been proposed for membership in the Exchange.

The Building Trades Club's Election.

The first annual meeting of the Building Trades Club took place on Tuesday at the rooms of the club, No. 20 East 21st street. The officers elected for the forthcoming year are similar to those of last year, with the exception of the treasurer, Samuel I. Acken, whose place is taken by Stephen M. Wright. Marc Eidlitz is re-elected president, John J. Tucker first vice-president, Andrew J. Campbell second vice-president, and Henry W. Redfield secretary. The club membership, after only one year's existence, now numbers about 150, and includes members of most of the principal firms connected with the building trades in this city.

Annual Convention of the Master Steam Fitters.

The Master Steam and Hot Water Fitters' Association of the United States have been holding their second annual convention this week, the meetings having taken place at the Park Avenue Hotel; Charles J. Gillis, of Gillis & Geoghegan, in the chair. The principal business transacted was an endeavor to regulate prices of goods consumed by the members of the association. They held conferences with the committee of manufacturers of brass goods and iron fittings and material, and the latter agreed to give the master steam fitters advantages over consumers in the way of discounts. About two hundred delegates were present from New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Philadelphia, Boston, Baltimore, Milwaukee, Buffalo and other cities. Yesterday the delegates took a trip up the Hudson to West Point and to-day they meet to decide upon the place of meeting next year, which will be in some Western city. The majority of the officers elected for the ensuing year are Chicago men.

Why the West Enders Now Oppose the "Zoo."

The members of the West End Association have changed their mind about the resolution they passed some time ago recommending the proposition to remove the menagerie buildings to the neighborhood of Central Park and West 104th street. At their meeting this week they rescinded that resolution unanimously and condemned the proposition. A prominent member of the association, when asked by a representative of THE RECORD AND GUIDE for an explanation of this change of sentiment, said: "We passed the first resolution hurriedly, on the suggestion of a member that it would be a good thing for the managerie to be brought to the west side, as it would familiarize thousands of people with that section of the city who rarely get up that way. This would, it was thought, result in many of these people coming to live on the west side, and thus help builders and increase values. But upon further consideration it became clear that the large crowds attracted would prove a detriment to property rather than an advantage, and the association was not slow in determining unanimously to oppose what they had heretofore supported.

Real Estate Notes.

There has been much talk in real estate circles concerning the large number of Hebrews who join in the purchase of property. A recent sale of a plot on Roosevelt street and New Bowery to five Italians as joint tenants and trustees for others shows that the sons of sunny Italy are not behind their Hebrew fellow-citizens in forming combines to handle the safest of all investments—"improved realty."

Louis M. Jones, of Hoboken, N. J., is quite active in the purchase of down-town lots suitable for improvement and their resale with building loans. Among other recent purchases by Mr. Jones are Nos. 17 and 19 Greenwich avenue and 218-224 East 27th street.

A few weeks ago we called attention to the fact that certain Park avenue flats which changed hands were mortgaged for close to the selling price. The conveyances this week show that Nos. 120 and 122 East 85th street, which were sold at $71,514, are mortgaged for $67,500. The sellers in both instances are the same.

Tenth avenue, did you say? I guess not—Amsterdam avenue, if you please. Property on what was formerly 10th avenue is now transferred as Amsterdam avenue. Builder loan operator Edward Hirsh took title to the first parcel called Amsterdam avenue and immediately reconveyed it to Builder John Casey for improvement.

A few weeks ago mention was made of extensive improvements then begun on upper Hudson street, where nearly two block fronts of old rookeries were demolished. Some idea of the necessity therefor is obtained when it is stated that already one of the large buildings now being erected has been rented and is to be occupied by June 1st.

Some Examples in Good Building.

[COMMUNICATED.]

The last ten or fifteen years has witnessed vast changes in the architecture of our business buildings, as well as in their interior appointments. This is especially noticeable in the office and dry goods districts. In Wall, Pine and other down-town streets the metamorphosis is so great that if any New Yorker who had been absent for ten years were to return he would stand aghast with amazement at the change. Where three and four-story buildings formerly existed without any pretension to architectural features, there is now reared building after building, seven, eight and nine stories high, and in some cases even higher still. Their appointments, too, are as superior to the old buildings as the design of an able architect is to that of a draughtsman of one year's experience. They are richly adorned inside with marble, hardwoods and decorative work, while every improvement brought forth by modern science and ingenuity is introduced to add to the comfort and convenience of those who occupy them.

Concurrent with the changes in the office section has come a change in the dry goods section and the other wholesale business districts. Many millions of dollars have been expended on new buildings between the City Hall and Waverley place within the last five or six years. What is noticeable, however, is the superiority of the more recent of these over those of a decade ago. Architects have adopted new ideas in business buildings as well as in private dwellings. The plain front of a commonplace character has given way to the front which attracts the eye and gives pleasnre to the artistic senses. Besides this, builders are called upon to build more substantially and with greater intelligence than they were expected to do some five or ten years ago. Indeed, this has become necessary by the very fact of the improved character of the exteriors and interiors. In the illustrations given in this article some of the better class of fronts in store and loft buildings are given, together with other examples of good building. They are from plans by different architects, and have all been erected by Messrs. Horgan & Slattery, the builders and contractors.

One of the most important of the group, certainly the handsomest in its interior, is the costly building which they have erected for the Sun Fire Office, at No. 54 Pine street, from plans by Architect Arthur D. Pickering. It is of fireproof construction, 27x100 in size, and although but five stories in height has cost about $100,000 to complete. This is due to the quantity of granite, marble, hardwoods and other embellishments used in the interior, as well as the fine character of the other appointments. Indeed, it is safe to say that this building is one of the handsomest of its kind in the city. The company will occupy part of the building and rent out the balance. It will be ready for occupancy on May 15th.

A building of a different character is that erected by Messrs. Horgan & Slattery at Nos. 155 and 157 Leonard street, running through to Baxter street. It is a six-story granite and brick front building, and covers about six city lots. It has been built by them for John Simmons, the wrought iron pipe manufacturer, who now occupies it. The plans were drawn by

NEW YORK BICYCLE CLUB BUILDING.

Architects De Lemos & Cordes. It has cost, with steam heat, freight and passenger elevator, etc., about $100,000.

The northeast corner of Centre and Leonard streets is a six-story and basement store and loft building, also from plans by De Lemos & Cordes.

It has a front of brick, stone and terra cotta, and is 78x100 in size. The building was erected for S. Loeb, of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., the bankers. The lower part is occupied for store purposes, while the upper part is leased by Edwin C. Burt & Co., the boot and shoe manufacturers. It has freight, and passenger elevators, and cost about $75,000.

The six-story and basement granite and brick front store and loft building at No. 53 Crosby street, between Broome and Spring streets, is one of the best built structures in that improving section of the city. It was erected by Messrs. Horgan & Slattery on their own account, at a cost of about $40,000, without the ground. Although completed after the renting season was over, it is now all rented. This property has since been sold to

NO. 11 LISPENARD STREET.

G. G. Williams, President of the Chemical National Bank. The same builders, it may be added, will on June 1st commence to erect on their own account a similar structure, of larger dimensions and seven stories high, at Nos. 79 to 83 Crosby street, to cost about $150,000.

The six-story iron front building, Nos. 112 and 114 Prince street, is now occupied by the owners, Messrs. L. Sachs & Bro., fur manufacturers. It is 40x70 in size and has cost about $50,000.

Another building erected for Messrs. Sachs & Bro. is that at No. 124 Greene street. It is 25x100 in size and is similar in construction to the SOUTHWEST CORNER OF 23D STREET AND 8TH AVENUE.

Prince street building. It cost $40,000 to build, and was sold to H. & M. Gernsbym with lot for $82,500.

At No. 11 Lispenard street, near Broadway, Horgan & Slattery built for Alfred R. Conkling a building similar to that erected by them on their own account at No. 53 Crosby street. It cost $40,000, and is now ready for occupancy.

The six-story brick, stone and terra cotta front building at No. 31 Bond street, 26x130 in size, is a fine business building. It was built for A. Wolff, of the banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., at a cost of $45,000. The plans were drawn by De Lemos & Cordes.

NOS. 155 AND 157 LEONARD STREET.

The five-story brick and stone front building on the southwest corner of 8th avenue and 23d street, was built for John P. Windolph, the hotel keeper, who occupies the building. There is considerable work below the main floor and sidewalk, where there are bowling alleys, billiard rooms, etc. The building cost $45,000, without ground. Messrs. Marshall & Walter were the architects.

An illustration which is probably the most attractive of all is that of the New York Bicycle Club, situated on the east side of West End avenue, between 71st and 72d streets. It was built for Alfred R. Conkling, from plans by Renwick, Aspinwall & Russell. Mr. Conkling leases it to the club. The front is of red sandstone, mottled brick and terra cotta, and the wheelroom for bicycles is entered through the basement. The cost of the structure was about $25,000.

The illustrations show examples of different classes of buildings containing varied architectural features, and they are from cuts made for Messrs. Horgan & Slattery, who received the entire contract for the work of erecting all the buildings above described. LYNX.

A Valuable Brooklyn Water Front Sold.

J. Romaine Brown & Co. have just consummated quite an important sale of Brooklyn water front. It comprises a bulkhead and plot, with factory buildings thereon, known as the Wallabout Oil Works, between Kent avenue and the East River, opposite Rush street, and near Cross street, 19th Ward. The ground has a frontage of 68.9 feet on the water, 79.0½ feet on Kent avenue, and a depth of 332.8 on the one side x 120.6 and 252 irregular. The property was sold for M. B. Cowperthwait to David G. Leggett, and the price paid was $85,000.

Upholstery at Cheap Prices.

Le Boutillier Bros., of Broadway and 14th street, are offering a line of upholstery goods at very cheap prices. Vestibule drapery silks, 32 inches wide, and in fifty different designs, and never before sold at less than 85 cents, are being offered at 59 cents. From $1.25 to $2.00 is generally paid for double width tapestries, but Messrs. Le Boutillier are now offering them at 75 cents. Irish point curtains they are selling at from $3.98 to $10.00, per pair; while Japanese rugs and carpets and Turkish rugs and carpets are found on their counters for sale at about half their value. These prices afford an excellent opportunity for gentlemen about to furnish their houses.

The Board of Street Opening and Improvement give notice that it intends to alter the map of the City of New York by placing a new street or road, to be known as the Fort Washington Depot road, between the Boulevard and the land of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Company.

President Geo. H. Scott has been the recipient of a pleasant little compliment. It is in the shape of a handsome gavel, the workmanship of Tiffany & Co. The hammer bears the inscriptions on the one side, "From Richard V. Harnett and Charles Henry Butler," and on the other side, "George A. Scott, May 6th, 1890." The president highly prizes the gift which he will use at all meetings on 'Change at which he may preside during the remainder of his term of office.

The carpenters' strike was, after all, no strike at all. As we anticipated last week, they made a demand for an eight-hour day instead of nine hours, and no reduction in pay. The master carpenters, with the exception of an insignificant number, have all conceded the demands, and work is now being proceeded with under the new conditions. It is estimated that about 8,000 carpenters are now engaged in shops, and the reduced hours thus means a loss of $3,500 per day to the masters.

Two of the most successful and active speculators in the market, viz.: Mayer Kahn and Ascher Weinstein, were large purchasers of the Astor properties recently disposed of at private sale. Messrs. K. and W.'s purchases aggregated over half a million dollars. The former has resold one of the plots bought at a profit, and the latter has disposed of three parcels at an advance of $13,500. Mr. W. sails for Europe to-day.

Real Estate Department.

The real estate market this week has been dull. Up town little or nothing is doing owing to over-production and a lack of rapid transit. In the down-town districts a fair business is being done and many more transactions would be closed if property was not held at such high figures. At auction this week little has been done outside of the sales of suburban property, and the prospect is that these sales will comprise most of the business done by the auctioneers until the fall.

Transactions in the 7th. 10th and 13th Wards continue numerous. The sales, except to builders, however, are mostly exchanges, as is shown by our system of references in the conveyances.

Monday's business on 'Change was, as usual, small in volume and generally unimportant. To close the estate of Jacob Bussing, Auctioneer James L. Wells sold about twenty lots on Hull and Decatur avenues at prices ranging from $400 to $675 each. A two-story dwelling and lot on Railroad avenue, between 158th and 160th streets, sold for $6,400, and a vacant lot on 94th street, west of 8th avenue, was sold to the plaintiff in a foreclosure suit for $9,850, as against $9,267 the amount due.

On Tuesday the largest sale was that of the northeast corner of Washington and Vesey streets, being 77.3 feet on the latter and 53 feet on the former street. On this plot are four four-story brick buildings which are leased for a total of $13,400. The property was sold by order of the Supreme Court in a partition sale to David L. Einstein for $147,000. By order of the executor of the estate of Edgar T. Ryder, Nos. 58 and 60 Fulton street, a six-story and basement building, at present leasing for $6,600, was sold to Leonard Lewisohn for $90,000, to which figure it was advanced from the first bid of $60,000. Z. J. Halpin purchased a plot 30.1 front by 100 and 144.6 deep and 75 feet in the rear, on Manhattan street near 125th street, for $19,500. A flat on 102d street, east of 4th avenue, sold under foreclosure for $17,850, as against $17,266 due thereon. The main feature of the day was a combination auction sale of about 200 lots and a private residence in Yonkers. A residence and lot belonging to Wm. H. Thorne was sold to H. Newboldt for $5,000. A second residence, larger than the one sold, belonging to the same gentleman, was passed over as the auctioneer could get no bid. Eleven lots belonging to Cyrus Cleveland sold for a total of $11,350. About fifty other lots belonging to Mr. Cleveland sold for $18,415. Twenty-three lots belonging to John T. Waring sold for $3,205. The sale of the lots which remain unsold, a little over one hundred in number, was adjourned for a week. They will be sold next Tuesday. The prices obtained for these lots can hardly be said to have been as good as those of a couple of weeks ago at the Lawson estate and Park Hill avenue property sales. This was probably due to the bad weather, which undoubtedly prevented many from attending the sale. The largest buyer at Tuesday's sale, as on the former occasion, was Captain B. P. Fairchild.

Wednesday was remarkable chiefly for the number of parcels bid in for the account of the owners. Nos. 246 and 248 Monroe street sold for $16,950 to A. Hoffstadt for A. Guttwillig. Two lots on 7th avenue, north of 111th street, sold to Meyer Hellman for $10,000 each; $8,000 can remain on each of these lots at 4 per cent. Under foreclosure a four-story store and tenement, with a three-story brick tenement on the rear of the lot, on 32d street, west of 9th avenue, sold for $8,600 to L. Z. Bach. There was due on this property $4,580. It sold in July, 1886, for $11,000.

On Thursday the offerings of city property at auction were unimportant. The "Glenwood," a forty-foot apartment house on 124th street, east of 3d avenue, sold for $42,000. In a partition sale a lot on the southeast corner of 96th street and Madison avenue sold for $12,000, and adjoining lots on the avenue sold for $7,600, $7,200 and $7,100 each. Speculator Morris Litman was the largest buyer. There is considerable rock on this property. Under foreclosure two lots on the corner of 5th avenue and 98th street were sold to the plaintiff for $34,000. The feature of the day was the large sale of lots at Larchmont Manor. One hundred and twenty-one lots were advertised, but only about sixty of them were really sold, as many of the remaining lots were meadow land that the owners wished to fill in. The total realized from the sale of these lots was a little over $26,000, or about $440 per lot. Among the large buyers were: C. E. Keane, C. D. Griggs, W. D. Burke and T. J. Southwell.

On Friday the only business transacted on 'Change was the sale under foreclosure of three lots in the 23d Ward, 146th street, near the Harlem Railroad, which sold for $5,000, to the plaintiff.

On Monday, May 12th, James L. Wells will sell 140 select lots situated in Bedford Park.

Smyth will sell the four-story, high stoop dwelling, lot 25x102.2, No. 25 East 74th street; the five-story brick double tenement, 24.6x85x100, No. 1837 3d avenue; two full lots on the east side of 3d avenue, 25 south of 171st street; the four five-story brick tenements Nos. 1883, 1885, 1887 and 1889 3d avenue, on the northeast corner of 104th street; and twenty-two desirable lots situated on 3d avenue, Julia street and Crotona place, in the 24th Ward.

On Tuesday, May 13th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell, by order of the executors of the estate of Cornelius K. On Wednesday, May 14th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell twelve lots on Madison avenue, on the southeast corner of 99th street, and nine lots on Park avenue, northwest corner of 99th street; the dwelling No. 236 East 12th street, and the tenement No. 86 Eldridge street.

On Thursday, May 15th, James L. Wells will sell, by order of the executors of the estate of Mary C. V. Doyle, deceased, three frame cottages, on a plot 50x100, at Nos. 515, 517 and 519 East 141st street.

There is a three-story and basement frame dwelling and a stable on the property. It is within forty-five minutes of New York, via the Thirty-ninth Street Ferry and Bay Ridge boat. Sixty per cent. of the purchase money may remain on bond and mortgage at 5 per cent., and the titles are guaranteed.

On Thursday, May 15th, Bernard Smyth will sell, to close an estate, seventeen valuable lots on 1st avenue, 94th and 95th streets. Four of these, each 25.2x100, are on 1st avenue, ten on the south side of 95th street, west of 1st avenue, and three are on 94th street, between 1st and 2d avenues, and three are on 94th street, between 1st and 2d avenues. Seventy per cent. of the purchase money may remain on bond and mortgage.

On Tuesday, May 20th, J. Thomas Stearns will sell 125 lots on Webster, Crestline and Brook avenues, fronting on Claremont Park. This property has an interesting history. It is part of the old Morris farm and has been held by descendants of the family of that name for two hundred years. Elliott Zborowski, the present owner, is a son of Ann E. Morris, wife of Martin Zabriskie. The family has traced its genealogy back many generations on the father's side to its Russian origin, while on the mother's side it has a history extending back to Richard Morris, an officer of Oliver Cromwell. He came to this country in 1650 and purchased 3,000 acres of land from the Indians. His descendants have nearly all occupied positions of distinction.

On Tuesday, May 20th, H. C. Mapes & Co. will sell, to close the estate of the late Charlton Ferris, over 112½ acres of land with improvements, at Throgg's Neck, Westchester, N. Y. Huntington and John A. Morris. Seventy-five per cent. of the purchase money may remain on bond and mortgage.

Special Notices.

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of the Bradley & Currier Co., announcing the opening of their new mantel showrooms. This house has been too long and favorably known as one of the leading houses in the door, sash and blind trade to need any comment, and it is only necessary to state that they intend to take the same position in the mantel trade that they occupy in the door, sash and blind business. It will pay not only those who may at some time want to purchase goods in their line, but all those interested in the display of artistic work to visit their showrooms during their opening days, or at any convenient time.

Andrew Powell, who scored a great success as a broker a few years ago, has removed to No. 167 Broadway, and has again resumed business as a real estate broker and manager of estates. Mr. Powell, in a circular just issued, which is both unique and novel, says: "I will make a specialty of handling properties on the west side and north of the Harlem River," and those who remember his work on the west side are satisfied he will again come to the front as a successful broker, for he is both reliable and energetic.

Dye & Castree have removed their offices from 154 6th avenue to No. 73 West 11th street, one door from 6th avenue. This firm has been established thirteen years, and is well known to owners of and operators in real estate centrally located and on the lower west side, in which sections they have the management of many flats and dwellings. Their specialties are the management of estates and the sale of realty.

Richard R. Davis, whose office is at No. 247 West 125th street, has probably done as much for Harlem, and especially West Harlem, as any other architect in recent years. He is at present engaged on the Presbyterian Church, 7th avenue, corner of 128th street.

Some splendid investment property in the shape of large and well-built flats is offered for sale in another column. These flats are on 108th and 109th streets, within a stone's throw of Central Park and in a district where real estate values are rapidly advancing. They were built by Builder Radebold and Architect Edward Wenz, whose office is at No. 1491 3d avenue, corner of 84th street.

Five choice lots on 72d street, adjoining Lexington avenue (the only vacant property in the neighborhood), are offered for sale by Messrs. Heilner & Wolf of Nos. 165 and 167 Broadway. No place in the city could be selected as a finer site for a large flat or fine private residences.

Wm. S. Anderson is known to many of the readers of THE RECORD AND GUIDE as one of the best managers of estates on the east side. His business includes all branches of real estate; but he devotes himself especially to the management of property. His office is at No. 1242 3d avenue.

John J. Kavanagh, successor to the firm of Kavanagh & Son (established 1859), is at No. 1031 Madison avenue, corner of 79th street. He has been in the real estate business since he was a boy. He is a "bull" on east side realty, as he always has been. His business includes all branches of the real estate business, buying, selling, renting and managing property. Placing loans and effecting insurance are also parts of his business. His long connection with real estate makes him a reliable and trustworthy appraiser.

Albert Everitt, of No. 1543 9th avenue, between 90th and 91st streets, has built up for himself a very profitable real estate and insurance business; profitable not only to himself, but also to his customers. Mr. Everitt works on the principle that the best advertisement is a satisfied and pleased client, and his customers seldom fail to call again.

Wm. H. Hollister is the worthy successor to Samuel Thomson, of No. 1475 3d avenue. Mr. Hollister is an experienced real estate agent, and property intrusted to him for either renting or selling is in good hands. Speculators or investors in search of a bargain would do well to give him a call.

Beverly Ward, of No. 221 West 125th street, is a general real estate and insurance agent. He is a member of the Real Estate Exchange.

John Davis, the old-established real estate broker and appraiser, has removed his office to Nos. 165 and 167 Broadway, Room 27A. Mr. Davis is a member of the Real Estate Exchange.

John Borkel, the well-known manufacturer of galvanized cornices and mouldings, and slate and metal roofer, whose office is at 79 to 81 Elm street, has found it necessary, in consequence of the expansion of his business, to build a large factory for himself at Nos. 42 and 44 East Houston street, on the northeast corner of Mulberry.

A. T. Buckhout, the lumber dealer, has removed his yard to East 30th street, east of 1st avenue, where, with increased facilities, he will keep a full assortment of seasoned lumber constantly on hand, consisting of dressed pine and spruce stock, yellow pine and hardwood flooring and ceiling, and a fair assortment of hardwoods.

Scott & Myers, the well-known firm of real estate brokers, announce their removal to handsome offices in the Real Estate Exchange building, No. 59 Liberty street.

The firm of Brown & Levinoss having dissolved, the two members thereof will henceforth conduct business separately. Chas. S. Brown will occupy the same offices at No. 59 Liberty street, and is ready to assume care of estates and to do a general brokerage business.

John C. Fox & Sons have factories and showrooms at Nos. 527 and 529 Grand street, corner Woodward street, Jersey City, for the manufacture of marblized slate mantels. They have a large stock constantly on hand, and are prepared to fulfill orders with promptitude and care.

Adam Bros. have offices for the management and sale of real estate at No. 432 5th avenue, between 38th and 39th streets. The firm is made up of Samuel F. Adams, who is counsellor-at-law and notary public, and William C. Adams, who is a commissioner of deeds. These brokers have a good list of property on their books, and people wishing to buy or rent a house could probably be suited by applying to Messrs. Adams.

C. K. Leavitt & Co., of No. 33 West 125th street, offer for sale a number of good paying properties, for investment or otherwise, situated in Yorkville and Harlem. They comprise private houses and apartment buildings.

Contractors' Notes.

Sealed proposals will be received at the Hall of the Board of Education until 9.30 A. M., Tuesday, May 20th, for repairing the heating apparatus in Grammar School No. 1; until 3.30 P. M., for doing the same work to Grammar School No. 144; until 11 A. M., for Grammar Schools Nos. 10 and 47; until 11.30 A. M., for the annex of Grammar School No. 34; until 9.30 A. M., Wednesday, May 21st, for same work for Grammar School No. 49.

Bids will be received at the Department of Public Works until 12 o'clock, Wednesday, May 14th, for furnishing materials and performing work in repairing and painting the roofs and gutters of the West Washington Market buildings.

Bids will be received at the Department of Public Charities and Correction until 9:30 A. M., Friday, May 16th, for materials and work required for alterations in Bellevue Hospital, and for the new amphitheatre under dome and new roofs to main building, Bellevue Hospital.

Bids will be received at the Department of Public Works until 12 o'clock Wednesday, May 14th, for regulating and paving with granite-block pavement the roadway of 53d street, from 10th to 11th avenue; of 69th street, from West End avenue to the line of the Hudson River Railroad; of 89th street, from the Western Boulevard to the Riverside Drive; of 96th street, from 10th avenue to the Boulevard; of 101st street, from 8th avenue to the Boulevard (except from 9th to 10th avenue); of 118th street, from 8th avenue to Morningside Park road.

Bids will be received during the next two weeks by the town trustees of Williamsbridge for grading and macadamizing the White Plains road through the centre of the town.

The reported sale of No. 7 (formerly 5½) Pine street at $240,000 or $260,000 recalls its purchase in 1884 at $108,000 by Wm. Kronberg Aston, formerly Wm. Kronberg. Mr. Aston has been exceedingly fortunate in at least two other purchases, Nos. 4 and 6 Pine street, he bought in 1878 at a nominal consideration; spent something for alterations, and resold at $267,500 to the Equitable Life; Nos. 31 and 33 Broadway, acquired in 1885 at $170,000, and $50,000 or less expended on improvements, was resold last week to Orson D. Munn, of the Scientific American, for $380,000. All of which indicates that Mr. A. buys judiciously, improves wisely, and sells exceedingly well.

Talk about activity in building on the west side and then inspect the block between Bleecker and 3d streets on Greene. It would be safe to say a verdict would be rendered that any block on the west side is eclipsed.

The gift of three lots on the north side of 42d street, east of 3d avenue, to St. Bartholomew's Church must satisfy the curiosity of brokers and others, who wondered to what use the buyer—Cornelius Vanderbilt—would put them.
